M. L. ANNENBERG PONDERS PLEA ON TAX CHARGE

Should He Give Up Today, or Fight?

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.

In his rooms on the 14th floor of the Stevens hotel last night a tall, thin, graying man paced incessantly.

It was to reach a decision that would govern the future, all the days and years ahead, that Moses L. Annenberg, one of the nation's richest men, wrestled in his mind.

He could keep on fighting or he could give in; and if he gave in he might keep all the others who depended on him from being carried down with him. But to give in meant the renunciation of all he had built.

Once he was an immigrant boy from Germany, whose father was first a peddler and then a junk dealer. He himself had seen that the world had vistas far beyond the limited ability and ambition of his father. There was the chance for wealth and for power.

Expands an Empire.

Perhaps he had first realized how much room there was in the world when as a newsboy he stood on the corners and yelled out the headlines. Who could say what might not happen even in the life of a newsboy?

Anything could happen, and in his life almost everything did.

He became the master of a publishing domain that embraced at one time or another the New York Morning Telegraph, the Running Horse, the Daily Racing Form, the tabloid Miami Beach Tribune, and half a dozen moving picture and confession magazines. The empire expanded again in 1936 when he purchased the Philadelphia Inquirer, one of the oldest newspapers in the country.

And now, after all of this, there was a decision for Annenberg to make.

Son with Him.

With him, as he attempted to reach that decision, was his only son, Walter, who would inherit the Annenberg empire, or what was left of it. There were seven daughters, too, but only one son, and the son was a co-defendant in the case that Annenberg faces this morning in the United States District court.

With them would be arraigned 15 other defendants and, before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, Annenberg and all of them would be asked to plead guilty or not guilty of evading $3,258,809 in income taxes for the years 1932 thru 1936—with interest and penalties, $5,548,384.

Must Make Decision Alone.

If Annenberg decided to fight, he knew that he would be starting one of the longest, most involved cases ever tried in the federal courts. And, at the end, he couldn't be sure what the jury would do.

If he pleaded guilty he would be placing his fate in the hands of one man—a federal judge.

Whichever the decision was to be, it would be Annenberg's own.

Annenberg, as he walked the floor, said that he was not concerned for himself, but for his son, his family, and for his employés.

"I want to do what's best for my son, my folks, and the people in my businesses who depend on me," he said. "I don't care about myself. I've made a lot of money, I've been in lots of businesses, and maybe my businesses outgrew my bookkeeping. It's my folks I'm worrying about—my wife, and son, and daughters, and everybody who makes a living from an Annenberg business, a few of them here with me in court, but most of them only in jobs that depend on me."

Gives Up Wire Service.

Much of the Annenberg fortune grew out of the operation of Nationwide News service, a wire network that carried racing news information from 52 horse tracks into handbooks in 34 states and 3 Canadian provinces.

The first of a series of indictments against Annenberg and his associates were returned last August. In November Annenberg voluntarily ceased operating Nationwide and surrendered at one stroke millions in revenue. After that his counsel engaged in a series of attacks on the indictments against him, without success. That brought him face to face with—today.

Teacher Slain Because She Upset Wedding

Lafayette, Ind., April 22 [Special].—A farm hand who has confessed the murder of his well-to-do employer, Miss Georgia Miller, 62 years old, a retired school teacher, admitted tonight he killed the woman because she objected to his contemplated marriage.

The farm hand, Clair Mitchell, 25 beat Miss Miller to death with a stove poker in the home on her 400 acre farm 19 miles southwest of Lafayette on March 7. After the slaying, according to his confession, he attended a movie at nearby Wingate, returned to the house, and set it afire in an effort to conceal his crime.

He nearly succeeded in his plan, for until last week it had been believed that Miss Miller had accidentally burned to death. However, Mitchell was trapped when authorities learned he had made a remark about the burning of the home several hours before the fire occurred.

Fiancée Held as Witness.

In a rambling statement to Prosecutor George E. Weigle and Sheriff F. Earl Staley of Tippecanoe county and State Police Detective Harvey L. Hire, Mitchell said he plotted the slaying of the former teacher shortly after she opposed his plans to marry Mrs. Isabell Ollar, 19, a divorcée. Mitchell said he had hoped to take his bride to live in the tenant house on Miss Miller's farm but Miss Miller objected to the idea. Mrs. Ollar is held as a material witness.

Mitchell told authorities he had stolen grain from Miss Miller's farm prior to the slaying and sold it to raise money with which to buy furniture for his new home. He said he had hoped to be made manager of the farm after the woman's death.

Arrested at Parents' Home.

"I don't know why I killed her," Mitchell said in his statement. "She was as good to me as my own mother."

Mitchell, who had been employed on the Miller farm for a number of months, formerly lived with his parents at Veedersburg, 35 miles southwest of here. He was arrested at his home there last Saturday and brought to Lafayette, where he confessed the slaying last night. He had never been in trouble before, authorities said.

Circuit Judge Lynn Parkinson today summoned the Tippecanoe county grand jury to meet tomorrow morning to investigate the crime. Prosecutor Weigle asked Judge Parkinson to call the grand jury.

Meatless Mondays to Begin for Belgians Next Week

CANADIANS PURCHASE 15 YACHTS IN AMERICA FOR COASTAL PATROLS

New York, April 22 [Special].—A fleet of America's largest yachts, on which millionaires spent fortunes, has been purchased for Canadian patrol service in the last six weeks. Fifteen in all have been sold, it was learned—a total of more than 6,000 gross tons.

In all cases, save one, the maritime commission in Washington approved the applications by American owners for sale to Canadian individuals. Use as pleasure craft has been the purpose indicated by most of the buyers. It has been learned reliably, however, that the Canadian government has repurchased the boats for a variety of naval uses in its coastal patrols and defenses. Many more sales are in the negotiation stage, shipping circles reported.

Previous commitments of its shipyards and the pressure of convoy activities on both its coasts are understood to have forced Canada to enter the American yacht market to bolster its navy of five trawlers and six destroyers.

Revelation of Canadian purchases of the type of vessels pressed into service as American naval auxiliaries in the world war comes at a time when the American merchant marine is suffering from a scarcity of ships in the coastwise service.

LOST AND FOUND: TWO WIVES, OUT OF A BACK SEAT

Radio Operator Louis Lohr of the Indiana state police near Gary received an urgent phone call from two men at St. Joseph, Mich., last night. "We've lost our wives near Gary," they announced.

The two men, Leon E. Cross and Milton J. Utter, explained that they had stopped at a service station outside of Gary and had driven on, not knowing their wives had stepped out of the back seat of the car.

They drove 60 miles before realizing that the strange quiet in the back seat signified their wives' absence. State Policeman Lawrence Miller soon found the missing women and a reunion followed.

POILUS GROWING BEARDS TO EASE STRAPS ON CHINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 22.—The beard, which used to be the prerogative in France of professional men, has been made democratic by the war, and it is a common sight to see soldiers on leave with a flourishing fringe around their chins. The fact that shaving is inconvenient and sometimes impossible at the front is only part of the explanation. Another reason is that a beard eases the chafing by helmet chin straps.

Swiss Women Mobilized for War Service

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, April 22.—An auxiliary war service for women has been introduced in Switzerland, but mothers and women with jobs are not asked to volunteer for duty. The women are to serve as cab drivers, typists, and cooks, and as radio and Red Cross workers.

A campaign to build 4,000 private air raid shelters in Basel and nearby areas at a cost of 6,000,000 francs [about $1,345,800] now is under way. The government is to pay half, the municipality one quarter, and the landowners one quarter. There are few shelters at present.

Outlines Dangers.

Gen. Henry Guisan, head of the Swiss army, in speaking at Red Cross gatherings, stressed the three dangers confronting Switzerland at present. These, he said, were dangerous neighbors, sabotage and propaganda, and the failure of the Swiss people to appreciate the gravity of the situation.

Military chiefs are worried for fear Germany will attempt to flank the Maginot line by a sweep thru Switzerland's valleys, all of which have roads on which a mechanized army could operate.

Such a drive will be opposed, it was said in military circles. The first line of defense will be the Rhine river. All bridges have been mined and are guarded by troops. As a defense against attacks across pontoon bridges, the Swiss have perfected a mobile anti-tank gun.

Resembles U. S. Weapon.

Each field piece is coupled to the rear of a fast automobile, in which the crew of five rides. The guns resemble the new American 37 millimeter anti-tank gun. They are of 40.6 millimeter, have shorter barrels, and are lighter in weight. Their mechanisms provide high angle fire which enlarges the utility field. Neutral military observers say the guns are accurate and effective.

The gun crews are a combination of military and roving police, and under the present set-up many crews could be concentrated anywhere on the border in a short time. Consequently, the task of invading Switzerland would be a difficult one for any army.

Falls Dead as He Hears Judge Send Son to Jail

Clarion, Ia., April 22 (AP).—Fred Gabel, 57 years old, retired farmer, fell dead of a heart attack in the county courthouse here today as District Judge T. G. Garfield sentenced his son, Alexander, 26, to six months in jail. Young Gabel was charged with operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

BRITISH BATTLE TO CLOSE VISE ON TRONDHEIM

Forces Push on Port from Two Sides.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 22 (AP).—The British and French, with their Norwegian allies, today clamped a slowly closing vise on German occupied Trondheim, vital Norwegian west coast port and railway center.

The Germans and Norwegians were reported fighting at Melhus, only 20 miles south of Trondheim on the Trondheim-Oslo railway. A force of British was reported at Storen, five miles farther south.

A main force of British, working southward from the other side of Trondheim, were reported to have reached Steinkjer, the Norwegian concentration center 50 miles north of Trondheim. This was about 15 miles north of Verdalsora, where fighting between advance detachments was reported yesterday.

[A dispatch from the Norwegian-Swedish frontier by Reuters, British news agency, said early today that German destroyers from Trondheim had landed troops north of Trondheim attempting to attack British forces from the rear, but that they had been driven off by British troops. The dispatch said fierce fighting now is going on between German and British troops at Stiklestad, north of Trondheim.]

Still Hold Hegra Fort.

To the east of Trondheim, the Norwegians were reported still in possession of Hegra fortress guarding the railway to the Swedish border at Storlien.

Fighting was reported still in progress between Hamar and Elverum, 60 odd miles north of Oslo, but the outcome was uncertain, with reports conflicting as to whether the Germans or allies held those towns. Observers were inclined, however, to believe that contrary to previous reports, the Germans still held them.

The Germans bombed Dombas in an effort to rupture the railway which branches there to send lines northward to both Trondheim and Andalsnes. [DNB, German official news agency, said Dombas had been destroyed.]

Narvik Warned Three Times.

The British broadcast warnings three times today to inhabitants of Narvik to leave that northern iron ore port before a British naval barrage was laid down to drive the Germans out.

The Germans at Narvik were reported in semi-official Norwegian reports to be virtually trapped. The Norwegians were said to be to the northeast, the British to the east and south, and the British fleet stationed off the fjords and islands on the seaward side.

The area is extremely difficult for military operations, with mountains 4,200 feet high surrounding the town.

Norwegian semi-official sources said the British could take Narvik any time, but up to now have been sparing in their efforts in the hope of avoiding any serious damage to property and harm to the people.

Railways Key Objectives.

A detachment of Germans who attempted to drive northward from Narvik were said to be trapped at Gratangen fjord, where they were stalled in the snow and surrounded by sniping Norwegians who take pot shots when the Germans emerge from their farmhouse hideaways.

Railways appeared to be the key objectives in all three of the British-French-Norwegian major operations.

Narvik is the terminus of the railway line over which the Germans could, in the past, obtain Swedish iron ore from Kiruna. The drives to encircle Trondheim involve control of the railheads at Namsos and Andalsnes as well as the main line to central Sweden and to Oslo.

Parrot's Sneeze Warns Gov. Cooper of a Fire

Shelbyville, Tenn., April 22 (AP).—Laura, the parrot, sneezed. The sneeze awakened Gov. Prentice Cooper just in time to discover a fire and save his farm home. The governor said his pet's ka-chooing awakened him early yesterday morning. He found her eyeing a wisp of smoke curling up thru the floor. Axes were used to trace the smoke back to its source, and the blaze was extinguished after minor damage.

POLISH INDUSTRY KNOCKED OUT AS SOVIETS MOVE IN

(This is the second of a series of five articles on Russian seized Poland, as told by a man who lived there until a short time ago.)

BY PAUL GREVE.

[Copyright: By Press Alliance, Inc.]

LONDON, April 22.—Ever since I crossed the frontier from Russian Poland into Rumania a few weeks ago, people have been asking me what happened to private enterprises when the soviets took over. Briefly, the Reds dispossessed the rightful owners and sovietized everything.

Arrows locate centers of oil fields.

The majority of the people in the Lvov district, where I spent four months under soviet rule, are small landholders, peasants or agricultural laborers. Lvov was, however, the center of a prosperous industrial district. There are oilfields at Boryslaw and Drohobycz, together with extensive refining plants. Also in the district are chemical works, sugar refineries, tanneries, yeast and chocolate factories, liquor distilleries, saw mills, plywood factories and other woodworking establishments.

Except perhaps for the woodworking industry, most of the factories were the property of shareholding groups, the largest companies being owned by foreign capital.

Private Ownership Ends.

Whatever the ownership, all industries were treated alike by the Russians. All private ownership, whether shareholding or personal, was at once abolished, the existing managements dissolved, and the works handed over to working men's councils.

In some cases the services of the old managers or of members of the technical staff were retained by these councils. This was the exception rather than the rule and was due either to special popularity of the men concerned, or to the necessity of keeping on the spot some one familiar with the intricacies of machinery.

At first the Russians treated the occupied territory as a protectorate only. A date was fixed—Oct. 28—for a plebiscite to decide whether the district was to become an integral part of the U. S. S. R. or whether it was to be an independent country. The result of this plebiscite was a foregone conclusion. Before the plebiscite it was not plausibly possible to "nationalize" industries, and so the working men's councils were allowed to consider the factories as the property of the workers on a strictly cooperative basis. The councils, elected by the workers and approved of by the authorities, were entrusted with the management.

System a Failure.

This system did not work. The men elected to the councils were chosen not for their practical qualifications, but on political recommendations. Workers who had been strike leaders or had been known for their communistic tendencies under the Polish régime were now specially favored and entrusted with the direction of industries. They in turn considered it more important to watch over the political "soundness" of their colleagues on the councils, and indeed of the workers themselves, than to decide matters of mere production and sale.

A close friend of mine, a highly specialized engineer, was retained by one of these councils. He told me of his bitter experience. Endless talks, interminable discussions, impracticable proposals, the love of each member to hear his own voice, utter ignorance, and politics made the council meetings, which my friend had to attend for hours every day, sheer waste of time. It took hours to reach any decision, and even then it was open to revision at any moment.

Reds Fail at Organizing.

This happened at a time when, because of the war, foresight, decisive action and experience were demanded more than ever before. Many works had been damaged by war activities, machines required refitting, coal was unobtainable [all Polish coal fields went to the Germans, and Russia cannot or will not supply coal from her own mines], transport was disorganized, and raw materials difficult to get.

Stocks of tools and implements required by the factories soon were

BERLIN CLAIMS 2 VESSELS ARE SUNK BY FLYERS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, April 23, Tuesday.—Two British troopships were sunk and another transport set afire by German aerial bombs along Norway's Atlantic coast yesterday, DNB, German official news agency, announced early today.

Bombs, the agency said, also struck and damaged two English warships accompanying the transports as Adolf Hitler's air force furiously attacked debarking British and French troops and expeditionary forces landed by the allies at Namsos and Andalsnes. Both cities were reported to be in flames.

Rail Center Reported Destroyed.

These two ports flank Trondheim, which is held by the Germans, and wave after wave of bombers rained explosives upon the cities in an attempt to hinder British efforts to reinforce Norwegian troops north of Oslo. Dombas, important railway junction in central Norway, was said to have been destroyed.

DNB also reported that German planes bombed and machine gunned Norwegian positions north of Oslo, especially near Elverum, Lillehammer, and Mjosa lake.

Prior to announcing the sinking of the two troopships, the German high command asserted that German planes had bombed a British cruiser until it was beached, scored hits on another cruiser and destroyer, sunk two submarines, sunk a transport and two merchant ships, and hit another transport. It was declared that 14 British transports and warships were destroyed or damaged in the last 48 hours.

Declare British Flee.

The Germans described the aerial attack at Namsos as "especially fierce." They said the raid lasted six hours and that British troops "rushed in panic to nearby mountains and forests."

Messages from Stockholm said British and French forces moved quickly toward the heart of Norway and joined the Norwegians who were fighting in the mountains. The Nazis said only small British and French units were left behind in Namsos, about 100 miles north of Trondheim and Andalsnes, south of Trondheim.

A fierce battle was reported to be raging for Trondheim and for control of Norway's historical valleys of Guldbrandsdal and Osterdal, the possession of which would enable the victor to control the railroads and the highways of the main part of Norway.

Since the Nazis realized that the possession of Trondheim would enable the British and French and the small Norwegian forces to spread across the country to the Swedish border and press southward against the Germans, the German high command ordered its garrison in Trondheim to occupy "important points for the continuation of operations."

"Bloody Fighting" Reported.

Reporting successes north of Oslo, DNB said they were achieved at the cost of "bloody fighting." It said that despite heavy Norwegian resistance, fortified hills near Lindehagde were stormed, and the town of Gjovik was captured after large losses were inflicted on the Norwegian defenders. The Germans boasted that tanks and other motorized units were used in the capture of Gjovik.

British claims that the town of Hamar, on the eastern bank of Lake Mjosa and 60 miles north of Oslo, was recaptured by British and French troops were denied by the Germans, who added:

"The resistance of Norwegian forces 30 miles north of Hamar was broken with the aid of German bombers despite the unfavorable weather. The bombers also destroyed the rear communication lines in this sector."

Claim Capture of Range.

In the Guldbrandsdal valley it was said the Germans were fighting north of Lillehammer. The Berlin war communique reported the capture of the mountain range of Lindehadge by German troops.

Altho the British announced that royal air force raids on Stavanger had "rendered the air field useless," the Germans asserted that nine British planes and two French planes were shot down Sunday.

Six British bombers were said to have crashed in flames at Stavanger, the Danish airport of Aalborg, and the North German coast. The others were reported to have been shot down over the western front. The Germans admitted the loss of three planes, one of which made an emergency landing on Swiss territory.

Seize Norwegian Goods.

The Germans asserted that "systematic searches in Norwegian ports and warehouses" have provided them with booty that "surpasses all expectations." They said they had seized enough military boots to equip seven military divisions. These boots were said to have been manufactured for the British army by Jan Bata, Czech shoe manufacturer, presumably in one of his plants outside of Germany.

The German communique said that work has been resumed at the Norwegian naval yards of Horten, south of Oslo. This will enable the German fleet to repair damaged warships and avoid the risk of towing them thru the mine infested waters of the Skagerrak and the Kattegat.

All British ships stranded in Norwegian waters must be taken across the North sea to Scapa Flow. German authorities said that since the start of the Scandinavian campaign, 90 British and French naval units, including troopships, have been sunk or damaged.

BRITAIN TO GIVE UP AIR SERVICE TO U.S. THIS YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—The British government has abandoned its plan to resume trans-Atlantic airmail service this year, it was reported tonight, because of the war's demands on aviation resources.

Air Minister Sir Samuel Hoare is expected to make an official announcement to this effect in the house of commons on Thursday. Originally, it was intended to resume service at the end of June, with two flying boats and three bigger machines being added later in the year. The extension of the hostilities to Norway was the main factor in the cancellation of the plans, it was said.

American companies, as a result, will be the only ones engaged in trans-Atlantic service between North America and Europe.

FOREIGN POLICY LEADS TO WAR, JOHNSON WARNS

The Roosevelt administration's foreign policy as now practiced will get the United States into the European war, Gen. Hugh Johnson, former NRA administrator, said last night in a debate with Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior. They discussed the question: "Shall the New Deal Be Continued?" before a large audience in the Chicago Opera house.

"Pretty soon you will hear it urged that the foreign situation urges a re-election of Mr. Roosevelt," said Johnson. "If he is elected he will say he has a mandate to mix us economically, if not bloodily, in this mess." Johnson spoke against a third term for Roosevelt.

Ickes defended both the President and his policies. He said the administration has been a friend of business and declared Roosevelt should continue in command.

PLAN NOW TO LEAVE HUNGARY, AMERICANS TOLD

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 22 (AP).—The United States legation today advised American citizens in Hungary to "decide as to the advisability of leaving for the United States while there still are means of egress available."

The notice said Americans should "consider the effect" extension of the war to this part of Europe "would have upon the possibility of travel." However, the legation said it "has no information which would lead it to believe that the war will be extended to southern Europe."

There are about 400 American citizens in Hungary, but the legation said most of these were Hungarians who went to the United States, were naturalized and then returned.

NAZI AIR TERROR FORCES SWEDES TO ABANDON TOWN

Bombing Alarms Break Children's Nerves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 22.—Atromstad, a Swedish town on the Goteborg-Oslo railroad near the frontier, has been abandoned by its inhabitants. They left because of the many air raid alarms when German planes flew over Swedish territory in the last few days.

The frequent screaming of sirens warning of the approach of bombers jangled the nerves of children and many became hysterical in bomb shelters. Doctors advised many families to seek a quieter place.

28 Violations in Day Reported.

Twenty-eight violations of Sweden's neutrality by more than 40 German planes were reported yesterday. Some of the planes were suspected of having photographed Swedish defenses. In the last six days seven German planes have been "forced down" [Swedish authorities are slow to admit their anti-aircraft guns bring down German planes] in Sweden. Two of the planes were big ones used for transporting troops.

The Swedish government has protested to Berlin against the flights.

American's Body in Sweden.

The body of Capt. Robert M. Losey, American assistant military attaché to Finland, Sweden and Norway, who was killed yesterday when a bomb splinter pierced his heart at the entrance of a bomb shelter in Dombas, Norway, today was brought into Sweden. It was carried over a mountain road passing thru Roraas, Norway. This is the only remaining route into Sweden from that part of southern Norway where the Norwegian government still exercises some control.

Losey, who was 31 years old, was standing in a mountain tunnel during a German air bombardment when a bomb exploded ahead of the tunnel. Nobody else in the tunnel was hurt.

The military attaché was stationed in Finland during the last few weeks of the Finnish-Russian war. He visited Finnish military air fields.

Soviet Planes Studied.

He also went to the Finnish government air field factory at Tampere [Tammerfors], where he studied construction of the soviet planes brought down by the Finsn.

Losey was a native of Andrew, Ia. His widow, Mrs. Kay Banta Losey, has been living in Hollywood since her husband went to Europe. They were married eight years ago.

Twenty-one women and children, representing families of the staff of the American legation at Oslo, have arrived safely in Sweden after a journey in automobiles over mountain roads which have been machine gunned and bombed by German planes. They came from Lillehammer.

Hull Expresses Sorrow.

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, expressing sorrow over dispatches reporting that Capt. Robert M. Losey, assistant American military attaché, had been killed by a German bomb in Norway, considered tonight whether to take strong diplomatic action toward Germany.

Altho several American diplomats and military attachés have had narrow escapes from German and Russian bombing planes, Losey was the only one to be killed.

Hull said he was seeking all information about the circumstances surrounding Losey's death and would not make a decision as to diplomatic action, if any, until the information had been assembled.

Dombas Military Objective.

The information being assembled by Hull on the basis of which diplomatic action may follow will include details about the bombing operations. Dombas is a rail center and therefore a military objective. But the question immediately asked by officials was whether the Germans, who still contend there is no state of war existing between Germany and Norway, had a right to bomb any place in Norway, even if it were a military objective. There is no information to indicate that the British, who are the declared enemies of Germany, were at Dombas.

BRITAIN IS URGED TO LET U. S. HAVE WEST INDIES PORT

LONDON, April 22.—Great Britain should offer the United States a free port in the West Indies with all sovereign rights, Maj. Victor Cazalet, Conservative member of parliament, said today.

Recent developments might make it desirable for the United States to have a port available to her navy nearer South America, Cazalet said in a speech at Seven Oaks. "It would be a gesture of friendship and could be taken as a part payment on the war debt."

He also advocated a union of the United States and British navies after the war.

Seek to Keep Huge Troop Transports Grounded.

LONDON, April 22 (AP).—Great Britain hammered steadily tonight at Germany in Scandinavia, reporting that her expeditionary troops have achieved "considerable success" after landing "at many places" in Norway and that her bombers have struck damaging blows against Germany's aerial troop ferry route.

It was reported Maj. Gen. Carton de Wiart, who served on a British military mission in Poland last autumn, was directing the British forces in central Norway.

The British air force told of new raids on Stavanger airport in southwestern Norway and Aalborg airport in Denmark last night.

Fourteenth Raid on Stavanger.

It was the 14th time the German-occupied Stavanger airport has been raided by the British and was the second time in as many nights that Britain has struck at what she believed to be the only large German-held airfield in Denmark.

These stations on Germany's air ferry line to Norway were bombed in an effort to ground the big Hansa and Junkers transport planes in which the German high command hopes to pour 2,000 troops into Norway each day.

The air force reported six German transport planes were believed destroyed at Stavanger and a building smashed and runways broken at Aalborg as the bombers turned their attention to the German "jumping off place."

Dodges Searchlights.

One flyer, it was reported, swooped under the searchlight beams at Aalborg and planted bombs on the road near the control tower.

The British said several fires still were burning from the raid the night before at Aalborg. The British said they lost one plane.

The air ministry said the Stavanger airdrome was "bombed and machine-gunned" and "a number of enemy aircraft" destroyed when British flyers swooped down on a park of 50 machines lining the crater-pocked field.

WORLD WAR HERO.

Maj. Gen. Adrian Carton de Wiart, who is commanding the British landing forces in Norway, entered the world war as a captain. He was wounded nine times and became a major general in 1917. De Wiart, a native of Belgium, lost the sight of his left eye while fighting in British Somaliland after having been wounded three times in the Boer war.

He won the distinguished service order in Somaliland and the Victoria cross, the highest British war honor, for extraordinary courage in France. He gained a reputation as a commander who preferred to lead his troops rather than direct them.

BRITAIN IS ASKED TO AVERT STRIKE OF POSTAL UNION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—The British government, it was announced tonight, has been asked to intervene in a dispute between postal authorities and the Postoffice Workers' union that threatens to hold up important censorship and postal services.

T. J. Hodgson, union secretary, indicated a strike may be called. The number of temporary workers, he declared, has increased from 2,000 to 20,000 since the war started. Their claims for higher wages have been rejected. The postoffice, which is under government control, is reluctant to accept arbitration, Hodgson added.

The workers involved include counter clerks, telegraphers, sorters, postmen, and porters who receive about $8 weekly. Others having access to information about ship and troop movements earn about $10 weekly. The union asked a weekly increase of about 88 cents weekly all around.

Hodgson charged an attempt was being made to pave the way for employment of women in men's jobs at lower rates of pay.

Fight Foe at Sea During Operation on British Tar

LONDON, April 22.—A case of acute appendicitis caused a whole squadron of British destroyers and cruisers to halt for an hour today on the way home from Norway. While a surgeon was performing the operation on a seaman, a German flying boat attacked the squadron but was driven off. The warships formed a circle around the vessel on which the operation was performed.

WAR'S SACRIFICES STILL TO COME, CANADA WARNED

MONTREAL, Que., April 22 (AP).—Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, told Canadians today their sacrifices are still to come and they must spend their money for war equipment rather than for private purposes.

Graham F. Towers.

Increased incomes from war activity, he said in an address before the Montreal Canadian club, must be returned to the state in the form of taxation or subscription to war loans.

Canada, Towers added, must provide exchange to enable Great Britain to buy supplies from Canada and must save enough to repurchase Canadian securities held in the United Kingdom.

"The people in this country are going to have to think twice before they make expenditures that are not essential," he continued. "They are going to have to ask themselves, 'Can I do without this article or this service, this cruise or this imported luxury?'"

3 SHIPS SUNK; FEAR 20 NORSE CREWMEN LOST

STOCKHOLM, April 22 (AP).—The Norwegian steamer Bravore, 1,458 tons, struck a mine and foundered off the English southeast coast today. Only four of her crew of 24 were known to have reached land. The Swedish fishing cutter GG144 also struck a mine near its home port of Goteborg and sank with its crew of six.

Dutch Vessel Goes Down.

ROTTERDAM, the Netherlands, April 22 (AP).—Owners of the 951 ton Netherlands cargo ship Bernisse today announced the vessel had been sunk off the Norwegian coast on her way from Sweden to Holland with a load of ore. The crew of 18 was saved.

TELLS CANADIANS AMERICANS SOON WILL ENTER WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 22.—Before 500 Toronto Canadian club members—the same forum at which James Cromwell, American minister to Canada, recently made a pro-ally speech—Lawrence Hunt, New York lawyer and former senior litigation attorney for the American National Labor Relations board, today declared that if the allies cannot put down Hitler and Stalin in short order "then, for our own peace and safety, we [Americans] must lend a hand."

Speaking as a plain American citizen, Hunt lashed out at "our muddy thinking, isolationist politicians and pseudo intellectuals, who, quite unconsciously are frantically fighting the battles of Hitler and Stalin inside America."

He reasoned that America's moral sense, her Christian ideals, and her common sense as dictated by business interests all pointed the way to American participation in the war.

BRITISH FIGHT OFF SWARM OF FLYING MINE LAYERS

Planes, Land Guns, and Navy Join in Defense.

LONDON, April 23, Tuesday (AP).—Great Britain fought a swarm of mine-laying German planes from her shores late last night.

At about the same time, antiaircraft batteries barked for 15 minutes at enemy planes in the region of Paris, France.

A British air ministry communique early today said the German planes over Britain's shores were attacked by antiaircraft batteries fighting planes, and naval units as they apparently tried to lay mines in the estuaries of the Thames and Humber rivers off the east and southeast coasts. No bombs were dropped.

Shrapnel fell in the streets of one east coast town as anti-aircraft guns fired on the invaders.

Fear Bombings in Britain.

The home office became more worried about possible bombings in Britain. To householders went warnings repeating those of last September, when the war started.

The blackout probably will be enforced more strictly. Danger of the war coming to Britain apparently has been increased, informed neutral military and naval sources believe.

Sir Charles Craven, a figure in the armaments industry, has been named a full time civil member of the British air council for development and production, the air ministry announced. He had been given leave of absence from his duties as chairman of the Vickers group of companies.

Name Vice Chiefs.

A communique from No. 10 Downing street announced appointment of vice chiefs to relieve the strain on chiefs of the three fighting staffs, who are on a 24 hour basis.

The new vice chiefs, who will be members of the board of the admiralty, the army council, and the air council, respectively, are:

Naval, Vice Admiral Tom S. V. Phillips; imperial general staff, Sir John G. Drill; air staff, Air Marshal R. E. C. Peirse.

Vice Admiral Phillips, 52 years old, is deputy chief of the naval staff. An Ulsterman, Gen. Sir John Dill, 58, once was described as "one of the most able soldiers in the British army." Air Marshal Peirse, 48, was deputy chief of the air staff in the royal naval air service in the world war.

French Down German Planes.

PARIS, April 22 (AP).—France announced tonight a French patrol shot down a German plane today. It crashed in Belgium. A Brussels dispatch said the pilot was killed and the two other members of the crew wounded. Tonight's British-French communique said a German infantry raid east of the Moselle river was repulsed.

G-MEN JOIN HUNT FOR GENEVA RAIL WRECK PLOTTERS

Federal agents yesterday were assisting Sheriff Marcus W. Damisch of Kane county in investigating an apparent attempt late Saturday night to derail a North Western railroad passenger train near Geneva. A four-by-four signal post was uprooted at the first road west of town and laid across the eastbound tracks.

The train crew of the westbound Overland Limited noticed the obstruction and dropped a message at De Kalb, which was relayed to Geneva, where police and James Johnson, station agent, removed the pole. Johnson said three men who seemed to be carrying some ties toward the right of way fled on his approach.

Railroad officials said the post would have been brushed aside by the tender of any locomotive that struck it. The next trains due thru town were the fast mail at 5 a. m. Sunday and the Corn King Limited an hour and a half later.

BRITISH CONCOCT WAR SALAD OUT OF NASTURTIUMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—Following Germany's lead, the British food ministry has prepared a pamphlet on "Hedgerow Cookery." It instructs housewives in the use of wild plants, which have food value, to supplement cultivated vegetables on menus.

Prof. J. C. Drummond, the ministry's scientific adviser, specified wild dandelion leaves are good as salad ingredients. Nasturtium leaves also were recommended either as a salad or sandwich filler.

Newspapers advised housewives nettles are good for purée and that young nettles should be cooked like spinach. The tips of hop shoots also make good vegetable soup, it was said, and daisy leaves can be mixed with dandelions to make a "wild salad."

A "busman's honeymoon" is in prospect for Miss Verna Neubauer, Wisconsin's only girl guide. Miss Neubauer, who is attending the All-Wisconsin Outdoor Life exposition at the Sherman hotel, announced yesterday that she will be married to Robert Doyle, Milwaukee newspaper man, in September.

Their honeymoon will be a batteau trip down the Flambeau river and thru the winter lakes region. "Bob is going to do all the poling and paddling," the 23 year old girl guide said. "I'm going to sit in front for a change."

Miss Neubauer lives in Loretta, Wis., with her mother. Doyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Doyle of Ladysmith, Wis.

A JUDGE TURNS A BILLET-DOUX INTO A DUE BILL

Edward Buttgen, 2843 19th street, wrote a formal business letter to his wife, Mary, whom he is suing for divorce, and yesterday Mrs. Buttgen asked Judge Joseph Sabath whether or not he would like to read the letter. The judge said yes, and read this:

"Dear Madam: Inclosed find weekly alimony order for $8.50—less 41 cents; 14 cents for carfare spent to warn you not to molest Mr. B. or his friends, 15 cents for the money order, 2 cents for postage, and 10 cents service charge.

"Yours very truly,
"MR. EDWARD C. BUTTGEN."

Judge Sabath retired to his chambers so, as he explained it, he wouldn't become too judicially angry. Then he emerged and ordered Buttgen to pay the 41 cents to Mrs. Buttgen in a hurry. "And," he added, "you're $35 in arrears in alimony, and if you don't pay it by May 2 you'll go to jail." The alimony is for support of Buttgen's daughter, Dolores. Mrs. Buttgen lives at 3313 Berteau avenue. O, yes, Mr. Buttgen paid the 41 cents.

2 PICKETS SEIZED AT FACTORY; ONE NAMED IN ATTACK

Two picketing strikers at the Chicago Metallic Manufacturing company, 3711 South Ashland avenue, were arrested yesterday by police, who charged them with exceeding the bounds of peaceful picketing. One, Leo Pilachowski, 22 years old, 4502 South Honore street, later was identified as a member of a group of goons that assaulted a worker at the plant Friday.

Dominick J. Sienkiewicz, 4334 Wood street, made the identification of Pilachowski and signed a complaint charging him with assult.

The other picket arrested was Miss Helen Lubas, 25, of 3811 South Spaulding avenue. It was the second time she has been arrested since the strike began March 27. Strikers are members of the Playthings and Novelty Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate.

6 MORE MANTENO TYPHOID FEVER CARRIERS FOUND

Dr. Walter H. Baer, acting managing officer of the Manteno State hospital, announced yesterday that six more typhoid carriers had been discovered and isolated at the institution. Three persons have died of typhoid there since April 7 in a new outbreak of the disease which cost 60 lives last summer and fall during an epidemic at the hospital.

Dr. Baer said there are now 92 carriers isolated and that the search for additional ones is continuing. None of the six put in isolation yesterday was from a ward in which any of the three recent deaths occurred, Dr. Baer said. Five of the six are former typhoid patients. No patients are now ill with typhoid symptoms, the managing officer said. The carrier search is being directed by Dr. C. Milton Eberhart of the state public health department.

GERMANS MUST TAKE ANOTHER CUT IN RATIONS

Potatoes, Lard, Sugar and Cake on List.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 22.—The German population, which had been hoping for an economic improvement as a result of the conquest of rich, agricultural Denmark, today found rations further reduced.

Four pounds of potatoes for each person is the maximum weekly ration obtainable in Berlin. At this time of the year, potatoes are not of the best quality and when prepared the four pounds become much less.

Sugar rations have been cut 10 per cent from the regular monthly allotment of 2.20 pounds. To take the place of this reduction, Germans will receive an extra ounce of factory made jam, which usually has an indescribable synthetic taste.

Less Cake Available.

Starting May 6, Germans will have to pacify that gnawing feeling in their stomachs with something other than cake. On that date cake will be rationed and included in their bread cards.

The lard ration which the German housewife used as a spread on sandwiches in addition to cooking, will be curtailed by 20 per cent, or to 6½ ounces a month.

While few vegetables are available at the markets, authorities will make available only one can of vegetables or fruit for each person for the next four weeks.

Lack Vegetable Seeds.

City folk who planned to raise a few radishes or some greens on their porches find themselves confronted with a lack of flower boxes and seeds.

In ten leading stores, THE TRIBUNE correspondent was unable to find seeds of any kind. Suburbanites also complain about their inability to buy seeds.

Fruit growers declare that as a result of the severe winter in northern Germany their crops will be the poorest in many years.

PLANE CARRIER IS USELESS, BRITISH EXPERT DECLARES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—Seemingly one discovery made in this war is the uselessness of aircraft carriers, especially in supporting troop landing operations, the military expert of the London Evening Standard declared tonight.

The reasons given for the failure of the aircraft carrier are that the type of planes able to land on carriers are obsolete and useless against the latest types of planes. The vulnerability of the carriers themselves also may have given grounds to the arguments against them.

"The aircraft carrier belongs to the age of flying that has passed," the Standard's military expert asserted. More important, he said, is the possession of an airdrome in a region where operations are conducted. "The fighters," he said, "which seemingly are death to bombers, do not have sufficient range to cover extended operations."

100 JAP PLANES BOMB WESTERN CHINA VILLAGES

CHUNGKING, China, April 22 (AP).—One hundred Japanese planes ushered in the spring bombing season for Szechwan province today with blows at a number of villages.

Chungking, China's provisional capital, escaped attack, as apparently did the other big cities of the province. Chengtu was the only large city still unheard from.

Capture of a Japanese strategic center 25 miles northwest of Nanchang by Chinese troops driving toward the one-time capital of Kiangsi province was reported by the Chinese central news agency. Fighting also was reported around Chungtiao mountain in the southwestern part of Shansi province.

STORK CAUGHT IN SNOW; 4 HORSES BRING IN BABY

CALGARY, Alta., April 22 (AP).—Hospital attendants said today that Mrs. Marie Wilson and the daughter born to her last night in a snow marooned truck are making satisfactory progress. Mrs. Wilson, whose husband is serving with the Royal Canadian artillery at Kingston, Ont., was being taken to a hospital from her home west of Calgary when the truck became jammed in a snowdrift. A four-horse team towed the truck to a farmhouse, but the baby was born before the house was reached. An ambulance brought mother and child to a hospital here.

BRITISH REPORT 24 NAZI WARSHIPS HAVE BEEN HIT

LONDON, April 22 (AP).—An official British statement tonight declared German warship "casualties" totaled 24 since the outbreak of war in September. The total was apart from a "large number of submarines," the statement said. Britain has lost 18 warships, including five submarines and the armed merchant cruiser Rawalpindi, the British summation declared.

The statement listed British losses as:

One battleship, one aircraft carrier, one armed merchant cruiser, 10 destroyers, five submarines.

The total did not include trawlers or minesweepers.

German losses listed were:

One battle cruiser reported sunk; one damaged; one pocket battleship sunk, one hit by torpedoes; one heavy cruiser sunk, one hit by torpedoes; three cruisers sunk, one reported sunk, one hit by aircraft bombs, one hit by torpedo; 10 destroyers sunk, one hit by aircraft bombs and one "probably hit" by bombs. A "large number" of submarines sunk.

[The Germans claim that since the Scandinavian campaign began, 90 British and French naval units, including troop transport ships, have been either sunk or damaged.]

Empires' Fleet Cuts Danger for Egypt, Says Premier

CAIRO, Egypt, April 22 (AP).—Victories of the British and French fleets off Norway have enabled the empires' warships to come to the Mediterranean, so that the danger of a fortnight ago no longer is imminent, Premier Aly Maher Pasha told the chamber of deputies tonight. The premier reiterated Egypt's support of the British and French and declared the country was sparing no efforts to carry out its obligations under the British-Egyptian treaty.

BRITAIN FACES NEW WAR TAX IN BUDGET TODAY

Loans May Raise Half of Necessary Funds.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 22.—Altho news of the Scandinavian front tonight overshadowed developments at home, Britishers will be brought back to domestic realities tomorrow. Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, will submit to parliament what is expected to be a record war budget.

Sir John Simon.

The problem of how to pay for the war without upsetting the country's financial structure has dominated economic and financial discussions for eight months. Simon seems to have decided on a 50-50 distribution between taxes and loans, and if he continues the policy the country will inevitably bear a heavier burden of taxation.

Speculate on New Levies.

Altho no one outside the small cabinet clique will know before tomorrow what the chancellor has in mind, forecasters have been busy. They predict higher taxes on beer, tobacco, spirits, and gasoline; new taxes on a wide range of luxury goods, widening of the income tax base to include many workers not previously taxed, an increase in the excess profits tax and surtax, and an increase in mail charges.

A proposal to raise revenue by making a levy on workers' wages under the title "compulsory savings" seems to be discounted as an immediate possibility by some informed quarters. Simon refrained in the house of commons from rejecting the idea after Lord Stamp, the government's chief economic adviser, favored it. The trade unions and workers, however, raised a howl of protest and it seems unlikely that Sir John will risk adoption of the plan at this time.

Run on Savings Feared.

The chancellor, it is reported, has been warned that a wage levy would result in a run on savings. Sir Robert Kindersley, president of the national savings committee, speaking at Essex, said he thought the compulsory savings scheme would not be successful.

Simon will have to find three billion pounds [about $10,590,000,000] to finance the war and civil expenditures in the coming year, but he may follow the precedent set in the last war and request parliament for votes of credit covering only a few months at a time.

Simon's difficulties were partly solved by the traveling salesmen's union. This group appealed to the chancellor to levy a tax of 10 pounds 10 shillings [about $37] on each of 100,000 registered [unionized] traveling salesmen in this country. The union wants to force nonunionist competitors out of business.

New Warship, the Arashi, Is Launched by Japan

America Is Headed for War with Japan, Admiral Warns

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Rear Admiral Joseph K. Taussig, former assistant chief of naval operations and now commandant of the 5th naval district at Norfolk, Va., told the senate naval affairs committee today that the United States is headed for war with Japan.

Rear Admiral Taussig.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

The United States would be justified in going to war against Japan to preserve the independence and integrity of China, even tho the cost of such a war might lead to the overthrow of our form of government, Admiral Taussig said.

Proposes Safety Program.

1. Be strong enough to make Japan afraid to involve us in war; continue building battleships bigger and better than any which Japan may be building.

2. Establish an impregnable base in the Philippines and fortify the island of Guam sufficiently to make its capture impossible.

3. Make an agreement with Great Britain, France, and the Netherlands that will insure coöperation in the maintenance of the status quo in the area to the southward of Formosa.

Admiral Taussig testified in support of the navy department's proposal for a 25 per cent expansion in the authorized strength of the fleet, at a cost of 1 billion 90 million dollars.

Expect Increased Tension.

His warlike utterances are expected to inflame the Japanese and increase the tension between Japan and the United States, which was eased somewhat on Saturday at a long conference between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Kensuke Horinouchi, the Japanese ambassador.

Relations between the two countries had been strained by the question of the Netherlands East Indies. A week ago Hachiro Arita, the Japanese foreign minister, made a statement at Tokio intimating Japan might take the Netherlands Indies under her "protection" if the Netherlands should become involved in the European war.

Secretary Hull promptly issued a statement warning Japan to keep hands off the Netherlands Indies. After Saturday's conference, however, Ambassador Horinouchi said the views of Japan and the United States respecting the Netherlands Indies were in accord, that both countries wanted the status quo maintained.

Both the navy and the state department denied any responsibility for Admiral Taussig's testimony today. Secretary Hull declared at his press conference the foreign policies of this government are well defined and well known, that Admiral Taussig was speaking only for himself. Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, issued a statement saying Admiral Taussig was expressing only his personal opinion and that it was "contrary to the navy department's views."

While Admiral Taussig himself emphasized he was expressing only his personal opinion, his testimony was not exactly contrary to an official navy department document submitted to the senate committee last week by Admiral Stark. In response to a series of questions propounded by Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] on behalf of certain peace organizations, the navy department strongly urged the fortification of Guam in order to "stabilize the political situation in the far east."

Three Factors Set Forth.

The navy department said this balance had been "disturbed adversely to the United States by the rise of Japanese naval power, by the Japanese acquisition and development of extensive archipelagos surrounding Guam, and by the restrictions upon naval base facilities imposed by the armaments limitations treaties of 1922."

Relying in part on the 1927 memorial of Premier Tanaka to the emperor, Admiral Taussig told the senate committee that Japan's ambitions include the domination of the far east.

"This is underway at present," he said, "with the subjugation of China. The Philippines, Netherlands Indies, French-Indo China, and Malaya are to be taken over in due course of time. Russia is to be driven westward of Lake Baikal.

"An expansion of the power of the Japanese empire such as outlined is a dangerous threat to the United States, and the great question is whether from the point of view of our own national safety we can acquiesce in such a development without definite opposition."

A war with Japan would have to be a naval war, the admiral said, since we could never carry on land war against that country. "But," he added, "Japan can never invade the United States mainland or Hawaii as long as the fleet is in existence."

Workers Put in Charge; Oratory Flows.

exhausted and there was no possibility of getting supplies from Russia.

On the contrary, in the early days of the Red occupation, delegates came from Kiev and other Russian towns and carried away in their lorries [trucks] whatever tools they could.

Production was further hampered by the incapability of the soviet authorities to organize properly even those raw materials derived from local sources.

Tanneries that had for years been exporting on a large scale could not get hides, so leather disappeared from the market altogether. One of my problems at Lvov was how to mend a hole that was developing in the sole of my right shoe. I tried everywhere to get a piece of leather to patch it. I found it impossible, altho I offered almost any price. I brought that hole home to England.

Breweries had to ration their beer supplies because they could not get sufficient barley and hops, altho the producing centers were only a few miles away.

Tobacco Supply Fails.

Tobacco used to be one of the most profitable monopolies of the Polish state, and the industry had been organized so that there were always plentiful supplies both of raw materials and finished products. Lvov was an important center of the monopoly in Polish times.

Under the Russians it soon became impossible to get more than a few cigarets, and these were of inferior quality. Outside the official distributing centers, long queues formed every day. Altho each person was allowed only a few cigarets, most of them could not get even those few.

Around the corner street vendors were selling surreptitiously tobacco leaves of the autumn crop, just dried and unfermented, which people bought and cut up at home into tobacco for pipes or cigarets. If the authorities had organized the proper collection and fermentation of such crops there would have been plenty of tobacco for all.

Oil Output Shrinks.

The oil fields were not damaged by the war and could have continued production almost without interruption. But there were no managers or technical staffs; they had been expelled. The output soon went down seriously and the quality of gasoline and other products deteriorated. As long as these conditions continue, Germany will not get much oil from these wells.

Wherever you look in Poland, the coming of the Russians has given a knockout blow to practically every branch of industry and at the same time reduced products to a low standard of quality.

Consider what has happened to soap. I remember the word going 'round that newly made soap would be on sale on a certain day in January. Soap had become only a memory and, when the day came, people fought for places in the queues.

I had a piece of such "soap," acquired after four hours of waiting in the cold. It was an evil-smelling, blackish brown mass that felt gritty and would not lather even in hot water.

Results Cause Disgust.

In this chaos the feelings of the workers themselves soon changed from an admiration of the Communist system, nurtured by the propaganda, to open disgust. This dissatisfaction was increased when industrial undertakings were nationalized. This meant that the status of workmen changed from being part owners, as members of a coöperative society, to wage earners dependent entirely on the rate of pay fixed by the new owners, i. e., the state, and deprived of the right to strike or even to change their place of employment if they wished.

They lost pride in their work and the incentive to show initiative. Then they tired of the endless tirades and propaganda talks of the political leaders. Lastly, they found that their pay, even tho augmented in nominal value, would not buy them the necessities to which they and their wives had been accustomed.

A Luxury—Lard.

Cigarets, soap, leather I have already mentioned. To these must be added almost every other article of everyday use in the household, the supply of which had either stopped entirely or the price of which had gone up to a prohibitive figure.

Milk, eggs, butter, and lard became luxuries. The peasants, not being able in the towns to buy anything that they wanted, have lost faith in the value of money and will not bring their produce to markets.

At the same time the peasants are always willing to barter their produce. For a reel of cotton or a piece of pre-war soap, you can get as many eggs or as much butter as you want. No money would induce the same peasant even to show his goods.

PICKETING LAWS UPSET AS PERIL TO FREE SPEECH

U. S. Supreme Court Kills Two Statutes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Basing its decisions on the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press, the United States Supreme court today pronounced invalid an Alabama statute and a California county ordinance prohibiting picketing in labor disputes. The court divided 8 to 1 in each case.

Justice Frank Murphy.

"The freedom of speech and of the press guaranteed by the constitution embraces at least the liberty to discuss publicly and truthfully all matters of public concern without previous restraint or fear of subsequent punishment," said the court's opinion in the Alabama case, written by Justice Frank Murphy. Justice James C. McReynolds dissented in each case, but filed no opinion.

What Statute Provided.

The Alabama statute made it a misdemeanor for any person or persons "without a just cause or legal excuse" to "go near to or loiter about the premises or place of business of any other person, firm, corporation, or association of people, engaged in a lawful business, for the purpose, or with the intent of influencing, or inducing other persons not to trade with, buy from, sell to, have business dealings with, or be employed by such persons . . . or who picket the works or place of business of such other persons . . . for the purpose of hindering, delaying or interfering with or injuring any business or enterprise of another."

Byron Thornhill was convicted in the Circuit court of Tuscaloosa county of participating in the picketing of the Brown Wood Preserving company, after a strike had been called by a labor union, and was sentenced to imprisonment for 73 days in default of payment of a fine of $100 and costs.

Justice Murphy's opinion held the Alabama statute unconstitutional on its face. "The freedom of speech and of the press, which are secured by the first amendment against abridgment by the United States, are among the fundamental personal rights and liberties which are secured to all persons by the fourteenth amendment against abridgment by a state," the opinion said.

Essential to Free Government.

"The safeguarding of these rights to the ends that men may speak as they think on matters vital to them and that falsehoods may be exposed thru the processes of education and discussion is essential to free government. Those who won our independence had confidence in the power of free and fearless reasoning and communication of ideas to discover and spread political and economic truth. Noxious doctrines in those fields may be refuted and their evil averted by the courageous exercise of the right of free discussion."

"Abridgment of freedom of speech and of the press, however, impairs those opportunities for public education that are essential to effective exercise of the power of correcting error thru the processes of popular government. [Compare United States vs. Carolene Products, 304 U. S. 144, 152-153 N]."

The dissemination of information concerning the facts of a labor union dispute must be regarded as within the area of free discussion that is guaranteed by the constitution, the opinion held.

Second Case from California.

The second case involved an ordinance of Shasta county, California, as sweeping in scope as the Alabama antipicketing law. In this case, John Carlson, the appellant, was one of a group of 29 men who engaged in picketing in front of the Delta tunnel project in Shasta county, carrying signs which bore the legend: "This job is unfair to the C. I. O."

Justice Murphy also wrote the opinion in this case, holding that the ordinance was unconstitutional on its face.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Mrs. Jessie Blinn, 76 years old, was found dead yesterday in her home at 5349 Ravenswood avenue. A heart attack was blamed. A fire department rescue squad tried in vain to revive her.

FREE 9 ACCUSED OF ST. CHARLES STRIKE VIOLENCE

Charges of assault and battery against nine men seized at the height of the violence and terrorism in the recent strike at the St. Charles Manufacturing company, St. Charles, were dropped yesterday. The complainants, two truck drivers and a watchman, did not appear.

Their absence seemed to occasion no surprise in the Wheaton courtroom of Justice of the Peace William H. Johnson. Attorney Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin, representing the strikers, was on hand. So was Assistant State's Attorney William E. Hooper of Du Page county. After 20 minutes of waiting, Justice Johnson dismissed the charges.

Same Performance; New Cast.

The scene recalled a similar occurrence, with a different cast, last Friday, when Justice Johnson dismissed assault charges against Walter MacNeille, secretary of the company. The complaining witness, Lewis Wilkenson, a striker, did not appear. Hooper was present, as was MacNeille's attorney, Edward Streit of Aurora. Wilkenson had accused MacNeille of discharging a tear gas gun in his face during a highway clash between strikers and company men.

Johnson and Prosecutor Hooper explained last night that the state's attorney's office had no power to act unless the complaining witnesses or their counsel appeared at the preliminary hearings. If the witnesses do appear, the case then can be taken into Circuit court or before the grand jury.

Reports were current in Wheaton that one of the conditions of the strike settlement, amended April 13, was that assault prosecutions would be dropped by both sides. Robert A. MacNeille, brother of Walter and president of the company, denied this last night.

Says Firm Didn't Prosecute.

"The company swore out no warrants against striking employés," President MacNeille said. "We did not take the position of prosecuting them."

It had been reported the complainant against the nine men arraigned in Wheaton yesterday was Walter MacNeille. The complainants, however, were Asa Lee and Walter Rouse, colored truck drivers, and Dan Gauvey, a truck driver and watchman.

President MacNeille said the only court action taken by the company in the strike which began Feb. 8 was to obtain an injunction against violence and intimidation. The contempt cases of 32 men charged with violating the injunction are pending before Judge Charles D. Page of Elgin, sitting in the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva.

The strike, which threw 115 men out of work, was called by two American Federation of Labor unions in a dispute as to whether they or an independent union should be bargaining agent. It was indicated the National Labor Relations board will determine the issue. The company manufactures kitchen equipment.

PIONEER'S DAUGHTER DIES AT 94.

Polo, Ill., April 22 [Special].—Mrs. Juliana Waterbury, 94 years old, a resident of Ogle county for the last 74 years, died today at a hospital in Dixon.

Prevention is the best policy!

"Call the Fire Department!" is, figuratively speaking, the way many people treat constipation: they rush to the medicine cabinet for emergency relief. It never occurs to them to look for the cause of their trouble, or to try avoiding it with common-sense prevention.

A better idea that millions of Americans are now following is the "ounce of prevention" that beats the pound of "cure." Instead of enduring constipation and then trying to "cure" it, they avoid it altogether by getting at its cause. You can, too, if it's the common kind that's due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet.

How? By asking your grocer for a crisp, crunchy breakfast cereal—KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN supplies the essential "bulk," so lacking in many modern diets. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars"!

THEY SAY THIS ABOUT Mary...

Mary did nothing common or mean

She was always regal and of great dignity. "Abandon the thought that I came hither in order to save my life. Neither the world nor Scotland has repudiated me. I came hither to win back my honour . . . that before you I might accuse my accusers." So wrote Mary, Queen of Scots to Elizabeth. It was this kind of courage that won so many friends for Mary.

The inspiration of Mary's friend-making qualities led the makers of Highland Queen to name the whisky for her. It is an appealing whisky, light and delicate, yet it retains rare flavor and bouquet.

PRESIDENT WILL TOUR U. S. DURING GOP CONVENTION

May Extend Two Day Trip to Alaska.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Warm Springs, Ga., April 22.—President Roosevelt today announced he plans an extensive tour of the United States as a counter attraction to the Republican national convention in June.

If congress adjourns and if the war situation permits, Mr. Roosevelt said with a smile, he will take a 21 day trip in June thru the south, the southwest, the west coast, the northwest, possibly Alaska, and back thru the middle west to Washington.

When he was asked if his trip would overlap the Republican convention, Mr. Roosevelt said he probably would be in a national park at that time. The Republican convention is to be opened on June 24.

Calls Trip Nonpolitical.

Mr. Roosevelt described his projected trip as nonpolitical, saying that if he spoke during the trip he would probably speak on conservation.

Mr. Roosevelt is repeating what he did in the 1936 campaign. At the time the Republican convention was meeting in Cleveland he left the capital for a "nonpolitical" trip to the Texas and Arkansas centennial celebrations.

On the tour he made several major addresses defending the New Deal and inferentially attacking his political opponents, which shared the news columns with the Republican gathering. He also made innumerable lesser informal speeches.

Leaves About June 1.

In outlining his itinerary Mr. Roosevelt said he plans to leave Washington about the first of June altho he described the situation as "iffy" because of congress and the European situation. He said he would probably remain in Washington for at least a week after congress left to sign or veto bills.

His projected itinerary calls for a visit to Great Smoky national park, which he has been intending to dedicate for almost two years. From the Appalachians he would move into Mississippi to dedicate the Natchez trace, famous old trail, and visit the city of Natchez.

The next stop would be Fort Worth, Tex., where he would visit his son, Elliott. From there he would proceed to the dedication of the nation's newest national park, King's canyon, in California. He would move north to San Francisco to pay his postponed visit to that city's fair and continue north to the Olympic national park, which he visited in 1937.

He would probably visit his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger in Seattle. Should the foreign situation continue tranquil, he said he might pay a long anticipated visit to Alaska. The return journey to Washington would probably follow a northern route.

Canadian Premier a Guest.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed that he will have W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, as a house guest tomorrow and part of Wednesday. He said there is nothing unusual about the visit as the Canadian leader has always called to pay his respects during his spring vacation. Mackenzie King will journey here from Virginia Beach.

A visitor today was Lauchlin Currie, one of the three presidential assistants with a passion for anonymity. Currie was here, the President said, to discuss economics, which means, he added with a grin, everything and nothing.

Roosevelt Plans a New Tour

Heavy black line indicates proposed tour announced by President Roosevelt. The President expects to make the tour in June if congress adjourns and the war situation permits. The broken portion of the line indicates possible extension of journey to Alaska.

PRESIDENT DRINKS A CHOCOLATE SODA, HECKLES GOLFERS

Warm Springs, Ga., April 22 [Special].—After a drive thru the red clay back roads of Meriweather county, President Roosevelt drew up before the drug store of this tiny village today, honked the horn of his touring car, and demanded curb service.

In the car with him were Basil O'Connor, former law partner of the President and head of the national infantile paralysis foundation, and Miss Marguerite Lehand, the chief executive's personal secretary. Mr. Roosevelt demanded and received three chocolate sodas from a flustered drug clerk. He finished his before either of his companions had stopped sucking at their straws.

Earlier Mr. Roosevelt drove over the golf course of the infantile paralysis foundation to heckle golfers engaged in the semiannual tournament among the White House staff, reporters, movie and still photographers, and secret service men. He applauded good shots, booed dubbed shots, and gave advice freely.

RE-ELECT G. O. P. COMMITTEE HEAD IN LAKE COUNTY

William M. Marks of Lake Villa was unanimously reëlected chairman of the Republican county central committee of Lake county last night in Waukegan. Marks had held the post last year.

Ferguson Harkness of Lake Zurich was elected Democratic county central chairman at another meeting in Waukegan. He replaces Dr. Robert R. Bosworth, Highland Park, a dentist, who held the post five years. Dr. Bosworth supported Harkness.

Chairmen of the Republican and Democratic county central committees of McHenry county were elected yesterday at separate party caucuses in Woodstock. C. Frank Daly of Woodstock, McHenry county treasurer, was elected to his sixth term as head of the Republican group, and Stanley J. Pichen of Cary was elected as head of the Democratic group.

State's Attorney Charles A. O'Connor was reëlected chairman of the Kane county Republican central committee last night in Geneva. Other officers, also reëlected, are Austin Hansen, Elgin, vice chairman; George Raulston, Dundee, secretary, and Victor Johnson, Geneva, treasurer. Attorney Jacob Alschuler of Aurora was reëlected chairman of the county Democratic central committee.

Challenges Signatures on Cromwell Petitions

Trenton, N. J., April 22 (AP).—Validity of signatures on the nominating petitions of James H. R. Cromwell, Democrat, in his bid for a United States senate seat were protested tonight by John R. Longo, a Jersey City Democrat, who opposes Frank Hague as the party's leader. Longo's written protest was received by Ernest R. Kerr, chief clerk in the secretary of state's office. "It is not my intention," Longo said, "to disqualify Cromwell's petition, but I do charge that the Hague machine is part of a conspiracy to defraud the election act."

Mystery Letters Endeavor to Dictate Choice.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Illinois Republican leaders, marking time until the state and national conventions come along, were roused from their post-primary rest yesterday by a mystery that some of them swore must be solved immediately if trouble in the party is to be avoided.

Some one, it was charged—and the charge was supported by evidence in tangible form—has begun an effort to tamper with the Illinois delegates to the national convention June 24 in Philadelphia, Pa. A few leaders who knew the facts suspected the attempt was to obtain control of delegates for delivery at some back room conference to some candidate whose name was not submitted to the voters in the presidential preference voting.

Elect Own Chairman.

Others were of the opinion that while this purpose may have had a part in the effort at subterranean politics it was likely the schemer or schemers had a more direct eye on the election within the delegation itself. The delegates elect their own chairman and other officers and also elect the national committeeman for the next four years.

The plot was disclosed privately by Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, and Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator, to their close associates, whom they directed to begin an inquiry into the prompting source of a flood of letters almost identical in thought with which they have been bombarded since the middle of last week.

Demands Sent to Nominees.

Green and Brooks declined to disclose the signatures on the communications, holding that they were personal messages from political friends and acquaintances, but they had told their associates that they considered that while some of them might innocently have allowed themselves to be used the thought of all the writers was inspired from the same source.

Without any warning thru newspaper publication or otherwise that such a movement was on foot, the two nominees suddenly found themselves with postal demands concerning the selection of the eight delegates at large by the state convention. It had been conceded generally that custom demanded these two nominees should be included among the eight and that the other six be chosen from among the big men of the party in the state.

The letter writing campaign, however, made these demands:

1. That no nominees be made delegates at large.
2. That at least five of the eight be downstaters.
3. That those five be chosen from the "workers" of the organization such as county chairmen.

The names of several presidential possibilities not entered in the Illinois primary were mentioned in the discussions among leaders. Among them was former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, nominee in 1936, who has continued some Chicago friendships begun in that campaign. He was asked over the telephone in Topeka whether he knew of any Illinois activity in his behalf.

In reply he said:

"I know of no movement in Illinois to line up delegates for me. I do not want delegates in Illinois or any other state. I have tried definitely to state my position and thought it was understood."

Efforts to interview Hill Blackett, national committeeman and friend of Landon, were unsuccessful. He has told friends he hoped there would be some Illinois delegates willing to follow the lead of Landon, so that the 1936 nominee might have substantial influence in the convention. He also has said he believes the "workers" should be recognized in the selection of the delegates at large; that the nominees have been sufficiently honored by the party.

BEG YOUR PARDON.

The North Shore Repertory players will present "Hamlet" tomorrow evening at the Evanston Woman's club, and not on Saturday as stated in the north side Metropolitan section on Sunday. The Saturday performance will be at the University of Chicago. The misinformation was supplied by the Repertory players.

Thru error the International Postage Stamp company, 58 West Washington street, was referred to in an article yesterday as the International Stamp company. The International Stamp company has offices at 4546 North Clark street.

Senators Order Agents to Probe Maryland Race

Washington, D. C., April 22 [Special].—Agents of the special senate campaign expenditures committee were ordered to Maryland today to investigate charges of excessive spending in the current Democratic senatorial primary campaign between Senator George L. Radcliffe and Howard Bruce, Democratic national committeeman.

CHIEFS RENAMED 'AT DEMOCRATS' COUNTY SESSION

Absence of three top leaders gave the Cook county Democratic convention the opportunity to demonstrate machine-like efficiency yesterday. Mayor Kelly, Chairman Patrick A. Nash, and Vice Chairman Jacob M. Arvey were in Florida as the biennial meeting was completed in approximately an hour.

Nash was reëlected for his fourth term. All the other officers were reelected: Arvey, Secretary Joseph L. Gill, Assistant Secretary Joseph Ross, and Sergeant at Arms Thomas P. Garry. Gill, who is Municipal court clerk, was convention chairman.

The Republican county convention met perfunctorily yesterday afternoon in the Hotel Sherman and recesssed until April 29. By that time winning ward committeemen are expected to have their certificates of election, enabling them to take their seats.

FAMILY ESCAPES FIRE; PARROT DIES.

Five members of the family escaped yesterday when fire attacked the kitchen and rear porch of A. Hack's home at 3539 North Naragansett avenue, but the pet parrot, forgotten in the excitement, was suffocated by smoke. Damage to the house was limited to $150.

CRUSADING EDITOR'S WIDOW ENDS 4 DAYS ON STAND IN RED TRIAL

New York, April 22 [Special].—Mrs. Edith F. Liggett today completed four days of examination as complainant and principal prosecution witness in the trial of communist interests in New York on a charge of criminal libel. She was excused by both sides after the noon recess.

Defendants in the trial, being heard in General Sessions court by Judge John J. Freschi and a jury, are the Comprodaily Publishing company, publisher of the Daily Worker, communist party newspaper; Clarence Hathaway, its editor, and Hyman Colodny, business manager. The case grew out of a series of articles published in the Daily Worker in February, 1936, two months after Mrs. Liggett's husband, crusading Minneapolis editor, was shot to death.

Assistant District Attorney Herman T. Stichman tried unsuccessfully today to get into the record the names of communist party organizers and other information concerning the party's activities. The trial was adjourned until Wednesday.

SONG'S FLAGS UNFURL

By CALEB

EACH Tuesday evening the past winter through, the Field Choral Society has assembled after working hours for rehearsals building up to its most significant performance of the year; its annual Spring Recital in Orchestra Hall. And tomorrow evening marks this event's latest occurrence, with the entire 2700-seat capacity of the hall sold out well in advance.

The Choral Society itself is an ably-trained, music-minded group of two hundred and ten mixed voices, with a membership drawn from every rank and type of the store's service personnel. Singing in enthusiastic unison, with Music the common leveler of all distinctions and source of a common kinship, are salespeople, buyers, section managers, stylists, stockroom workers, waitresses, designers, accountants, housekeepers, elevator operators and executives—all finding new employ for mutual talent and an inspiring interest. It is easy to understand how considerable is the influence for co-operative harmony in the day's work stimulated by this sort of communal re-creative activity carried on outside it.

Tomorrow night's recital is the latest in a long series. Founded in the year of Marshall Field's death—1906—the Choral Society still numbers among its voices men and women who sang at its first public performance. Grooming under the baton of Dr. Edgar Nelson for the past thirteen years has brought the chorus to a plane of proficiency well suited, professionally, to the caliber of its notable guest artist—Richard Crooks.

Interestingly enough, too, it was this same Richard Crooks who appeared with the Field Choral Society in its Spring Recital of 1923—just halfway of the Society's present record of thirty-four successive performances . . . .

Naturally, what Field's own organization thinks of its splendid singing membership is best evidenced in the fact that Field employes will comprise the majority of tomorrow night's audience. "Lucky" is the word for those of the general public who will also have contrived to be present in spite of this monopoly by the "home folks."

As we again unfurl the flags of song, one of America's most popular tenors will, we believe, find himself in excellent company—for the Field Choristers have prepared a musical menu well worthy of critical listeners. Featured on the program are Glinka, Thomas, Verdi, Grieg, Elgar, Flotow, Mendelssohn, and a specially fine vocal arrangement of Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody.

LAY DEMOCRATIC SPLIT IN INDIANA TO 2% SCANDAL

Hoosiers Await Next Step in Treasury Probe.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Terre Haute, Ind., April 22.—While Indiana awaits the next step of federal treasury agents investigating the Democratic 2 per cent slush fund scandal, Hoosiers talk of the way it is enmeshed with the devious politics that appear characteristic of Indiana. The 2 per cent levy or pay rollers was one of the explosives that split the Democratic party into factions.

The 2 per cent shakedown was one of the reasons for the break between Paul V. McNutt, when governor, and Earl Ueters, former Democratic state committee chairman. Peters probably is the man most instumental in putting McNutt into the governor's chair.

Himself a candidate for governor, Peters now is the Hoosier closest to James A. Farley, postmaster general and Democratic national committee chairman.

Original Roosevelt Backer.

Back in 1929, Peters was whooping it up as one of the original Franklin D. Roosevelt boosters. in the 1932 Chicago Stadium convention Peters was for Roosevelt while the McNutt crowd balked, possibly with a thought that the lightning might strike McNutt. He had just been nominated for governor. Over all this there remained a soreness.

Later, when the 2 Per Cent club was organized and given a halo by McNutt as Jeffersonian democracy spiked with humanitarianism, Peters demanded a showdown. As state chairman he insisted party funds should be controled and handled by the state committee instead of by a club. He even said the levies were excessive. Only $36,000 was needed to pay off the party's campaign deficit of 1932, Peters contended, whereas the 2 per cent levy brought in about $150,000 a year.

Peters Is Pushed Out.

The McNutt-McHale-Elder machine had its way and soon afterward Peters resigned as state chairman. Hoosiers said he was pushed. When Peters sought the nomination for United States senator in 1934 he was beaten by the McNutt machine.

As candidate for governor, Peters says he is for Roosevelt if he runs, but if the President decides otherwise, Peters will support McNutt's candidacy for the presidency.

The investigation by treasury agents of Indiana's slush, in which the government already has cracked down on four politicians with a demand for back income taxes totaling $372,000, including penalties, was precipitated last August. Pleas Greenlee of Shelbyville had been recommended for collector of internal revenue at Indianapolis. He had the O. K. and blessing of Senators Sherman Minton and Frederick Van Nuys, Indiana Democrats.

Recalls Purge That Failed.

One conjecture widely circulated is that Van Nuys was sore at Collector Will H. Smith because the latter would not go along with him when Van Nuys, marked for the White House purge that failed, was threatening to run as an independent.

Kicks came from somewhere against the appointment of Greenlee. There have been plenty of guesses on this. Some of the machine boys, it is surmised, looked somewhat grumpily at the idea of Greenlee getting a job where he could, as an official, get a squint at their income tax returns.

So there was an investigation by treasury department agents. They reported some money had been found in Greenlee's bank account that had not been reported for income tax. Greenlee insisted it was not income, but personal capital he had drawn out of other banks at a time when many banks were popping.

Greenlee's appointment was blocked and then the treasury agents—forty of them, it is said—began delving into the 2 per cent club. Greenlee now is executive secretary of the Indiana Licensed Beer Wholesalers' Association, Inc.

Republicans Gain

Heavy black line marks limits of 11th congressional district. Figures show Republican votes cast in each county in the April 9 primary. The total was 97,503, a 25 per cent jump over the 1936 figure.

STORM LEAVES COAST STREWN WITH WRECKAGE

Boston, Mass., April 22 (AP).—A howling northeast gale, accompanied by giant tides, raging seas and a potpourri of rain, snow and sleet, left many sections of the New England coast strewn with wreckage tonight, while several northeastern Maine communities repaired communications after being isolated. Damage estimates thruout New England ran to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Indications were that the storm had blown itself out. The coast guard's Quoddy, Me., station reported that the old navy wharf and several boats, wharves and buildings used in the sardine fishery were demolished.

Near the stalemated Passamaquoddy tidal power project, where the world's highest tides rise and fall, tides were reported to have reached 30 feet. An average normal tide is about 18 feet.

Cottages along the Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine seaboards suffered severely as pounding seas undermined foundations. The gale plucked shingles from roofs and shutters from windows. Highway accidents were numerous. In some inland sections, the storm deposited a foot of snow.

ACCEPT CHIEF'S RESIGNATION IN HIGHLAND PARK

The resignation of Edward J. Moroney, chief of Highland Park police since 1919, was accepted last night at a meeting of the Highland Park council. It will become effective May 1.

Mayor Frank J. Ronon said the new chief will be picked from the Evanston police department. The leading candidate was reported to be Hubert G. Kelsh, acting detective sergeant who is a graduate of Northwestern university. Ronan would say only that he had conferred with Kelsh and others.

REPUBLICANS HAIL 25% VOTE GAIN IN 11TH DISTRICT

4 Adjacent Counties Give Dewey Big Boost.

Republican analysts of the official returns from the Illinois primaries two weeks ago were elated yesterday by the big increase in their party vote in the 11th congressional district, which consists of DuPage, Kane, McHenry, and Will counties, the four immediate neighbors of Cook county.

The total Republican vote cast in the district on April 9 was 97,503. This was an increase of 19,546 votes over the total of 77,957 recorded in the last preceding presidential year, 1936, a jump of 25 per cent. It was even a greater increase over the 1938 figure, 65,994. In this comparison the jump was 31,609, or 47.8 per cent. Six years ago the district cast only 61,094 Republican votes.

All Steadfastly Republican.

All four of these counties have remained steadfastly Republican even thru the party depression of recent elections. Three of them, Kane, Will, and Du Page, are considered among the banner Republican counties at all times. The fourth, McHenry, extending to the Wisconsin line, is not so powerful in voting strength.

The compilation of county figures is not official so far as state totals are concerned. The county clerks are sending their reports to Springfield and there the process of tabulation is a long one that may not be completed for two weeks. In the meantime the records of the counties are being collected according to congressional lines and show a Republican trend expected to be borne out by the figures on the state as a whole.

77,144 Vote for Dewey.

Thomas E. Dewey, candidate in the presidential preference voting, probably received from the 11th district one of the largest votes he will receive from any district in the state. A total of 77,144 Republicans voted for him, a figure far in excess of the total given any candidate for congressional district or state honors.

Thomas E. Dewey, presidential preference	77,144
Chauncey W. Reed, congressman	49,557
Frank R. Reid, national convention delegate	42,746
James C. Bell, national convention delegate	32,589
Wayland Brooks, United States senator	46,920
Dwight H. Green, governor	47,322
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	20,322
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	41,508
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	16,880
Warren Wright, state treasurer	29,045
George F. Barrett, attorney general	13,578
William G. Stratton, congressman at large	41,480
Stephen A. Day, congressman at large	18,552

Altho there was a contest in the presidential preference voting in 1936 there were only 64,368 votes cast in the 11th district on this phase of the primary. The late Senator William E. Borah received 33,715 votes and Frank Knox 30,653.

Bloomington, Ill., April 22 [Special].—James Morrisey, 79 years old, who served Bloomington as a fireman for 52 years, died yesterday at Mennonite hospital. He joined the fire department in 1880 and retired eight years ago.

WAITER! BRING BEER, KRAUT AND SAUSAGE! CARTER HARRISON'S 80

Carter H. Harrison, United States collector of internal revenue and five times mayor of Chicago, will celebrate his 80th birthday today in a festive fashion. He will eat lunch, which is unusual for him.

"I expect to break loose with sausage, sauerkraut, and a big stein of beer," he said. "April 23 is a special day. A lot of famous people were born then—Bill Shakespeare, St. George, Carter Harrison, and Shirley Temple. We all celebrate then."

Carter H. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison added that if he were offered the mayor's job now he "wouldn't take it as a gift." He said that in his mayoralty career the mayor was like a feudal king and had the final say on all subjects. All that has changed, he added, because of various state commissions and other factors.

SEEKS TO QUASH SUIT FOR STELLE TO BE GOVERNOR

Cassidy Files Motion in McLean County Court.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—Attorney General John E. Cassidy this afternoon filed a motion in the McLean county Circuit court at Bloomington to quash a mandamus petition seeking to oust Gov. Henry Horner and install Lieut. Gov. John Stelle as acting governor of Illinois.

The attorney general, who is the official counsel for state officers, filed the motion in the names of Gov. Horner and Lieut. Gov. Stelle. However, Stelle said tonight Cassidy was acting without authorization as far as he was concerned. Stelle has directed his personal attorneys, E. J. Coyle of Springfield and Oscar Hoose of Bloomington, to represent him in the case.

Claims Lack of Jurisdiction.

Cassidy seeks dismissal of the suit on the contention the court lacks jurisdiction. Stelle said his answer, due on Wednesday, will indicate a willingness to abide by any decision that the court might reach on who is governor of Illinois.

The mandamus suit was brought by James McComb of Chicago as a taxpayer. It asks that the court appoint a medical commission to determine Horner's disability.

Cassidy's position, at least as far as Horner is concerned, is based on a decision of the State Supreme court about 20 years ago in a suit to mandamus a reapportionment of the legislative districts in relation to population in accordance with the constitution. The high tribunal held that the judiciary could not rule the executive or legislative branches of the government.

Calls Summonses Void.

Cassidy also attacks the adequacy of service in summonses served on Horner's and Stelle's secretaries in Springfield. He argues the summonses are void because neither of the officials is a resident of McClean county.

Legal advisers for the Horner sickroom regency take the same position in regard to any test on the governorship issue before the forthcoming special session of the legislature. They contend that there is no prescribed procedure.

Any attempt of the legislature to assume jurisdiction will be opposed by the Horner-Nash-Kelly members of the assembly. The Republicans, in presession conferences, have shied from supporting any attack on the sickroom regency that might be considered as an attack upon a sick man.

The known dead total 30. Of approximately 100 injured, 35 remain in hospitals.

No evidence of sabotage was found. The theory that the boiler exploded before the accident was ruled out. Robert W. Lasker, engineer who had taken the same locomotive from Syracuse to Albany that evening, said the engine had behaved perfectly, and that he had no trouble with brakes.

W. J. GRACE TAKES CHAYES' PLACE IN OFFICIAL COUNT

Wins Judicial Nomination on G. O. P. Ticket.

William J. Grace replaced Edward Chayes as the 12th Republican candidate for judges of the Municipal court yesterday as the board of election commissioners issued its official report of the vote cast in the April 9 primaries in Cook county. This was the only change from unofficial returns published immediately after the primaries.

William J. Grace.

The official report gives Grace 71,555 and Chayes 69,182.

The only contest which seemed likely as a result of the final figures was in the race between Richard A. Donnellan, candidate for Republican committeeman of the 44th ward, who was nosed out by five votes by the incumbent, Robert F. Dunn.

64.91 Per Cent of Voters Vote.

A total of 1,321,576 ballots, or 64.91 per cent of the registered vote, was cast in Cook county according to the joint report of the election commission and County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. There were 881,207 Democratic votes and 440,369 Republican votes.

Analysis of the votes cast showed that 140,726 persons who went to the polls did not vote for the presidential candidates. There were 62,795 Republicans in this category and 77,931 Democrats.

Republican Tabulation.

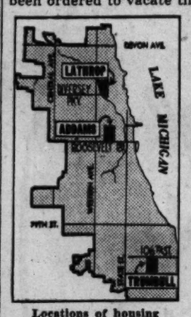
700 Tenants Fight to Keep Low Cost Apartment Homes

Attorneys for 700 families who have been ordered to vacate their homes in the Jane Addams, Julia C. Lathrop, and Trumbull park projects yesterday asked the Illinois state housing board to enjoin the Chicago Housing authority from carrying out the evictions. They also wrote the Federal Housing authority in Washington, asking an investigation and a hearing.



Locations of housing authority homes.

Charging that the CHA's method of operating the projects "fosters burocracy" and that the 700 tenants have been denied a hearing, Joseph M. Jacobs, one of the attorneys, asserted the ouster action "violates the spirit and purpose of the United States housing act."

The controversy resulted from a rent reduction of as much as $8 a month which took effect Jan. 1. The maximum income permitted a tenant is five times the rent, and the rent cut excluded the 700 families, who moved into the projects from substandard homes.

Jacobs contended that the families will have no alternative but to return to the slum areas from which they came.

Jacobs and the attorneys associated with him in the case, Hyman Rittman and Pearl Hart, contend that none of the families has a larger income now than when it moved into the project, and some are earning less.

This statement was disputed by CHA statistics, which showed that 73 per cent of the 700 families affected have increased their incomes during the last year. Of those whose incomes are above the new maximum, about one-third would have been excluded if the rent had not been reduced, and one-third to one-half have incomes more than $200 over the new maximum.

ZIMMERMAN MAY ENTER G.O.P. RACE FOR U. S. SENATE

Madison, Wis., April 22 [Special].—Encouraged by the 227,441 votes he polled to lead all Dewey pledged candidates for delegate to the Republican national convention, Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman is reported to have decided to seek the Republican nomination for United States senator. The seat now is held by Senator Robert M. La Follette [Pro.], whose term expires this year.

Zimmerman, now 60 years old, entered politics in 1908 when he was elected to the state legislature. He was elected secretary of state in 1922 and reëlected in 1924. In 1926 he was elected governor and then lost the nomination in 1929. He returned to politics in 1938 and was elected to his present post.

When reports were circulated recently that Zimmerman might oppose Gov. Julius P. Heil for the Republican nomination for governor, he said he would be a candidate for reëlection. Since his impressive vote in the delegate race, his friends say, he has been encouraged to seek higher office.

HOUSE APPROVES ACTION TO HELP MIGRANT HORDES

Seeks Facts on Plight of Homeless 2,000,000.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The house voted unanimously today to conduct a thoro investigation of one of the nation's great problems—the interstate migration each year of 2,000,000 homeless and hungry citizens who are victims of drouth, the depression, and mechanized farming.

A five man committee headed by Representative John H. Tolan [D., Cal.] was authorized to be appointed by the speaker. A $25,000 fund for expenses of the inquiry will be voted later.

Both Republicans and Democrats joined in lauding the purposes of the investigation, which has the support of numerous charitable and social organizations. It was noted that very little factual information exists about the army of wanderers, altho the problem has been colorfully highlighted by sensational novels such as "The Grapes of Wrath."

A Huge Estimate.

The roadside population of the United States represents the movement of 350,000 homes, Tolan declared. Every year 2,000,000 citizens cross state lines in search of employment. This mass movement does not include the thousands of professional hoboes and bindle stiffs who prefer a nomadic life.

"These citizens in search of work travel thru Atlanta, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Denver, El Paso, Los Angeles, and Portland," Tolan said. "Mostly they travel west, instinctively following the line of travel which began 500 years ago in Europe.

"Congress ought to know what is causing the present wave of unprecedented migration of agricultural families and what are the reasons that they remain cut off from the land."

Points to Confusion.

The attempts of the government to cope with the migration problem have ended in confusion, Tolan noted. No less than 24 separate federal agencies have sought to tackle the job. The investigation should discover if additional legislation is needed to coördinate their programs, he said.

High relief allocations in certain states have been a magnet drawing indigents from other states with low relief levels, he remarked. Among the states in the former class he listed New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut.

Most of the needy farm families migrate from five states—Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, and Missouri, Tolan said. The great central valleys of California are now filled with midwestern farmers looking for work. In some areas six men stand in the fields for every available job.

Objective of Proposal.

"The primary objective of the proposed committee would be to work out a procedure whereby the federal government could more effectively assist states and communities to give emergency assistance to the nonresident and work with public and private organizations toward permanent settlement and a rebirth of economically sound community life in the United States," Tolan said.

"In Colorado today we have trouble with the sugar beet worker. In Georgia, problems with fruit, truck, and berry worker migration. In Illinois, Chicago is the vortex of the movement of large numbers of seasonal workers piling up on each other from east and west.

"In Indiana tomato harvesting and canning attracts too many workers who stay too long. In Michigan sugar beets, berries, soft fruits, and vegetables are the crops in which most migrants seek work. In New York the state department of social welfare estimates that it cost $3,000,000 last year to support nonresidents. The situation in Texas is worse than in California, but there the problem is aggravated by a serious intrastate problem in addition to an annual flood of cotton pickers, onion setters and pullers from adjoining states."

2 TRIBUNE SHIPS START LAKE TRIP BRINGING PAPER

Two steamers in the Tribune's fleet of seven lake ships were scheduled to sail last night from Thorold, Ontario, with cargoes of newsprint paper, the first of the season. The ships, the New York News and the Outarde, are due to arrive in Chicago late Friday night.

Shipments by steamer are starting later than usual this year because of an ice jam at the eastern end of Lake Erie, blocking the entrance to the Welland canal at Port Colborne.

HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel.

Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000,000 jars have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.

Speak in Evanston

Hugh Cross, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, speaking at the massmeeting.

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for United States senator, warned 2,000 Northwestern university students last night Americans must support every effort "to prevent the United States from being forced into any foreign entanglements that may lead to war."

He spoke at a torch parade on Deering meadow, on the campus, as the preliminary to a mock convention to be held by the students later in the week. Hugh W. Cross, speaker of the state house of representatives and Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, also spoke.

Brooks declared that "one step into this European war will give this administration an excuse to completely mobilize finance, industry, labor, and agriculture . . . will further increase our national debt . . . and will end our economic system of free enterprise and our political system of representative free government."

SENATOR DOWNEY TAKES HIS STAND AGAINST 3D TERM

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Anti-third term forces gained a prominent supporter today when Senator Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.] wrote to James A. Farley, Democratic National committee chairman, that "no President should be elected a third time."

Downey said he long had held that view and added "I see no reason to change that opinion now."

There was much political speculation as to how the Downey stand would affect the November election if President Roosevelt should be renominated. California, with 22 electoral votes, is a much sought election prize, and at times the vote between Democrats and Republicans has been close.

Downey has been a critic of Roosevelt administration policies. A Townsendite, he also supported the $30 every Thursday plan in California. He defeated Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, Roosevelt supporter in 1938.

KLAN FLOGGINGS LIKENED TO NAZI, SOVIET OUTRAGES

Georgia Court Rebukes Lawyer for 'Speech.'

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., April 22.—A comparison of Georgia's night-riding Ku Klux Klan with soviet Russia's OGPU and Nazi Germany's secret police was thrown into Henry Cauthon's trial today.

The comparison was made by Daniel Duke, assisting in Georgia's prosecution of Cauthon, chief of a local KKK whipping crew, for his alleged participation in 16 nocturnal floggings. Duke made the comparison as the defense sought to have the court rule out one of the 16 charges of assault and battery against Cauthon.

"Like thieves in the night, like the Russian OGPU, these men break into the sanctity of the home and take out a poor, defenseless man, take him to the woods and beat him on his bare back," Attorney Duke cried.

Halted by Trial Judge.

"This is a type of perversion more bloodcurdling than any that creeps into literature. This is as undemocratic, in this free country, as any crime that has been perpetrated by any bunch of curs on the face of the earth. Germany's and Russia's OGPU do not compare with it ——"

These were considered daring words in the state where as recently as last Memorial day the hooded klansmen paraded, in white robes marked with a scarlet cross, down the boulevards of Atlanta; where the klan mobbed an Atlanta paper that published unkind words about it; where, in a courtroom adjacent to the one in which Cauthon's trial is under way, sits a chief justice who formerly—a matter of record—was the klan's chief counsel, with a salary of $20,000 a year.

And Mr. Duke did not get far with his daring words. Superior Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, former governor of Georgia, interrupted in his high, petulant voice: "Now, Mr. Duke, you quit that! This is no time for a speech."

10 Charges Stand.

The charge in question—the flogging of a crippled farmer whom the klan wished to dispossess—remained, but the state voluntarily withdrew four charges, and two others were ruled out for insufficient evidence. The trial then progressed on 10 floggings.

As the day waned, the first of Cauthon's 300 [he says] defense witnesses a cross section from "Tobacco Road"—began to streak toward the witness chair. They came as character witnesses, but to tell the character of those flogged rather than of Cauthon.

Asked about one of the flogged men, each said his character was "bad." Each said he wouldn't believe "that man" under oath. But when one was asked on cross-examination about his own character, he admitted he has a criminal record.

EX-COP IN JURY FIXING CASE SEEKS TO QUASH OLD ROBBERY CHARGE

Attorney Joseph R. Roach yesterday filed a motion before Judge John F. Bolton in Criminal court to quash the 10 year old robbery indictment against John Howe, former state highway policeman, contending the jury that returned it was "illegal and irregularly drawn."

John Howe.

The robbery charge against Howe was revived following the recent 11th ward vote fraud scandal in which he was indicted on a charge of jury fixing.

Judge Bolton ordered a hearing Friday. If the motion is overruled the trial will proceed immediately.

Attorney Roach's motion states that the grand jury which indicted Howe was "hand picked" from 100 prospective jurors by Judge John P. McGoorty, then chief justice of the Criminal court, a practice subsequently outlawed by the State Supreme court in 1934.

CITY'S ASPHALT CONTRACTS WIN STATE APPROVAL

New Bids to Save $10,000 on Street Jobs.

The city administration's effort to save $10,000 on asphalt contracts totaling $600,000 moved another step toward conclusion yesterday.

Ernst Lieberman, state highway engineer in Springfield, announced his approval of three asphalt contracts submitted by Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works. The contracts were awarded April 11 by Hewitt to three different firms. They were awarded on informal bids received after Hewitt had declared the first bids were too high and the city council had authorized him to ask for new bids.

The contracts approved by Lieberman were with the American Asphalt Paving company for 31,000 tons of asphalt to be delivered at $6.32 per ton for top mixture asphalt and $5.32 for binder asphalt; the Sensibar Engineering and Paving company, 36,000 tons at $6.27 and $5.27, and White Consolidated, Inc., 33,000 tons at $6.32 and $5.32.

Contracts to Be Signed Soon.

Hewitt said the city will sign the contracts with the asphalt companies as soon as he receives formal notice of Lieberman's approval, expected today.

He said approximately 2,500 tons will be ordered for the first day's work. Seventeen street gangs will be put to work and approximately 3,400 tons a day will be used after the first day, Hewitt estimated. Work is expected to start soon.

The asphalt materials are being purchased with the city's share of the state motor fuel tax fund. Hewitt said the money is at hand. The contracts are subject to the state highway engineer's approval because state law gives him power to approve expenditures from the motor fuel tax fund.

The Illinois Asphalt company, with a bid of $6.40 a ton for top asphalt and $5.40 for binder asphalt, was low for the entire 100,000 tons in the original bids. City officials said the company was not large enough to handle the order in its own plants and that if the contracts were to be sublet the city should have the benefit of the lower price paid to subcontractors.

Attorney First President.

It also was revealed that Sam Kart, attorney for Mike Carrozzo, czar of the street laborers' union, was an incorporator and first president of the Illinois Asphalt company.

Carrozzo called a strike of workers at three of the city's asphalt plants soon after the council had ordered the rejection of the Illinois Asphalt company's bid. Carrozzo and Kart subsequently appeared before a council subcommittee and said their men wanted higher wages and had other grievances against the city.

Carrozzo called off the strike when he was promised a hearing, scheduled for today, before the finance committee. Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], vice chairman of the finance committee, told Kart yesterday that the meeting had been postponed until next Tuesday. Kart said the asphalt workers would remain on the job.

SCALISE ARREST TERMED KEY TO RACKET EMPIRE

Ring's 'Take' Is Set at Million or More.

New York, April 22 [Special].—The arrest of George Scalise, president of the Building Service Employés' International union, is only one phase of a campaign against an extortion ring that has shaken down contractors and others in the building service industry for more than $1,000,000, it was said today at the offices of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

The investigation has been going forward for months and evidence is said to have been found that men holding contracts for the cleaning of hotels and other buildings have been forced to pay as much as $10,000 at a time to the extortion ring.

Scalise, arrested in a hotel here early yesterday, is at liberty on $40,000 bail on charges of extortion of $100,000 from 31 New York concerns, but it was said that the grand jury investigation, going more deeply into the union's operations, provided reason for a belief that this figure is far too low and that even the million dollar amount may be conservative.

Calls It Political Frameup.

Scalise, however, insists that the attacks against him are trumped up to serve Dewey's political ambitions. Receiving reporters at the office of his attorney, John Kadel, Scalise declared: "This is a 100 per cent frameup. I'm just being made a political football. Dewey is running for President."

Miss Ann Kaye, Scalise's secretary, at liberty under $20,000 bail as a material witness, also met interviewers in the attorney's office. Scalise seemed completely at ease, but Miss Kaye, an attractive brunette of 29, was so nervous that the attorney said she seemed on the verge of a breakdown and that he thought she needed medical aid.

Scalise admitted he knew the Schwartz brothers, Louis and Izzy, allegedly implicated with him in the extortion. He identified Louis as head of local 32-J of his union and Izzy as the business representative of 32-A, but said he had no dealings with their contracts. "They didn't even ask my approval," he said.

Hunt Source of Bail.

Dewey, who is campaigning in the west, instructed his assistants by telephone today to find out where Scalise was able to get $30,000 in cash so quickly when he needed it for bail yesterday.

Investigators, it was said, were to inquire into the reasons why the union indemnified half of the large sum asked for Scalise's and his secretary's freedom.

Attorney Kadel tonight denied that the union had anything to do with raising the $30,000. Kadel said he furnished the money thru the accounts of his law firm of Kadel, Shiels, & Weiss.

Informed persons said the investigation will be widened into other channels, and they even went so far as to predict the uncovering of a "racket empire."

Saying he was eager to tell his story, Scalise led reporters thru a rambling interview. He was asked about his recently acquired country home at Ridgefield, Conn., pictured as an evidence of affluence.

Explains Acquisition of Estate.

He described it as "an old house—a drug on the market," adding: "You can't give them away. I bought it for speculation. I thought I might be able to sell it again."

He said he had given $10,000 in cash and an $8,000 mortgage for the place. Kadel interjected the explanation that the place has 18 acres of land which may be subdivided for development purposes, if land values go up.

Scalise was more interested in expounding his theories regarding the reason for the charges against him.

"I believe Dewey is trying to suppress labor," he said. "He probably feels he can get the votes of the building service workers, claiming that I sold them out. Whether he succeeds will be shown at the union convention on May 6 in Atlantic City, when I come up for reëlection.

ARREST OF SCALISE FAILS TO EVOKE ANY COMMENT FROM GREEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The arrest yesterday of George Scalise, president of the Building Service Employés International union, on charges of extortion elicited no comment from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has contended he is powerless to deal with officers of international unions affiliated with the A. F. of L.

Green was believed on his way to Washington from Dallas, Tex., where he participated in a southwestern conference of the A. F. of L., However, his views on charges of racketeering within the unions are well known. He has discussed the Scalise case both publicly and privately.

"The A. F. of L. disavows racketeers and any other law violators among its members," Green said recently after charges were made against Scalise, who served 4½ years in Atlanta federal penitentiary on a 1913 conviction of white slavery.

DOG BITES EIGHT CHILDREN BEFORE POLICE SHOOT IT

Eight small children were bitten yesterday by a dog which apparently was mad. The dog, running in an area of several square blocks, finally was killed by Sergt. Andrew Kaupert and Policemen Bernard White and Hubert Klenck near Halsted street and Roosevelt road.

The youngsters bitten were Richard Greco, 918 Taylor street; Simon Funtes, 1121 Newberry avenue; Joseph Covilli, 724 South Hermitage avenue; Virginia Sanchez, 1127 Newberry avenue, and Nola Lulian, 841 Arthington street, each 5 years old; Delores Savia, 11, 1027 South Peoria street, and Michael Di Biaso, 1103 Newberry avenue, and Barbara Misner, 4735 South Halsted street, each 3.

A mad dog ran wild in Brookfield yesterday, biting a horse and another dog before it was captured by Dr. A. C. Merrick, a veterinarian, and police. The dog, a long haired black and white mongrel, apparently came from the Sag bridge, 15 miles from Brookfield.

COURT ORDERS EXAMINATION OF TERRY DRUGGAN

A physical examination of Terry Druggan, one-time beer baron, was ordered by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday. A physician's certificate had just been filed in federal District court stating that Druggan would be unable to appear for at least 2 or 3 months for trial on a charge of conspiracy to conceal his ownership of the Gambrinus brewery, 3040 Fillmore street. The trial was supposed to start next month.

Terry Druggan.

Druggan was operated on last Friday in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, for a gastric ulcer, and is reported in a critical condition. Judge Barnes ordered United States Marshal William H. McDonnell to designate a physician to examine him. Four other defendants also face conspiracy charges.

The government indictment asserts Druggan, because of a federal prison sentence for income tax evasion, could not have obtained a permit to operate the brewery if he had applied in his own name. The permit was denied, altho application was made in the name of his associates.

PAROLES ANSWER JUDGE'S CHARGE STATE IS CRUEL

Show Illinois Once Freed More than New York.

W. C. Jones, chairman of the state parole board, cited figures last night to show that Illinois, which earlier in the day had been termed the cruelest state in the union to criminals, released 2,440 convicts on parole in 1934. In the same year, according to Edward R. Cass, secretary of the American Prison association, New York state paroled 2,257 convicts.

Judge Harry Fisher.

Jones and Cass were speakers at an evening session of the Central States Probation and Parole association, which is holding a five day session at the Hotel Sherman. They submitted percentages of a study called "Five Years Afterward." Jones said that of the convicts released in 1934 by Illinois, 662, or 27.13 per cent were subsequently charged with parole violation. In New York, 35.8 per cent of those released in 1934 violated their paroles.

Violations on Decline.

Jones also said that of the 2,090 convicts freed by Illinois in 1933, 614 violated their paroles. Releases in later years have been less, he said, and the percentage of violations has decreased.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of Circuit court hurled the charge that Illinois was the nation's cruelest state after Warden O. H. Lewis of the Pontiac reformatory said first offenders there serve from 4 to 5 years, and that their average age is 19. Judge Fisher made it plain he believed such terms of imprisonment were too long.

City Crime Decreases.

Judge Fisher then gave figures to show that Chicago has enjoyed a reduction in crime from 23,000 burglaries in 1932 to 8,000 last year. Robberies, he said, dropped from 16,000 to 6,000 in the same period and automobile thefts declined from 175 a day to eight.

Judge Fisher participated in a round table discussion of parole and probation at which Prof. E. E. Puttkammer of the University of Chicago presided. An audience of 400 attended. Other speakers included Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, T. P. Sullivan, chief supervisor of parolees; Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, parole board member, and Charles H. Z. Meyer, federal probation officer and Warden O. H. Lewis of Pontiac prison.

A CHECK ON AMERICAN AUTOCRACY.

As the house of representatives was passing the Walter bill, giving the protection of the courts to persons adversely affected by administrative orders, Chairman Hatton W. Sumners, Texas Democrat of the judiciary committee, interpreted the action in a sentence: "Either the American people must submit to the domination of these agencies or be allowed to resort to the only place of appeal left for them in constitutional government—the courts."

General appreciation of what the representatives have done may not be as great now as the reality will justify if the senate supports the action of the house. The Walter bill is a reaffirmation of constitutional government in the United States. It is a check on administrative law which in Mr. Roosevelt's two terms has become the dominating code of the land, containing powers affecting nearly every person exercised in a framework in which little of the old American form of government was to be found.

This new form of government is represented by governmental corporations, administrations, and authorities set up by the New Deal to carry out activities giving life to the philosophy borrowed from the authoritarian states.

An idea of the extent of this control of the citizen by administrative orders can be gathered from the fact that the Walter bill applies to some 120 federal agencies and boards, nearly all of which are of comparatively recent origin. The American citizen, to a greater extent than he perceived or imagined, was being made a controled citizen. The assumptions of his government regarding him had changed and expanded in a fashion alarming to every one who saw how the authority was being increased and how divided and uncertain the people were in their opposition to it.

It has been said, and truly, that the administrative law required to work a great system of centralized governmental controls over all individuals must be dictatorial. If it is subjected to constitutional checks and judicial review it won't work. The federal administrator must have the same power to make decisions and issue orders that any great business management has. The governmental authority must be imperative and obedience must follow the giving of orders.

When a Russian, a German, or an Italian administrator, executing the will of the supreme ruler, makes a ruling or issues a dictate, the Russians, the Germans, and Italians obey. If they had any protection, if they could go into the courts—an unimaginable thing—there wouldn't be a supreme administrator whose word was the law of the land. The whole scheme of dictatorship would fall if above the administrator were a law to which he himself was subject. Under dictatorships the law and the courts survive only to determine questions which they are permitted to adjudicate in the relation of one subject to another. The courts retain no power to intervene between the ruler and the people. Administrative law is one of edict which becomes the supreme law.

The Walter bill gives the individual an appeal from an administrative order to the courts. If a citizen is injured he will be able to challenge the authority of his government. He is not left without recourse. He has a remedy and it is the one which Americans thought was inalienable. They have assumed it was a right which couldn't be taken from them. It was a shock to discover that congress had granted powers to the makers of administrative law which excluded the courts. The Supreme court, in one case which came before it, made that ruling.

The word of the administrator was final. This development plainly enough destroyed the American conception of the relation of government to the person. It destroyed the idea that this was a government of law and not of men. It made the dictator a living reality. It contained a power which the republic could not successfully oppose. It meant that administrative law was the supreme law and that submission to it was obligatory.

The New Dealers fought the Walter bill in the house of representatives, knowing that it would reverse the trend toward the autocratic state. They will fight it in the senate because they realize that it strikes directly at their entire program. It will correct the abuses of power and make the administrator amenable to a law above his own. If the senate does not pass the bill it will deliver this republic into the hands of its worst enemies, whose idea of a proper government is one which does not have to account for its dictates and which must have obedience.

The New Deal has undertaken to provide the people of this country with a form of government not explained to them by any of the persons who projected it. It has been possible for the projectors to go ahead because of the failure of so many people to connect one item of the program with another and see that the whole picture is one of autocracy presented in the guise of humanitarianism and greater justice. Bit by bit this new framework could be erected because so few of the observers were aware that each one of the timbers fitted into its place and that there was an architect's plan for the whole structure.

The Walter bill contains a perception of this and seeks to take the new framework to pieces. The New Dealers are in a state of mind because they also perceive that if the bill becomes a law their ambitions are checked and their program has received its first fundamental setback. They can't have the authoritarian state as they would like it if the citizen can go to the courts.

ILLINOIS IN THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Our national perils today are too evident to need extended comment. President Roosevelt's domestic policies are driving the country toward bankruptcy, while his actions in the international field daily push us closer to war.

Upon the Republican party, when it meets in convention in June at Philadelphia, will fall the task of offering the country the leadership to save it from these twin perils. That task is so important that the necessity of putting the national welfare above all personal, adventurous ambitions must be apparent to all members of the party.

Every state should send its wisest and most experienced leaders to the convention. Illinois has a particularly favorable opportunity to do so, arising from the fact that in addition to the district delegates elected at the primary, it is entitled to eight delegates at large to be chosen by the state convention.

This delegation at large should contain our leading Republicans. The wise counsel of Frank O. Lowden, ex-governor and widely trusted spokesman for the farmers of the middle west, and of Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President and purchasing agent for the A. E. F., is needed.

It is equally desirable that the leaders of the state ticket, Dwight H. Green and Wayland Brooks, should be given the opportunity to demonstrate their young leadership in the national councils. Charles B. Goodspeed, whose unselfish and untiring work as national treasurer did so much to keep the party organization alive in its darkest days, cannot be overlooked.

Of the men mentioned above, all but Mr. Lowden are residents of Cook county. If any of them does not wish to serve, the question of giving Negro voters recognition beyond their regular district delegates would be solved by naming William E. King, former state senator and nominee for congress.

Downstate several Republican elder statesmen, such as former Gov. Emmerson and Omer N. Custer, are already assured seats as district delegates. There remains a wealth of practical leadership among the downstate members of congress and the legislature. This includes such state senators as Earl B. Searcy of Springfield and Richard J. Barr of Joliet, Speaker Hugh Cross, who is also the nominee for lieutenant governor, and Congressmen Dirksen and Allen. Others who deserve consideration are former Senator Glenn, who has his residence in Murphysboro, altho he practices law in Chicago; former Attorney General Carlstrom of Aledo, Justus Johnson of Aurora.

In the coming campaign the Republicans face a tremendous struggle. Their opponents have demonstrated in the past that they will make the most unscrupulous use of public money and the power of public office, of bribery and coercion. The Republicans dare not weaken themselves by any display of chicanery in their convention. By selecting delegates at large of the type indicated, the state convention will make Illinois' delegation proof against any such intrigues.

MORE DEATHS AT MANTENO.

The city of Chicago, with some 3,400,000 people, has had just five reported cases of typhoid fever this year. The first death from the disease occurred Friday. The Manteno state hospital, with a population of 5,000 to 6,000, has had two cases and two deaths from typhoid fever in the last month.

Following the epidemic last year, which took 60 lives and resulted in the indictment of the managing director of the hospital and others, the public was assured that all necessary steps had been taken by the state to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy. The former managing director, whose case is still pending in the courts, was removed from duty and thus had no connection with the present outbreak.

There is a new régime at the hospital, but it has not been able to prevent a disease that modern sanitation has virtually wiped out in civilized communities. The hospital management was changed, but the spoils politics of the Democratic administration remain unchecked.

WAGE AND HOUR IMPASSE IS FINALLY BROKEN.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Ever since last summer various bills seeking to amend the wage and hour law have been stalled in the house of representatives. The impasse has apparently been due to the reluctance of the labor committee, which has original jurisdiction over such measures, to do anything to which organized labor might object. This consideration has counted for more than the evident fact that the law as it now stands places white collar workers in the intermediate and higher salary brackets in an anomalous position, and the further fact that the "area of production" clause as interpreted by Mr. Andrews, the former administrator, works hardship on many processors of farm products.

Now, however, the log jam appears to have been broken. It was disclosed on Monday that the house leadership had decided to call up the Barden bill amending the wage and hour law at an early date. The Barden bill would exempt white collar workers making $150 or more a month from the provisions of the act, and it would also liberalize the exemptions to processors of agricultural products, all of whom are now subject to requirements of the law unless their plants are within 10 miles of the area in which the products are grown. It may be feared that the decision to bring up a bill embodying these changes and give the house a chance to vote on it is due more to a desire to appease the agrarian groups who object to the area of production clause than to a recognition of the essential injustices which the wage and hour law works. But even so the decision is to be welcomed, for the law cries aloud for amendment.

For the government to undertake by statute to "protect" workers earning substantial salaries against exploitation is highly anomalous. The law was intended to protect only those who are incapable of protecting themselves, that is to say those in the very lowest brackets who are not organized into unions for collective bargaining. To apply restrictions as to hours in the case of technical and office workers who earn far more than the minimum wage serves no purpose except to vex and annoy employers and employés alike. The area of production clause has worked out so as to discriminate in favor of canners and other processors in small towns in the midst of farming regions and against similar firms in larger towns and cities at some distance from the area of production. Some method of correcting this inequality is badly needed and the fact that the house is at long last to debate and decide this and other issues affecting this law represents a step toward a more rational industrial order.

PASSED BY THE CENSUS TAKER.

The trouble about retiring from the world and resting for a couple of days [which is legal] is that you emerge from the silence wondering what to write about.

O, yes, the census taker called and found us meekly regimented. He was amazed to discover that we had lived in the same place for ten years. We gathered from him that most of the population has been hopping around of late like chickens on hot griddles, or Laurence Olivier as Romeo.

This is Shakespeare's birthday, according to the most scholarly guessers, and if not it was certainly the day of his death. The custom of placing flowers at his statue in Lincoln park on April 23 was founded about 40 years ago by the late James O'Donnell Bennett when he was drama critic of the Record-Herald. At one of the early celebrations the chief flower-placer was the actress, Violet Heming, a direct descendant of John Heminge, who acted with Shakespeare and became his first publisher. He was remembered in Shakespeare's will with 26 shillings 8 pence "to buy a ring."

ENGLAND'S GREATEST SON.

(A sonnet for Shakespeare's birthday.)

Tho all lands hail him, he was England's son.
In ancient Stratford's grammar school he won
His "little Latin and scant Greek"; the mirth
Of jocund birds in spring and wind-swept flowers
And Warwick's gentle woods and streams beguiled
Him from his books for many truant hours
And taught their wisdom to the wondering child.
We speak his speech; we cherish the same dreams
Of freedom and of gentleness and peace—
The "brave new world" he sang; our laughter seems
Akin to his; our sorrows find surcease
In his illumined pages. So we stand

Love and Matrimony, Old Style.

I came upon an old print describing the "vicissitudes of love and matrimony." In the spirit of the 18th century it was gaited to the leisurely measure of a minuet, showing the progress thus:

Admiration—Flirtation—Declaration—Acceptation
Preparation—Celebration—Alteration
Irritation—Altercation—Execration—Desperation
Separation

The world has little changed, except that in this streamlined era it cuts the same caper to the two step, thus:

Celebration—Separation.

Night and Day Among the Books.

The inscription on the two wall clocks at the north and south ends of the reference room in the public library [April 18] is composed of three Greek words: HMEPA KAI NYX.

Transliterated: HEMERA KAI NUX.

Translated: DAY AND NIGHT.

MIGRAINE IS NOT A BILIOUS ATTACK.

IN yesterday's article mention was made of the possibility that allergy [sensitivity] may be responsible for attacks of migraine. With some individuals it may play a larger rôle than we realize. There is ample evidence to indicate, however, that many seizures originate in a nervous eruption that cannot be associated with rebellion to food or other type of irritant.

But what is this curious malady? Is it "bile on the stomach" as was taught years ago? For a long time biliousness has been confused with migraine and—by many persons—the two conditions are considered identical. But an ordinary upset liver differs so widely from migraine that there should be no doubt as to which is which.

In the latter, there is generally a family history of the disorder. Furthermore, it usually appears at an early age and comes on periodically, the pain confined to one side of the head. Eye symptoms—seeing scattered points of light, a play of colors, or even temporary loss of vision—are quite constant. There may be dullness of hearing, dizziness, or a feeling as tho the body were rising and falling. Numbness [the typical numb spell] may be complained of and tingling may be present in the hands or face.

Many of these signs will be experienced several hours before the onset of headache and nausea, the discomfort starting about one eye, extending up over the forehead, and thru the temples. Occasionally, the site will shift and the distress may be accompanied by a throbbing, much like the beating of a drum. These manifestations will continue for from six to twenty-four hours. In the meantime, severe vomiting will empty the stomach—even involving a return of bile from the duodenum.

Now and then the patient is able to identify the immediate cause, such as overfatigue, the excitement of a social function, worry, or anxiety. Loss of sleep is also a factor. Where disagreeable odors are blamed we may consider an allergic response.

Biliousness, on the other hand, afflicts primarily those who have passed middle life and who indulge in but little activity. The intervals between sieges are quite irregular and the episodes usually are precipitated by indiscretions in diet. The bout begins, as a rule, early in the morning shortly after waking, altho the victim may be roused during sleep with a bad taste in the mouth, and other indications of indigestion, such as heartburn and "fullness." There is rarely if ever any disturbance of vision and the warning that is common in migraine is not noted.

A typical seizure may be described as follows: The sufferer wakens about 6 a. m. with a feeling of dullness as tho his thoughts just would not clear. There is profound fatigue. Within a short while this gives way to head pain, which increases steadily above or behind the eyes—later involving the entire skull. There is considerable restlessness and irritability and the patient may exclaim, "O, I am so sick! I can scarcely lift my head from the pillow."

These victims may be kept in perfect health by strict attention to diet—with the omission of fatty and indigestible foods. Many lack sugar and fruit juices and all fresh fruits will be found to be helpful. The bowel requires careful regulation and the habit of taking two or three glasses of warm to hot liquid before breakfast should be encouraged. A small dose of calomel followed by a saline cathartic will frequently forestall one of these ordeals.

For the migraine addict, relief may be accomplished thru the injection of ergotamine tartrate. While this will not stave off the illness, nevertheless it will cut short its duration. Another drug—chondroitin—will succeed now and then and when it proves beneficial the favorable effects are spectacular. Regular feedings of vitamin B [complex] have also been urged. Meanwhile quiet [a darkened room], ice to the side of the head, sedatives, and a good sleep—will restore the victim.

LEG TROUBLE.

C. B. writes: Does hardening of the arteries manifest itself by weakness and aching of the legs?

REPLY.

Yes. This is a relatively common symptom. Pain is the cry of the muscles for more nourishment. There are many other causes of this manifestation, however.

OLD SOL.

A. B. writes: Are sun baths harmful for one who has suffered from coronary thrombosis?

REPLY.

No. Some slight stimulation of the circulation ensues, but not enough to be dangerous. With gradually increasing exposure, the plan should be helpful.

WHAT SEX.

Mrs. G. writes: Can a doctor foretell the sex of an unborn child by the heart beats?

REPLY.

He can guess, but he cannot tell absolutely. Girl babies are supposed to have a slightly swifter rhythm.

CAUSE OF FAINTING.

W. F. G. writes: What causes a person to faint? Is it the heart or overeating?

REPLY.

Lack of blood to the brain. This is usually temporary. The heart is rarely at fault. Some nervous or emotional episode or going too long without food may be responsible.

A GUN FOR EVERY BOY.

Chicago, April 19.—Wake up America! Take the toy guns away from the youngsters and teach them how to use real rifles and machine guns as the Germans and Italians do.

Remember Peru with its wealth and millions of inhabitants and how it was conquered by Pizarro and his handful of Spaniards armed with one piece of artillery in the 15th century. They crossed an ocean and continent.

Also remember Washington, D. C., which was burned by the redcoats in 1812. They also crossed an ocean.

Now Oslo with its 250,000 inhabitants, gold, food, and supplies of all sorts is captured by 3,000 German singers. Without firing a shot.

Every American man and boy should learn how to shoot straight. Don't forget what Andy Jackson and his small army of unorganized militia and pirates did to the British regular army and navy at New Orleans during the war of 1812. They sent the commander of that expedition home to England in a barrel of alcohol. How come? Because Andy's army knew how to shoot.

CHARGES FOR MOVING.

Chicago, April 17.—I got, in writing, an estimate of $38.25 for doing my moving. I had my check made out, and the mover presented me with a bill for $50, saying it ran more than their estimate. I declined to stand for other than my original estimate and they kept my grand piano and hall clock. Finally after months of unpleasant phone conversation I was obliged to settle for $44.

At another storage and warehouse company I had my husband's office furniture stored. We were obliged to have access to it three times, and each time a man went up with us. The original estimate was $29. We had it in storage less than a month and his bill was $40. The doctor to whom we sold the equipment was not permitted to have his mover, but the company where we stored it forced him to hire them to do his moving "by orders of the movers' association."

THE LOGAN-WALTER BILL.

Elmhurst, Ill., April 19.—Why is the responsible element of the nation exulting over the Logan-Walter bill? True it is designed to give citizens relief from the despotic rulings of the Red New Deal bureaus. But this is only naive theory. During the last seven years many New Deal types of judges have been installed in the lower courts as well as in the highest tribunals. Hence much that is radical and destructive will be legally okayed as a working basis, for the Washington brats, to begin with. And, whatever rules thus arrived at do not suit the burocrats simply will be sneeringly ignored. Finally a decent plaintiff trying to escape a Red ruling, on the basis of the Logan-Walter bill will have just as much chance as he has today—none at all. So why the celebration?

DUCK ON THE ROCK.

Chicago, April 5.—"The Old Skipper" is right about duck-on-the-rock being plenty tough. As a youngster I played it in the wide open spaces of northern Michigan. The spaces weren't wide enough, tho, because I still bear a scar on the corner of my forehead. I turned into a cream puff when I saw the blood running down. I cut down the road for home, shouting as I ran, "I've been hit in the temple, I'm going to die." We used stones and rocks exclusively.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS.

Villa Park, Ill., April 18.—I wonder if some student of Illinois law could satisfy my curiosity in regard to the school board laws for the smaller communities of the state.

Is it the purpose of the Illinois school law to form a self-perpetuating body in each local school board? The part of the law which allows the existing board of education to select the election board for school elections, and that which requires a member of that school board to be present when the votes are counted seem to encourage that tendency.

I have always had the apparently quaint belief that the purpose of the school board as an elective body was to allow the people of the community representation in the governing of their schools.

In our local community, however, the board of education makes a most strenuous effort to keep its organization a self-perpetuating body, board members and the superintendent of schools, actively leading the campaign, if any outside candidate is presented, and criticizing severely any one who has the audacity to suggest that a choice should be made outside their closed group.

Is this a general custom? If not, what methods for selecting candidates for the board of education are used in other communities? Has any group tried the caucus method?

CURIOUS.

ENDS AND MEANS.

Chicago, April 14.—It is generally conceded that there is something quite definitely wrong with the system of living in Europe. It may lie in the fact that the continent is divided into many races, the result of which is usually racial dissension. At least, it seems to be so in Europe. Herr Hitler is attempting to unite central and northern Europe, perhaps all of Europe, into one nation. Perhaps this is a noble end. It may result in the only lasting peace that Europe has ever known. But do the ends justify the means?

S. M. BRACE.

SEEN IN SPRINGFIELD.

Maywood, Ill., April 17.—It was my privilege to spend a recent week-end in Springfield. My hostess proudly took me over to see the state house. I certainly was shocked. There were so many people [I presume they were employés as they were wearing neither coats nor hats] and none of them doing much but drinking Coca Cola and chatting.

We were greeted with very scant courtesy. We went up to where the house and senate meet. The dust on the desks was so thick that you could have written a book length novel on them all and the floor was dirty.

The only one who was courteous to us was a man in the governor's office. He cordially invited us to admire the paintings and see the office, and asked us to sign the guest register. The town is really built about the memory of Lincoln, but I'm sure that illustrious citizen would feel that the whole situation was not one where he could say, "Bless you, my children."

OLIVE FUHRMAN.

CONQUEST IN ONE LESSON.

Chicago, April 18.—The method of destroying other nations has been so well perfected by the Nazis, they should apply for a copyright. Yet, how simple the technique is: Create a fifth column [to bore from within] consisting of Nazis, communists [their fellow travelers] and agents provocateurs. Enlist the coöperation of pinkos, sob sisters, and pacifists for the cause of disarmament. [Abolish police and fire departments, and there will be no crimes and fires.] Stir up plenty of racial and religious prejudice. Charge any one who tries to check them with being antidemocratic and endangering liberty, freedom of press and speech.

When the proper time arrives, step in to protect that nation from communism or anarchy.

MORRIS AUGUSTUS.

Viscount Allenby, commander of the British Palestine expedition in the world war, born. He entered military service in 1882 and rose to prominence in the Boer war. In 1914 he went to France in command of a cavalry division, and three years later was sent to relieve Sir Archibald Murray in charge of Egypt and Palestine forces. COMMERCIAL LAW STUDY.

Harvey, Ill., April 18 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am a student in Calumet High school and the following questions have come up in my commercial law class. I would appreciate your answering these questions:

1. When appearing in court, does an atheist take the same oath as a Christian?

2. Do ball players in the major leagues who are under 21 have to abide by their contracts with the team? Is this always considered a necessity?

J. R.

1. A general legal encyclopedia states the rule as follows:

"At common law in order for a person to be a competent witness he must believe in the existence of God" citing 17 Illinois 541. The Illinois constitution provides, however, in article 2 section 3, that no person shall be denied any privilege or capacity on account of his religious opinions. It was held in 315 Illinois 533 that a test as to religious opinion or belief is no longer required and in 180 Illinois Appellate 397 that tests of the competency of the witness as to religious belief have been abolished.

2. They would have the same right as any other minor to repudiate the contract on ground of minority.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, April 19 [Legal Friend of the People].—A owns a vacant lot. When there was a building on this lot he took out a mortgage for $800. Since then the building has been torn down and the mortgage is still unpaid [long overdue]. In addition there is about six years back taxes, which result in the property being forfeited.

1. What is the best procedure to follow in obtaining this property for as little expense as possible?

2. If A gave me a quitclaim deed for paying back taxes what rights will the mortgage still retain?

3. Is there any way that I can purchase the tax bills and save the penalty and then get the deed? The taxes are from 1933 to 1934.

J. V.

1. If we are to assume that you are the mortgage holder the choice between foreclosure and obtaining a quitclaim deed from the debtor would depend on how much the debtor would charge for the deed.

2. The mortgage would still be a lien on the property if that is what you mean to ask.

3. Depends on what the other parties are willing to do. We suggest that you have a personal interview with an attorney.

TUMOR INSTITUTE REPORTS CANCER CURE PROGRESS

Says Mouth, Throat Cases Can Be Eradicated.

Development of new methods for treating cancer of the mouth and throat with X-rays and radium constituted the most significant advance made during the last two years by the Chicago Tumor Institute, Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, president, announced yesterday.

Cancers in these regions, formerly incurable or curable only by extensive surgical operations, are now responding to new X-ray and radium technique, he said in the institute's first biennial report.

"A combination of early diagnosis," Dr. Hektoen predicted, "and application of these newly developed methods should lead to the eradication of cancer of the throat and mouth which still causes many deaths each year in the United States."

Greater "Doses" Now Possible.

Dr. Max Cutler, director of the institute, said progress had been made thru discoveries which permit administration with safety of X-ray and radium "doses" far greater than hitherto attempted.

The institute has 10 grams of radium valued at $250,000. This is more than is available in any other place in America. [Ten grams of radium would be about three tablespoonsful.]

The report said that of 904 patients treated in the last two years 762 were from Illinois and the others from 26 states and six foreign countries. Over 5,000 radium treatments and 8,000 X-ray treatments have been administered.

Dr. Hektoen said no one is turned away from the institute for lack of funds. Last year one-third of the patients were indigent and another third nearly so. Only the remaining third paid full charges.

50 Physicians Participate.

More than 50 post graduate physicians from 20 states and seven foreign countries have participated in the activities of the institute. Thirty-six cancer specialists from foreign countries visited it.

Contributions of $221,986 were received during the last two years, somewhat less than half of it last year.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, noted physicist of the University of Chicago, is vice president of the institute; Roy C. Osgood is treasurer, and Louis P. Haller, secretary. The institute is located in a remodeled structure at 21 West Elm street.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New Romance of Art School Is Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERESTING romantic news comes from Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atherton Lamson of Hubbard Woods, who today are announcing the engagement of their youngest daughter, Jean, to Henry Erlandsen Hebbeln, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frederick Hebbeln of Davenport, Ia.

The romance between Miss Lamson and Mr. Hebbeln is another in a series that started at the Cranbrook Academy of Art. Miss Lamson went there last spring to study sculpture under Carl Milles. Previously she had been graduated from the Ethel Walker school and Bryn Mawr college.

Mr. Hebbeln was graduated from the architectural college of Cornell university in 1937. He went to Cranbrook to study architecture under Eliel Saarinen. Later he spent four months in Finland working for Alvar Aalto.

Will Make Their Home in San Francisco.

Mr. Hebbeln now is in San Francisco, where he and Miss Lamson will make their home following their marriage late next month. Miss Lamson was introduced to society at a tea-dance at home in the fall of 1933.

The former Miss Veronese Beatty and her husband, Melville C. Branch Jr., met at Cranbrook while under the same instructors as Miss Lamson and Mr. Hebbeln. Milo K. Winter Jr. and Miss Elizabeth Ann Klingensmith of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., also met there. Their engagement was announced in January.

Mrs. Dudley Root is giving a small cocktail party this afternoon at the Key club to say good-by to some of her friends. She is leaving shortly to return to France. She hopes to sail on May 5. Her present plan is to join her mother, Mrs. Peter Dudley, who lives in Paris, and together they will go to Mrs. Root's home on the Riviera.

Theater Party to Aid White Elephant Shop.

Those who go to the Esquire theater this afternoon must carry packages, else they will not be welcome, for the purpose of the party is to assemble new stock for the White Elephant Rummage shop in East Ohio street.

The women's board of the Children's Memorial hospital, which runs the shop, gives occasional parties to replenish the stock, but it also provides entertainment for its guests. Today there will be a movie and, as the pièce de résistance, a hat contest in which many of Chicago's chic women will participate.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, three of the city's best dressed women, will not be in the contest, for they are to be the judges. The party will start at 2:30 o'clock, but a member of the committee will be at the theater from 11 on, so that those who wish to drop their contributions before luncheon may do so.

Numerous luncheon parties have been planned to precede the benefit. Mrs. Frank Hibbard heads the committee.

League of Women Voters' Benefit Show.

Next Tuesday morning at the Esquire there is to be a benefit matinée under the sponsorship of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters. "The Perfect Specimen," with Errol Flynn, will be shown and Louis C. Sudler will sing a group of songs. Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler, president of the league, is in charge of arrangements and Mrs. Press Hodgkins is directing a group of young members who will usher.

Many luncheon parties are being planned to follow the benefit. Yesterday the committee met at Mrs. Arthur Bissell's to complete plans. The day after the benefit Mrs. Sudler is leaving with Mr. Sudler for several weeks in Mexico City. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sudler will be leaving soon after, too, for a few days in New York.

Mrs. Philip T. Starck of 330 Wellington avenue will open her home from 10 to 5 o'clock this afternoon for a spring sale of articles from the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins.

The women who will assist Mrs. Starck will be her guests at luncheon. They include Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Henry Murphy, Mrs. Leo Nicolson, Mrs. Alfred C. Castle, Mrs. Frank Pierce Jr., Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr., Mrs. William W. Renshaw, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr., Mrs. Philip Connell, and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon.

Luncheon for Workers in Y. W. C. A. Campaign.

Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard is giving a luncheon today for the women of Winnetka, Kenilworth, and Glencoe who will take part in the Young Women's Christian association campaign for $225,000, now being carried on in all parts of Chicago and suburbs. The luncheon will be at the Ballard home, 6 Kent road, Winnetka. Mrs. Walther Buchen, who recently returned from a vacation at Tryon, N. C., and Mrs. Beverly B. Vedder are cochairmen of the campaign organization in the three towns.

The young men who will act as ushers for J. Dean Vail Jr. when he takes Miss Barbara Emerson as his bride on May 4 have issued mock subpenas to a cocktail party they are giving next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Columbia Yacht club, Randolph street at Lake Michigan.

The situation in Europe is of great concern to Mrs. Jens Paasche, whose daughters are in Norway and Turkey. Mrs. Johannes Zimmer, the former Margo Siqueland, is at present in or near Oslo. Whether her husband, Dr. Zimmer, is with her or with the army is not known. Mrs. Ditlef Knudsen, the former Alyce Siqueland, and her husband are in Ankara, where Mr. Knudsen is with the Norwegian legation.

Boosts 'Funny Paper Frolics'

Carol Braznell, daughter of the Walter W. Braznells of La Grange, is not old enough to enjoy a "Funny Paper Frolics," but she does enjoy the funny papers on Sundays. Her mother is a member of the La Grange Center of Infant Welfare, which is giving its annual benefit on May 10. The affair will be a luncheon, bridge, and style show at the Edgewood Valley Country club with a dance, called "Funny Paper Frolics," in the evening at Melody Mill.

Modest Priced Hostess Gowns Salute Spring

BY REA SEEGER.

Spellbinders for around the $10 limit in the shape of colorful new spring hostess gowns are the sort of miracles that happen once in a shopping career. Such loot is now ready —and anything you say will be an understatement.

One of the beauties is a most angelic affair of chalk white crêpe dramatized with flame red. The robe itself is of the white. Down the front is a streak of warm red, and deep facing to the wide loose sleeves and the lining of the hood at the back are also in red.

Most of these gowns come in a brilliant blue shade, too, trimmed with a dash of red. The assortment is not only pictorially patriotic but refreshingly springlike. Prints of equal snap and vigor of the red, white or blue mixups can also be found with the same amazingly low price mark.

For Infant Welfare

The president and publicity chairmen of each of the 35 centers of the Infant Welfare society met for their annual spring luncheon yesterday in the Racquet club. As usual, it was a jolly party with no business conducted. The nearest thing to business was Miss Jeannette Townsend's announcement that the infants looked after by the society consumed 28,309 pints of cod liver oil during 1939. This will give some idea of the work done by the society.

Jews Begin Feast of Passover; Recall Flight from Egypt

Many Jewish refugees, who have found haven here from persecution in foreign lands, learned last night the meaning of freedom which the Jewish passover forecast for 3,000 years. This feast of independence, recalling the flight of the ancient Israelites from Egyptian slavery, began at sundown last evening and will continue thru the week.

At Resthaven, Jewish convalescent home, 1919 Prairie avenue, where many refugees have found a home, the ancient seder with all its symbolic rites, unleavened bread, bitter herbs, and wine of deliverance was conducted by David Schoenholtz, a well known Yiddish actor.

Nearly all Jewish homes observed the passover meal last night. This morning first day passover sermons will be delivered in all synagogues.

Miss Winston Again to Head Junior League

Miss Virginia Winston was reelected president of the Chicago Junior league at its spring meeting yesterday in the Drake hotel. The other young women named to take office at the annual meeting are Mrs. Robert N. McKenna, first vice president; Mrs. Roger Q. White, second vice president; Miss Elisabeth Dewes, secretary, and Miss Julia Drake, treasurer.

Virginia Winston.

Miss Winston and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., have been chosen as delegates to the 20th annual conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America. It will be held May 14 to 17 in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. John A. Turner and Mrs. David Sampsell, the new president and vice president of the Evanston Junior league, will be its delegates to the A. J. L. A. conference.

BY CECIL SMITH.

"The Little Foxes" is no divertissement for tender minded folk who choose their entertainment in terms of the adage that there is already enough unpleasantness in life without seeing unpleasantness represented on the stage. But for the thousands who will take it squarely and who will be deeply stirred by it, Lillian Hellman's drama of family strife and cupidity will be a tremendous and memorable experience.

It would be hard to call to mind a more unlovely collection of characters than Regina Giddens, her brothers, Ben and Oscar Hubbard, and Oscar's son, Leo. All four are so dominated by a lust for money that every other and more reputable human emotion is tossed onto the scrap heap. Poor pathetic Birdie, the aristocratic but now utterly cowed wife of the browbeating parvenu, Oscar, and innocent Alexandra, Regina's daughter, are hopelessly caught and torn by the force of the greedy emotions that engulf them on all sides.

But Miss Hellman's gift for characterization is so extraordinary that these are all among the most real and compelling people our stage has seen in many years. The drama is written with the most terse economy, with never a wasted or a misdirected word. The warring individual motives are laid bare with merciless clarity and exactitude, yet they are woven into a dramatic texture that is engrossingly swift and varied. Miss Hellman has built each act in a cumulative, unbroken crescendo of tension. The harsh final curtain of the second act provides a climax of irresistible and breathtaking power, as Regina's triumph over her invalid husband, who will have none of her avaricious ways, finally seems complete.

As a dominating southern woman, outwardly as formally gracious as her magnificent 1900 pompadour, until in family privacy she endeavors to outwit both her husband and her brothers, Tallulah Bankhead has created a superb characterization. Her performance is actually as designing and as economical as Miss Hellman's almost telegraphic dialog.

But there is nothing sparse about Miss Bankhead's acting, for all its controled exactitude. Her resources are so varied, her voice is so opulent yet so chilling, and her mimicry is so pertinent that her Regina creates an amazing illusion of spaciousness and deliberation. Somehow the whole emotional nature of this hard woman is revealed in a part which actually has less than the average number of speeches. Miss Bankhead is incontrovertibly a great actress.

The immensity of Miss Bankhead's command of her rôle might easily swamp any supporting cast except the one surrounding her in "The Little Foxes." Patricia Collinge plays with immeasurable poignancy and delicacy the part of Birdie, as tender as her sister-in-law is ruthless. It is only thru a technicality that the play has only one star, for Miss Collinge's exquisite performance is utterly stellar in every nuance.

There is no possibility of avoiding superlatives in discussing the other players. Frank Conroy's projection of inner calm in the midst of general dissension makes itself felt with a force equal to the more strident, but superbly defined, Oscar of Carl Benton Reid and the sly, scheming Benjamin of Charles Dingle. Dan Duryear's cad of a boy is as repellant as an adder. Eugenia Rawls, as the young girl, perhaps lacks intensity, but profits from a voice marvelously reminiscent of Miss Bankhead's. Abbie Mitchell and John Marriott handle the important servants' rôles beautifully.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Passing Show.

New York, April 23.—A letter from David Niven, somewhere in England at the time it was penned, altho by now he may be somewhere in Norway or somewhere in France. It is so very difficult to picture that gay and gracious youngster drawing a bead on some unknown soldier and shooting him to death. Difficult, too, to imagine my former golf partner running a bayonet thru another boy's body. It simply doesn't make sense: Niven the killer.

There is terrible drama in war. Suppose, for instance, that Niven did kill a German soldier, and suppose that in the victim's kit they found a picture autographed by Niven, Hollywood star, to the dead man? Improbable? Of course, it is. But it could happen. War itself should be improbable and impossible, but it never has been. Certainly there is nothing so improbable as the fact that Happy-Go-Lucky Niven should be cast as a killer, but the letter from "somewhere in England" testifies to the fact that Niven and thousands of other boys are engaged in a grim rehearsal in which they'd better not miss their cues.

Charles Boyer, in from the coast for an important engagement with the French ambassador at Washington, D. C., was as badly miscast for war as was Niven. Boyer, being older, was released from active service and permitted to return to the United States—a big chunk of his salary goes every week to the French government, another slice goes to the United States income tax collectors and state collectors. "I just can't picture Charles as a soldier," Irene Dunne told me when he first was summoned to the service. Probably a lot of mothers in the war countries have the same feeling of bewilderment as they watch their sons march off to possible death or mutilation. The mothers of Europe certainly take the worst of it all the time.

A. E. Dumont comments on the recent article on screwy contracts: "About Sarah Bernhardt's insistence on being paid in gold: I was in her company during the 1911-'12 and 1917-'18 American tours. The gold payoff was necessitated by the franc exchange in certain countries. She received her guarantee in gold certificates every night before the last show and immediately paid each of us, pro rata. Another stipulation was that the bills must be brand new. So far as I know, the baked potato item was a gag.

"The main items of her strict diet during her last tour, before and after her kidney operation at Mount Sinai, were farm fresh raw eggs and near beer. It should be pointed out, I think, that while she was in Mount Sinai she gave all of us [from Angelo, the leading man, to Gaston Glass, the juvenile, including her personal manager and even the wardrobe men] $5 every day for expenses. Few modern stars would be equally thoughtful and equally generous. To get back to the present, what a show for the New York World's Fair your terrific Hollywood unit would make. You're busting records on Broadway again; you'd murder them at Flushing Meadows."

At last, Wall street's Madeleine McSweeney is happy. You don't know her; neither does this reporter, except thru the medium of the very witty letters which she directs at this pillar, no matter where it happens to take up residence. Miss McSweeney, for some seasons, has been waging a one-girl campaign in behalf of George Brent. Her letters range from the summons' blanks that demand the habeas corpus to highly amusing barbed communiques, the purport of each consisting of her demand that Hollywood give Brent decent rôles. Judging from the local reviews of "'til we meet again," which flatter Brent no little, the one-girl campaign finally has proved successful. Most important is the fact that her judgment was correct all along.

There are certain letter writers, like Miss McSweeney, who become part and parcel of a columnist's life. There is one chap in Dubuque, Ia., who first started heckling when this column made some grudging comment about Margaret Lindsay, who happens to come from Dubuque. . . . There is an old lady, 76, in Boston who is a regular letter writer. . . . There is one very irate man in Philadelphia who unlooses regular philippics when I say something that runs counter to his ideas on the subject. . . . There is Stuart Shaw, a non-professional, who is a very shrewd and sage critic of performers and who delights in uncovering some youngster who deserves publicity. . . . In all, there are about 20 regular letter writers, each one a specialist on a different department of the cinema or theater, and down thru the years I've looked forward to their comments because they serve to maintain your perspective. . . . Then there is another group who remember your birthday and send a card each time it rolls around. You never meet them and yet without meeting them you feel that they are old friends. Every columnist will tell you that this loyalty is the bonus that goes with the job of penning a daily piece like this.

'Strange Case' Kildare Movie Is Well Done

Good Morning!

I'm a MUCH wiser woman today than I was yesterday. I know all about insulin stock. Or, at least, I do if there was truth in them thar words that fell from the lips of young Dr. Kildare's father, Dr. Kildare Sr., and if treatment and reactions to treatment in the "strange case" mentioned in the title, are bona fide.

You know—these Kildare movies are really pretty clever. They ring in a lot of information unostentatiously and entertainingly, and they ARE so intelligently cast and directed.

In this film, as in the others, most of the action takes place in the Blair General hospital, where crippled Dr. Gillespie, the great diagnostician, and his clever young assistant, young Dr. Kildare, hold forth. As in other pictures of the series, Lionel Barrymore portrays Gillespie; Lew Ayres, young Kildare; Emma Dunn, the young doc's mother, and Samuel Hinds, his doctor dad. Other important rôles are on the same capable shoulders that have carried them from the beginning.

The "strange case" isn't admitted to the hospital until well along in the picture. Up to its advent, however, other interesting incidents occur, and you find intimate contemplation of the workings of a great hospital fascinating.

The film is technically most convincing. [At least to me it was, Dr. Cutter.] Messrs. Barrymore and Ayres are perfect, Alma Kruger is outstanding as the head nurse. You'll like all the other players, the good dialog and the sunshiny—AND shadowy—little touches of romance.

See you soon.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Just one step shy of dropping a coin into a machine and having a complete color makeup pop into your hands is the introduction of a purse cosmetic bag containing a complete makeup. It has a cute little name that sounds like a riddle, but it's really the solution—the solution to wearing the correct color makeup with each costume when you change from one to another.

Made of shantung, these kits come in eight colors: Red, green, blue, beige, pink, and gray, and in a blue and red candy stripe. The color of the bag indicates the makeup to be worn with a costume of the same color. If you wear green, select a green kit and you can be sure that the makeup it contains will harmonize. If you wear blue, pick a blue bag, and so on down the color line.

Slim and tailored, each kit contains a generous sized powder case, made of an ivory colored composition, filled with a sheer texture face powder and a soft velour puff to put it on with. There's a small lipstick and dry rouge case to match, each item in its individual pocket. There's room to spare in the case to stick in that extra something that you're never without.

We're all for harmony, and this kit solves in a neat little way the problem of what makeup to wear with what. In place of delving around for the right lipstick, etc., when you put on your blue suit, you toss the blue bag into your purse and walk out with the assurance that your makeup is right. FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Dunham dreams of marrying her lovely daughter, Millicent, off to some man who can give her everything—some one like Dick Shard. Dick is kind, distinguished, and rich. He had visited the Dunham's home in Kansas, and, when her husband died, he found Mrs. Dunham a job selling for a New York firm. On her visit to the city he has asked her to dinner and the theater. Just as they are seated at dinner he tells her he is expecting another couple, Constance and Alex Stewart. Mrs. Dunham senses that Shard is in love with Constance.

INSTALMENT II.

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

The Stewarts had entered the bar, and instantly Mrs. Dunham knew it had been silly to talk of Millicent's prettiness—this woman was beautiful—black and white and perfect—like the old fashioned cameo pin her mother used to wear. She was sad, slender, jeweled, and very romantic.

Mrs. Dunham looked quickly up at Shard but it was more folly to think she could read anything in those dark, rather hard eyes of his.

"Hullo, Constance, hullo Aleck."

"Are we late, Dick?" [Didn't she know she was almost half an hour late?] "I should never forgive myself if I made Mrs. Dunham late for the theater."

She turned with a lovely curving of her lips, but Mrs. Dunham was not pleased. Perhaps she was oversensitive, but she resented the implication that being late would matter more to her than to the others.

"We shan't be late," Shard answered hastily, as if he could not bear his beloved to suffer an instant over her own faults. "I've ordered a short dinner. Shall we go in?"

As they appeared in the dining room, waiters rushed to pull out chairs, and snatch a sign that said "reserved" from the best table. Everything began just as Mrs. Dunham had feared it would. Mrs. Stewart began to talk about some private collection of pictures that she had seen the day before, while Stewart asked in his slow, tired voice: "Are you enjoying your visit?"

Like most good Americans, Mrs. Dunham felt it her duty to be as pleasant as possible all the time. She answered brightly: "O, yes, indeed—altho of course it's just a business trip. Still I always enjoy New York. It is so full of culture opportunities, but I do get homesick. I don't suppose New Yorkers do that."

"You think us so callous?"

"No, not callous at all—very kind, only I don't think you can know what a real home is. I mean I can't imagine a home in New York." She felt she was saying the wrong thing.

He only laughed, wrinkling his pale face—pale with a luminous pallor very different from his wife's gardenia whiteness. "So you think we sleep under the tables in the night clubs?"

"No, I know you have very beautiful houses and apartments—much more beautiful than any we have in Kansas, only I don't believe you stay in them as much—or long for them as much."

"You long to be at home, Mrs. Dunham?"

"Yes, I do, Mr. Stewart, but you see I have the most beautiful daughter."

"You have?"

She half suspected he was making fun of her, but she couldn't stop to find out. "Yes, I have—really. You may think it's just a parent's partiality, but it isn't. She's like a pink rose—every one says so. Ask Mr. Shard. He said . . ." She leaned over and interrupted the other tête-à-tête. "Isn't it true, Mr. Shard, that Millicent is a lovely girl . . ."

He turned as if he hadn't quite heard. "Millicent?"

"Millicent—my daughter."

She saw how it was in an instant: "You mean you don't even remember her?"

As soon as she had spoken she wished she hadn't said it. She had made herself ridiculous. She ought to have assumed it was natural for him not to remember Millicent—only she couldn't feel it so. She went on hurriedly making it worse. "Why that first morning, when she didn't know you had arrived and came down in her blue wrapper . . . [Her mother was never absolutely certain Millicent hadn't known, for the blue wrapper was becoming] and you said that she looked like an angel by a primitive Italian . . ."

"O, of course I remember," he said, and his voice had exactly the tone it had when he reassured the lady in the lobby.

Mrs. Stewart rushed to his rescue. "Of course he remembers your daughter, Mrs. Dunham. He told us all about her when he got home—making his New York girls very jealous, I can tell you." Her voice didn't even pretend to be sincere. Did they think she was such a fool as to believe them? How could it be, tho, that Millicent had made no impression? She was ashamed of minding so much.

Millicent would laugh and say it served her mother right, but to Mrs. Dunham the whole world was shaken. Her hope, her safety, lay in believing that Millicent was so lovely and desirable that she didn't need money to protect her from the world. There would always be some devoted man ready to take care of her. Suppose this wasn't true. Suppose Millicent were just an ordinary pretty girl like many that Mrs. Dunham had seen working themselves to death, or even starving.

Then, in a few moments she forgot the whole thing, for Shard, turning to her as if he had failed her, though in some way he didn't understand, gave her his undivided attention. The lovely woman on his other side did not exist.

He leaned his head on his hand and talked to Mrs. Dunham about the people and things he did remember—about her husband and his work for the company—and how the men coming up were different from the old ones. She began to feel happy and at ease again, even tho they were going to be late for the theater, and she hated to miss a word; hated to be obliged to ask her neighbor to unravel the plot for her, since she always assumed other people were cleverer than she.

It was raining, and the rain was freezing as it fell. Policemen in their long, shiny waterproofs were shouting and holding up their hands in an effort to stop cars sliding and skidding on the icy film. Stalled trucks were blocking the streets. In fact, there was more than the usual confusion of New York at theater time. Shard and his party were obliged to get out almost a block away from their theater and run for it. Mrs. Dunham didn't mind—her coat was cloth, but she wondered at Mrs. Stewart's good nature, for her orange velvet cloak might be ruined. She looked very handsome running, with the rain drops like diamonds in her black hair.

The lobby was empty, tho it still smelled of overshoes and wet garments, and a tall Negro was sweeping. They hurried thru and were seated with a good deal of stir, for their seats were well forward.

Shaking off her coat, Mrs. Dunham gave herself to the immediate enjoyment of the most popular revue in town. Its songs and lyrics had the charm of familiarity, for Millicent had been playing and singing them for months. Her mother sighed; how Millicent would enjoy being there in her place—poor child—so little gayety of this sort came into her life.

In the entr-acte every one—every one except Stewart, who just shook his head, indicating that that sort of struggle was not for him—surged out, lighting their cigarets in the aisles in spite of the ushers' chant—"no smoking in the theater—smoking only in the lobby." But the lobby was jammed. For an instant Mrs. Dunham was swept away from Shard and Mrs. Stewart, and when she was able to approach them again, she could not help catching a few words he was saying . . . "I could get there by 12 . . . better say half-past on account of the traffic." They turned and greeted her without embarrassment.

Andrew Wyeth Water Colors Earn Hurrahs

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A brilliant exhibition of water colors by Andrew Wyeth opened yesterday at the Carson Pirie Scott galleries to run to May 10. Andrew Wyeth is the son of N. N. Wyeth, the noted American seascape painter. His sister is married to Peter Hurd, the artist, and is herself an artist, so the very least one can say about young Mr. Wyeth is that he comes naturally by his great gifts. For great they are—talents amounting to genius and a craftsmanship, a technique, that might well be envied by painters of double his short 20 years of age.

Andrew Wyeth held his first water color show in New York last year and 14 out of the 18 pictures were sold the first day. The other four sold rapidly and New York had the delightful and strange experience of realizing that a new American painter had come up and made himself felt in a day that still is rapaciously concerned with foreignisms.

For Andrew Wyeth is first, last, and all the time, American. He studied with his father and the teaching was good. Young Andrew is as Yankee as the sea winds blowing over the salt marshes of Maine. His work is strong, vivid, colorful, honest, compelling. He uses a brush with a rapid, firm, sure stroke. He uses paint with a laugh. His work is straightforward, masculine and [tho you may think it impossible] beautiful.

After so much of the vitiated painting, the effete water colors, which go by the name of art today, it is a glorious and inspiring experience to come upon these New England landscapes and coastal scenes by Andrew Wyeth. They make one feel like raising the Stars and Stripes and cheering for American youth! Here is painting such as no federal money has been able to buy, no modern art school been able to produce.

Among the outstanding paintings are "October Light," "Green and Silver," "The White Skiff," "Hill Farm," "Pirate Country" [this has been sold], "In New Hampshire," and "Quiet Harbor."

A "must" show; do not miss it.

Sleek Coiffure Has Slenderizing Effect on Body

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In this column, propaganda for the sleek, the tidy, the soignée head outline has been carried on for some time, especially for the older woman. The young ones could do their hair in Topsy pigtails, add a tablecloth check bow for a hat, and get away with it, but we continue pleading for a generation apart in hairdos. Let the youngsters have their shoulder length manes. Let the older woman realize she has a world of coiffures of her own from which to choose.

And let the older woman realize that hair arrangements are like hats in that they can either make her look and feel like a conquering femme or utterly miserable and dowdy.

Now, because permanents are on your mind, if not already in your hair, we wish to speak of one thing in connection with the tidy and actually younger looking head outline.

We refer to the thinning out now and then of the thick, bushy undergrowth of hair. It's on our mind today particularly because we have just sat thru an experience with a friend and saw its triumphal ending. To begin with, her head is size 23, the size that has so much trouble finding the chic hat. In addition to the original head size, there was an enormously heavy hair growth to take into account. Altho this woman is only a few pounds overweight, not enough to speak of or worry about, with the top heavy head appearance she always has been considered a heavy woman. And this is a point so many women refuse to

The head outline has an enormous influence on the entire bodily impression of weight. Our friend put herself in the hands of an artist in hair thinning, cutting and shaping. The operation was a major success. Twice, on her way home, she reported, she was greeted by friends who exclaimed: "You're looking wonderful. You've lost a lot of weight!"

West opened the ten of clubs; declarer won with the king and drew two rounds of diamonds. He then cashed the ace and king of hearts, discarding one of dummy's spades, and then, with much agonizing, attempted to guess the position of the outstanding spade honors. Fortune, however, did not crown his efforts.

After leading to the spade ace, he returned a small spade toward his queen-nine. East, not being charitably inclined, played low on the second round without the slightest hesitation. Declarer now attempted to force the king by playing his own nine spot. All he managed to force, however, was the jack from West's hand, and West now had the perfectly simple exit of a club into dummy's blank ace. The spade king still had to be conceded to East for the setting trick.

This hand hardly could have been easier, involving, as it did, the simplest form of elimination play. After winning the opening club lead [no matter in which hand] declarer should have drawn the outstanding trumps. He then should have cashed the other club and played the ace and king of hearts, discarding a spade from dummy on the latter, after which the third heart should have been ruffed. Then the South hand should have been entered with a trump, and a low spade led to dummy's ten.

Regardless of the position of the king and jack, this would have assured declarer against losing more than one spade trick. If East won the ten with the jack, he would either have to return a spade, giving declarer a free finesse against the king, or a suit that declarer could ruff while dummy was discarding its last losing spade.

There are enough unavoidable guesses at bridge without creating new ones.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Tribune, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

There's really a wide choice among meat cuts to cook in a hurry. Trouble is, the average housewife doesn't always know just which pieces of meat may be cooked quickly and which ones take a longer time than she wants them to take.

Meat for hurry-up meals needn't be limited to broilable steaks. Broilable steaks are, however, among top ranking quick-to-cook meats. But have a look at these lists for other suggestions.

BEEF CUTS TO COOK IN HALF AN HOUR OR LESS TIME.

1. Minute steaks. These are scored pieces of round steak, and may be cooked a minute to each side, or long enough to brown them, in a little hot fat.

2. Chip steaks. These are a patented kind of meat composed of thin layers, and are tender enough to cut with a fork after a 40 second browning on each side in butter.

3. Broiling steaks. Included are sirloin, pin-bone sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone, club, and rib steaks. These are cooked in a moderately hot broiler long enough to be browned well on each side. Fifteen minutes on each side will cook even a very thick steak to a moderate well-doneness. The rarer the better, if you're a gourmet, however.

4. Ground beef patties. Brown these in fat, or brush with butter, or cover with a strip of bacon, and broil.

5. Frankfurters. These take only the time necessary to heat them, as they've already been cooked.

VEAL CUTS TO BE COOKED IN A SHORT TIME.

1. Liver. Liver takes only a few minutes. Brush it well with butter and broil on each side. Or pan-fry only until browned in a little butter or bacon fat.

2. Cutlets, kidney chops, and veal sirloin steaks often will cook in half an hour's time, altho they must be prepared by braising.

3. Brains and sweetbreads take only a few seconds for browning or creaming if they've been soaked and pre-cooked.

LAMB CUTS TO BE COOKED IN A HURRY.

1. All lamb chops, shoulder, loin, English chops [double loin chops], rib, Saratoga chops, arm and blade chops are cooked by broiling. They take an average of 7 minutes to the side.

2. Lamb patties, composed of ground lamb, are broiled, too.

3. Lamb liver may be pan-fried or broiled in short order.

QUICK COOKING KINDS OF PORK.

1. Ham slices may be broiled.

2. Bacon and Canadian bacon. These are fried, baked, or broiled.

3. Bulk and link sausage.

4. Thinly cut chops often will cook in half an hour.

Fish should be considered as quick cooking meats, too. Fillets and steaks usually will broil or bake in a hot oven in 10 minutes. Chicken livers are another possibility. And, of course, there are the canned meats.

Reckless Ravel Music Played by Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Maurice Ravel's last work—the song cycle, "Don Quichotte á Dulcinée"—received its first Chicago performance last night in the Studebaker theater. The performers were Bruce Foote, baritone, and the Illinois Symphony orchestra under Albert Goldberg's direction.

Set to the extravagant, half-mad words of Paul Morand, these little songs convey powerfully the extravagant, half-mad character of Cervantes' hero. And the hyperbole is by no means confined to the words. In 1934, when he was working on this music, Ravel's powers were evidently still unimpaired by the brain ailment which was to cause his death three years later, and he succeeded in creating music which matches the exuberance and recklessness of the words.

There are fantastically eccentric turns of phrases, meters which suggest the bursting of a volcano, off-center harmonic effects calculated to strengthen subtly the pathological impression of the poems.

Mr. Foote, Mr. Goldberg and the orchestra presented the song cycle so effectively that the third number—a morbid but tremendously effective drinking song—was encored. The baritone had won the favor of the audience earlier in the concert when he had displayed an extremely beautiful voice and an excellent sense of style in his singing of Purcell's "Evening Hymn on a Ground Bass."

Another of last night's items which had never before been heard here was a set of dances from Purcell's "The Fairy Queen," arranged for string orchestra by Cyril E. Rootham. Mr. Goldberg and the orchestra gave the music enough flexibility to keep it from sounding dull, not enough to compromise its serene 17th century quality.

Princess Frock and Bolero

WOMAN'S AND MISS' COSTUME.

Its princess lines are so simple to make that every woman among you who has longed to learn how to sew for herself will want to create this costume, a simple princess frock with an accompanying bolero. Depending upon the degree of skill you already possess, the trimming may be utterly simple or rather intricate.

The pattern provides for frilly collars, but you may edge the neckline simply with ready made braid or ruffling, even lace. The bolero is untrimmed unless you wish to use a corsage. No belt is used, and the skirt, below the molded hipline, is widely flared.

Use plain or printed silks or cottons for this practical and dressy model.

Style No. 3307 is designed for size, 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved dress; 1 yard for short sleeved bolero.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

United Church of Methodists Will Convene

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The first quadrennial sessions of general conference of the recently united Methodist church will open tomorrow in the Municipal auditorium of Atlantic City, N. J.

Just a year ago the new Methodist communion was formed in a uniting conference at Kansas City, Mo., thru the merger of the former Methodist Episcopal [parent] church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which split away over the slavery issue, and the Methodist Protestant church, which split off early in the last century over administrative disputes.

Around the world, the united church has a membership of 8,000,000 and a constituency estimated conservatively at 12 millions. The Atlantic City conference, which is expected to last about two weeks, will legislate for the church for the next four year period, but its work will differ from previous general conferences of the former merged churches because there will be no elections of bishops or other officers.

All new administrative officers hereafter will be elected by newly formed jurisdictional conferences which meet directly after adjournment of the general conference. Chicago is in the north central jurisdiction, which will convene at the Stevens hotel on June 26.

The church's extensive publishing interests and the administration of the world wide educational set up of the three former branches will present difficult problems in legislation.

H. L. Mencken, who writes Miss Lillian Gish that he is not entertaining Producer Oscar Serlin's offer of the rôle of Father in the Boston company of Life with Father, adds:

Spring is on us here (Baltimore). The violets in the back yard are now three feet high and our cow is eating blossoms from the pear tree. . . . I have definitely decided that the part is too old for me. Instead, I'm going ahead with plans to tour the south as Romeo with a colored Shakespeare company.

Romeo, in the person of Laurence Olivier, with his Juliet beside him, black gowned and hatless, listened to Marian Anderson from the wings of the Auditorium theater Sunday afternoon. Miss Gish was in the audience, squired by O. Z. Whitehead, the Clarence Day Jr. of Life with Father. (The initials stand, believe it or not, for Oothout Zabriskie.) Clifton Webb applauded the great colored contralto from a main floor seat. So did Alexander Steinert, who adapted and arranged the musical numbers for Romeo and Juliet.

Last night Miss Anderson returned Miss Gish's compliment by going to see Life with Father at the Blackstone.

Actors and actresses pay compliments to one another and so do musicians. When Artur Rubinstein was in town last week he paid admiring tribute to Béla Bartók, who was arriving shortly to play his own compositions at the Arts club, with First Violinist John Weicher of the Chicago Symphony assisting. Béla Bartók is one of the very few great pianist-composers of our time, he said.

Speaking of musicians, Jim Bowers bulletins that the Chicago Symphony has the only Stock that's always at par. And have you sent your contribution yet to help pay the orchestra's deficit and keep alive one of Chicago's finest institutions?

Reginald Gardiner, who has been illuminating the Hollywood scene, was in town Saturday at the Stevens. He is pleased with himself because he has turned down two proffered movie rôles. Reason for the refusal is that he wants to go on doing rôles similar to that he played in Chaplin's The Dictator and in The Doctor Takes a Wife.

Riccardo, the artist restaurateur, encountered, on his recent stay in New Orleans, a man who declares he is the only taxi driver ever to have driven a saint. Name Vic Miorana, ex-prize fighter, now publisher of a small weekly. He said that when he was a taxi driver in Chicago Mother Cabrini gave him her patronage. Beatification rites for Mother Cabrini, who founded Columbus hospital on Lake View avenue and the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, were held in Vatican City in 1938. (Strictly speaking, beatification is but a milepost on the way to sainthood.)

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

April 23, 1940.

These two numbers 2 [service] and 3 [expression] combine to give the sometimes erratic but stimulating 5. Selling and all forms of work bringing them in direct contact with the public are suitable for the 5 people. Nursing and medicine are also suitable. This combination means capacity for being all things to all people because of the duality and adaptability in both numbers. Those born today are in a year of changes when their restless natures have more freedom of expression and they can follow their impulses and intuitions.

TIGER RALLY BEATS SOX, 6-5; CUBS LOSE, 9-5

APPLING SPIKED BY GREENBERG; OUT DAY OR TWO

Rookie Eaves Walks Twelve.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox's luck behind the twelve-pass pitching of Vallie Eaves ran out in the eighth and ninth innings yesterday and the Tigers won a 2 hour and 46 minute game in which the Sox were on top from the second into the ninth inning. The score was Detroit 6; Chicago 5.

With all his wildness, Eaves was not the losing pitcher. Clint Brown, who went in in the eighth, took the rap, thanks to a foozle by Shortstop Skeeter Webb which gave the Tigers a run after two were out in the eighth, and a mess of singles Brown pitched to Pinky Higgins, Dick Bartell, and Earl Averill in the ninth.

Somebody Hid Home Plate.

The Tigers used five pitchers in the strung out competition, and the fourth of these, Dick Conger, a freshman at the University of California at Los Angeles last year, was the winner. However, considerable credit should go to the fifth Tiger performer, Al Benton, who mowed down Mike Kreevich, Julius Solters, and Larry Rosenthal in the home ninth.

Eaves might have been all right if he hadn't tried to operate without a compass. But it is doubtful if any pitcher who walks a dozen batsmen in seven and two-thirds innings ever should be credited with a victory in a major league game. It should be noted, tho, that the young man yielded only seven hits and struck out seven.

The Sox made four runs on two hits in the second inning and one on three hits in the third. After that they were a painfully docile bunch, tho the Tigers ran out second, third, and fourth string pitchers.

Appling Is Hurt.

Added to the grief of the Sox's illfated performance was the fact that Luke Appling was injured when he was spiked by Hank Greenberg in completing a double play in the fifth inning at a juncture when the Sox were looking like a brisk ball club. Luke received two cuts on his left knee. How long the Sox star has to lay off will depend upon how the cuts affect his leg muscles. He is not expected back for a day or two.

It was Indian against Indian when Rudy York faced Eaves at the start of the second, and a none too friendly meeting. York warmed up by knocking the ball into the upper left field stands. It was somewhat foul, so Rudy came back from his projected trip around the bases and tried again. This time he banged a 440 foot triple to the center field wall. Higgins drove the ball against the left field wall for a double but was out, Kreevich to Bob Kennedy when he tried to reach third on the swat. Bartell walked and got to second on a wild pitch, then Billy Sullivan walked, Lynn Nelson flied to Kreevich, Bartell taking third, then McCosky walked, loading the bases. Bruce Campbell got the fourth pass of the inning, forcing Bartell across the plate. Charley Gehringer fouled out to Mike Tresh.

It seemed like it took hours for the Tigers to get their two runs in the second, but seconds only were re-

PIRATES HAND PASSEAU HIS 2D DEFEAT IN ROW

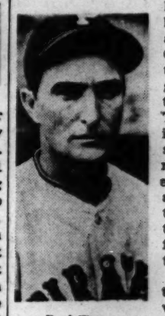
BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 22.—The Pirates, after a three day wait, finally opened their home season this afternoon and the Cubs, much to the latters' regret, were in on the ceremony. The Pirates, playing as if they had subsisted on raw meat during their enforced vacation, administered a 9 to 5 mauling to their guests before 10,461 spectators.



Paul Waner.

There was something decidedly wrong with the Cub pitching or else the Pirates were far too handy with their bats. They didn't even neglect to transact important business with Claude Passeau, one of Gabby Hartnett's few prize chattels. Passeau started, but five inninge were his limit, a half dozen runs scoring during his exciting but futile régime. Then Manager Gabby Hartnett ran in a pair of his kids, Julio Bonetti and Vern Olsen, but between passes and hits, the freshmen, as well as the manager, suffered extensively. He was relieved considerably by Vance Page's effectiveness in the eighth.

Sturgeon Makes 7th Error.

There was only one time that the Cubs felt they had reason to feel a bit inflated. They took a one run lead in the first inning without making a hit off Joe Bowman. The Pirates fixed that with two runs in their half, partly because Bob Sturgeon made his seventh error of the season at short. The Cubs tied it on one hit, Passeau doing the hitting in the third. Then Passeau was walloped for three runs in the fourth, another in the fifth, and the last three were bunched in the seventh off Bonetti and Olsen.

The Cubs were so late in the matter of bat wielding that at the end of five innings they could show only three hits off Bowman. In the sixth they showed signs of figuring out what sort of stuff he was pitching, scoring twice to get within two runs of a tie. As soon as they made a hit off Bowman in the seventh, Frisch scented the need of a change, but before Mace Brown could end the inning a run scored. The Pirates immediately replied with a three run splurge on the kid pitchers and Max Butcher stopped the Cubs cold in the last two innings.

Pirates Become Generous.

The Cubs' first inning run wasn't the result of any robust bat swinging. It was fabricated exclusively on errors, slightly seasoned by Bowman's wildness. Stan Hack opened the game with a liner to center and Bob Elliott dropped it. Hack stole second while Billy Herman was fanning. Augie Galan walked and Hank Leiber grounded to Arky Vaughan, forcing Galan at second, but Pep Young's attempt to complete a double play resulted in a

Big Hank Greenberg strikes out against Vallie Eaves, the White Sox rookie, in first inning of yesterday's game in Comiskey park. But a little later things didn't look so rosy for Rookie Eaves. Detroit rallied to win 6 to 5. The catcher is Mike Tresh and the umpire Steve Basil.

This is the play on which the White Sox lost Luke Appling, their star shortstop. Greenberg is sliding into second. Appling had to get out of position to take the throw and make the putout and is being spiked accidentally. The umpire is Red Ormsby.

Reds Defeat Cards, 6-1, as Floods Come

Cincinnati, O., April 22 (AP).—Continuing their undefeated and errorless way, Cincinnati's Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals and the Ohio river flood as well today, pounding out a 6 to 1 victory behind Buck Walters' seven hit piching as water lapped into Crosley field. Two three run innings aided in each case by a Cardinal error assured victory.

A crowd of 5,197 had to "puddle jump" its way into the park. Water stood a foot deep in both dugouts and even deeper in nearby parking lots as the teams took the field an hour earlier than usual.

Flood Seeps In.

The flood seeped into field level seats behind third base as play was started and with the river rising .10 to .15 of a foot hourly above 57 feet, promised to cover the park by tomorrow.

The Reds' first scoring came in the fifth as Ernie Lombardi walked, Harry Craft and Mike McCormick singled, and Walters lined out to bring home Lombardi. Fiddler Bill McGee made a wild pitch to Bill Werber, and a moment later Harold Epps made a two base error on Werber's short fly to score Craft and M. McCormick.

Reds Rout Shoun.

The Reds hopped all over Relief Hurler Clyde Shoun in the eighth. He forced Ival Goodman to line out and McCormick to top the ball, but Lombardi singled, Craft doubled, and M. McCormick beat out a tap to third to score Lombardi. Padgett threw wild to first, advancing the runners, Bill Myers was passed, and Walters singled to complete the scoring and send Shoun to the showers.

Only Enos Slaughter and Martin Marion got to Walters for extra base hits. The lone Cardinal run came in the ninth on the right fielders' double and Don Padgett's single.

Fire Destroys Equipment of Badger Teams

Madison, Wis., April 22 [Special].—Firemen fought a blaze at the University of Wisconsin's football equipment quarters for more than an hour tonight before bringing it under control. Cause of the fire had not been determined, but it was believed to have been started by defective wiring.

It was feared the loss might reach several thousand dollars. A check will be made tomorrow. Athletic Director Harry Stuhldreher was informed of the fire upon leaving a downtown theater.

It was feared that nearly all of the equipment of the varsity baseball team, which returned from a spring vacation trip yesterday, was damaged, possibly beyond further use. Caretaker Bill Hannan said considerable of the boxing team's equipment also was in the rooms where the blaze apparently started.

IF ANDY K. GOES STRAIGHT HE MAY WIN THE DERBY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 22.—Once again Kentucky bred horses dominate the Derby field. With the exception of W. L. Brann's Pictor and Charles S. Howard's Mioland, all of the prominent contenders first stretched their lanky legs in gallops across the rolling terrain of this blue grass region. They drank from springs that bubbled out of limestone rock and rested in the groves of oak and hickory that decorate the pastures.

Andy K. was bred by John H. Morris, who trained Azra to win the Derby of 1892. He was foaled on Morris' Bosque Bonita farm over near Versailles. The breeder put a lot of thought into the selection of blood lines for this horse—but he forgot one thing. He didn't include an ancestor with a working knowledge of fundamental mathematics. As a result, Andy K. has a lot of speed but he knows practically nothing about plane geometry. It has never occurred to him that a straight line is the shortest path between two given points.

Andy K. Forgets His Lesson.

After he had lost several important races last season because of his inclination to run sideways as well as frontwards, his owners, Tony Pelleteri and M. L. Emerich, and his trainer, P. F. Dwyer, settled down to a winter and spring of effort at teaching Andy K. the principles outlined by Euclid in a work called elements of geometry, drawn up in approximately 350 B. C.

They thought they had done a swell job because Andy ran as straight as a ruler in his first outing this spring. Then along came the Chesapeake stakes and he showed that all that book learnin' hadn't done a bit of good. So Jockey Ralph Neves was forced to beat the knowledge into Andy's head with a riding crop while the field was maneuvering for position after the break. That worked a little better—but it was too late to educate Andy once the race was under way. His followers still have hopes for him in the Derby but they recognize that, so far as mathematics are concerned, he is a dumbbell.

Sired by Jack High.

In general, most of Andy K's speed is attributed to the male line from which he comes, and if he should display any staying power it probably will be credited to his dam, tho, of course, it isn't as simple as all that. His dam, Alice Foster, produced Mr. Khayyam, who won the American Derby, Chesapeake Stakes, and the Wood Memorial of 1933. She also is the dam of the veteran campaigner, Noah's Pride, who has won over 50 races. Andy K's sire is Jack High, the first American horse to run a mile as fast as 1:35. Jack High campaigned from 1928 to 1932, tho he didn't start very frequently.

Fenelon, William Woodward's Derby candidate, which was foaled on Arthur B. Hancock's Claiborne farm, has blood lines which are highly regarded by breeders. His dam is Filante, one of the best of Woodward's fine collection of mares. She was imported from France.

Blood Lines of Other Hopefuls.

Fenelon's sire is Sir Gallahad III., the great stallion which has contributed so much to the qualities of American thorobreds in recent years. Staying power and ability to run on any kind of a track are among the characteristics of his get.

C. V. Whitney's Flight Command was foaled on the Whitney farm not far from Lexington. His dam is Top Flight, which won more money than any 2 year old in history during her 1931 season at the races. She won seven stakes that year for a total of $219,000.

Bimelech, of course, was bred on Edward R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm. He is by Black Toney out of La Troienne, and is thus a full brother of Black Helen, one of the best fillies which ever went to the races.

Anglers Get Early Start in Quest of Pike

BY BOB BECKER.

Hundreds of enthusiastic fishermen from Chicagoland and other parts of the middle west have been meeting on the Wolf river northwest of Oshkosh, Wis., during the last week to fish for walleyed pike. The Wisconsin laws permit the taking of walleyes, pickerel [northern pike] and several species of panfish in the Wolf river and certain adjacent waters before the regular pike and pickerel season opens in other lakes and streams in the state.

This special season [more than a month ahead of the regular May 18 opening of pike fishing in the rest of the state] has drawn record breaking crowds to the river valley. Most of the fishermen have had fair to good luck. The limit on walleyes is seven per day. If a nonresident has his 1939 nonresident fishing license, it will do for this spring fishing until May 1.

When the Wolf river pike fishing opened on April 15th the weather was cold and the walleyes did not strike very much. Yesterday the mild weather improved the fishing and veteran anglers familiar with this annual pike run said that the walleyes should hit even better during the next week or two than they did this last week.

Catch Bigger Pike at Night.

Herbert Nickel, a resident of Winneconne, a small town on the Wolf which is 17 miles from Oshkosh, said yesterday all of the pike are being taken on live minnows by trolling or still fishing. Most of the fish caught during the day average 15 inches, with larger ones weighing from 2½ to 4 pounds being caught after dark near the Winneconne bridge.

"We expect better fishing along toward the end of the month and even in May," said Nickel. "Last year we got some of our best pike fishing early in May just before the white bass run started." Nickel reported that one lucky fisherman who was trying to get a mess of walleye, hooked and landed a 13½ pound pickerel while fishing from the Winneconne bridge.

The Fish Are Hungry.

One resident of Weyauwega, another town on the Wolf river where many early season fishermen gather, said the reason pike hit better over the week-end was that most of the fish have spawned and now are eager to get food, so they strike live minnows more readily.

Winneconne, Fremont and Weyauwega are the three Wolf river towns entertaining large numbers of visiting fishermen. But the pike run is pushing northward up the Wolf beyond these fishing centers. Yesterday the fish were reported in the upper Wolf near the town of Leeman.

The Wisconsin waters in which this special early season now prevails are the following: Lake Poygan in Winnebago and Waushara counties, Lake Winneconne and Big and Little Lakes Butte des Morts in Winnebago county, Buffalo lake in Marquette county, the Grand river from the dam at Kingston to the Fox river in Marquette and Green Lake counties, Puckaway lake in Marquette and Green Lake counties, the Fox river in Brown, Outagamie, Winnebago, Marquette, Green Lake, and Waushara counties, the Wolf river in Shawano, Outagamie, Winnebago, and Waupaca counties, and Lake Winnebago in Calumet, Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties.

ENTRY BLANKS OUT FOR MIDGET TITLE EVENT

Entry blanks for the second annual national board track title event for midget auto racers, to be held in Soldiers' field in June, were mailed yesterday. The Chicago Bowl corporation is promoting the races.

Safety for drivers will be stressed for the five nightly programs, starting June 19 and concluding June 23. The entry blanks called particular attention to the safety requirements as laid down by the contest board of the A. A. A. Almost equal emphasis was placed on the appearance of the car, as well as drivers and pitmen.

Neatness will play such an important part that unless drivers and pitmen are appropriately garbed and present a well groomed appearance, the A. A. A. may rule them out in their quest for the $15,000 purse and national title. The neatness clause as applied to the cars, calls for proper lines and a fresh, colorful paint job. The quarter mile oval, fitted into the horseshoe end of the stadium, will give the crowd a compact picture.

Bears Trade 2 for Schiechl of Santa Clara

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

John Schiechl, Santa Clara center, was transferred to the Chicago Bears' preferred negotations list yesterday in a trade that sent Dick Bassi, veteran guard, and Les McDonald, a starting end, to the Philadelphia Eagles.

The deal, started at the National Football league executive meeting in New York two weeks ago, was concluded in a telephone conversation between George Halas, owner of the Bears, and Bert Bell, the eloquent proprietor of the Eagles to whom Halas cannot say "no." No cash was involved.

Schiechl, who for the last two seasons has been widely publicized as one of the outstanding centers in America, was Philadelphia's second choice and the seventh man chosen in the annual draft meeting last December. He has signified his intention of playing professional football and Halas anticipates no difficulty in signing him.

He's Collector of Centers.

Halas now has draft rights on the two centers in this year's graduating class who are regarded by National league coaches as the best collegians at their positions. He drafted Bulldog Turner of Hardin-Simmons as his first choice. This apparent eagerness to obtain prize pivot men indicates Halas does not expect Pete Bausch, his starting center for the last three years, to return next fall. The starting assignment seemingly narrows down to a fight among Schiechl, Turner, and Chet Chesney, former De Paul star who did relief duty last year.

Schiechl, like Turner, is a physical giant. He stands 6 feet two inches and weighs 225 pounds. He was the outstanding member of the Santa Clara line that cleared the way for two seasons of undefeated football against all comers and continued to star after Coach Buck Shaw's squad began to drop off its winning pace.

Remember Bassi's Run?

Bassi, also a Santa Clara product, was a member of THE TRIBUNE'S 1937 All Star team. He was drafted by Washington but did not play professional football that year. In 1938 he was traded to the Bears for draft rights to Bob Masterson, an end from Miami university, who still is with the Redskins. Bassi served as a reserve with the Bears for two seasons and is distinguished for a 67 yard run between halves with a fumble for the touchdown on which the Bears defeated the Cardinals in 1938.

McDonald was signed after three years of stardom at Nebraska. Last season and the year before he was a Bear starter. He probably will continue to start at Philadelphia, replacing the aging Bill Hewitt, another old Bear whom Bell's eloquence wheedled away from Halas.

PACKERS SIGN SEEMAN.

Green Bay, Wis., April 22 (AP).—George Seeman, Nebraska end for the last three seasons, has signed a contract with the Green Bay Packers, National Football league champions, the club announced today.

Youngsters who have shown proficiency in tennis will be guests of the Chicago Tennis association in the second annual tennis Whirlwind in the University of Chicago fieldhouse Friday night. The group has been selected from schoolboys who have participated in the association junior development program.

Of particular interest to the guests will be the opening singles match between two young Chicagoans, James Evert and Gardner Larned. Evert, the national indoor boy champion, comes from Senn High and Larned is a product of Morgan Park.

This match will precede the singles contest between Bobby Riggs of Chicago and his Davis Cup teammate, Elwood Cooke.

PURDUE HOPES TO SEE ACTION AGAINST BUTLER

Nine Has Three Games Carded This Week.

Lafayette, Ind., April 22 [Special]. Despite the fact that the weatherman has rained or snowed out five of the last six scheduled encounters, Purdue's baseball nine still is hopeful of meeting Butler tomorrow in the first of three games scheduled this week. The Boilermakers will make another effort to break into Big 9½ competition against Chicago in Chicago on Friday and Saturday.

Coach Dutch Fehring announced tonight that Bob Bailey and Don Blanken probably will share the mound duties against Butler in a tuneup for the Maroon encounters.

Three other Boilermaker sports squads will see action over the week-end. Coach Hermon Phillips is grooming individuals and a possible sprint medley relay combination for the Drake relays in Des Moines Friday and Saturday. The individual entry possibilities include, Ed Holderman, whose 4:13.2 mile is the fastest time turned in by a collegiate runner this year; Forest Weber, shot put and discus; Dave Rankin, hurdles; Ted Tykocki, broad jump, and Joseph Edwards, pole vault.

The tennis team meets Michigan Friday and Illinois State Teachers on Saturday on the home courts, while the golfers entertain Butler here Saturday.

N. U. MEETS BRADLEY.

Northwestern university's baseball team will resume action today against Bradley Tech on Roycemore field in the first of two nonconference games on the week's schedule. The Wildcat nine will meet Notre Dame in Evanston Saturday in the second of a two game series. The Irish won the first game in South Bend, 9 to 1.

The tennis team will open its season today against Augustana college of Rock Island. The match will mark the college debut of Seymour Greenberg, former Lane Tech star, now a sophomore at Northwestern. Greenberg, holder of the national public parks championship, will play No. 1 position on the Wildcat squad.

In addition to Greenberg, Coach Paul Bennett has three letter men from last year's squad which won 10 out of 12 dual matches, both losses being to Chicago. The returning Purple veterans are Harrison O'Neill of Milwaukee, Jerry Clifford of Oshkosh, and Eugene Richards of Chicago.

EIGHT of the next ten bald-headed persons you meet became bald because they failed to rid their scalps of dandruff infection. At various times they obtained temporary relief by removing the surface particles of dandruff with lotions and washes. But while they were experimenting, the underlying causes of dandruff were damaging their hair-growing structure and leading them to baldness.

There are three major types of dandruff. Each demands a different treatment. Twenty years of experience qualifies The Thomas' to determine which type of dandruff is causing your hair loss, and endows Thomas experts with unusual skill and ability in administering corrective treatment.

Let The Thomas' help you to get rid of dandruff, overcome scalp itch, and promote normal hair growth on the thin and bald spots. They have helped a quarter-million other persons. CUBS' PITCHING GIVES PIRATES 9 TO 5 VICTORY

Passeau Yields Six Runs in Five Innings.

The Pirates also enjoyed outside help in their two run first, but at least did a little hitting. Handley led off with a grounder to Sturgeon, who fumbled. On a hit and run maneuver, Debs Garms doubled past Herman and Handley didn't stop sprinting until he had crossed the plate. Garms went to third on Vaughan's infield out and hurried home on Johnny Rizzo's fly to Leiber. Elbie Fletcher then singled and stole second, where he expired. This slim lead remained untouched until Passeau opened the third with a double to left, moved to third on Hack's infield out, and home on Herman's fly to Rizzo.

Cubs Miss an Opportunity.

Altho the Cubs scored twice while making only one hit in the first three innings, they couldn't produce anything on two hits and an error in the fourth. Leiber whizzed a single past Handley, but was forced by Dallessandro. After Rip Russell struck out Al Todd beat out a slow roller to Handley and when the latter threw low to Fletcher, Dallessandro moved to third. Handley made adjustment for his error by smothering Sturgeon's grounder and throwing to Young to force Todd.

Passeau looked pretty slick for two-thirds of the fourth, but the other third was something different. The first happenings were a strikeout for Rizzo and Fletcher's pop foul to Russell. The sudden blasting started with Elliott's double to right. Ray Mueller, who took over the Pirates' catching when Spud Davis strained a side muscle, drew a walk. Young lifted a fly over short left center, whereupon Dallessandro, Galan, and Sturgeon gathered in the spot but the ball dropped for a two bagger, Elliott and Mueller scoring. Bowman almost removed a leg from Passeau with a line single on which Young scored.

Cubs Come to Life.

Doubles by Garms and Fletcher gave the Pirates another run in the fifth and the Cubs then awakened. Galan opened the sixth with a tap which Vaughan booted. Leiber nicked the new scoreboard with a double, Galan stopping at third. He scored on Dallessandro's infield out. Russell singled to center to send Leiber across the plate. After Todd had flied out, Pinch Hitter Bill Rogell singled, but Phil Cavarretta, batting for Passeau, flied to Garms.

The Cubs blew a swell opportunity in the seventh, getting only one run out of two hits and a pair of passes. Hack led off with a single, which was enough to end Bowman's tenure. Brown came in to the vacancy and walked Herman. Galan singled to center, Hack scoring and Herman taking third. Then the big decline set in. Leiber popped to Vaughan, Dallessandro walked to load the bags, and Russell bounced to Vaughan for a double play.

Pirates Get Out of Hand.

Bonetti, who got by in the sixth despite a single, double, and walk, found the Pirates a bit tougher in the seventh. He passed Rizzo and Fletcher, but the former was forced at third on Elliott's attempted sacrifice. P. Waner batted for Mueller and doubled to right, Fletcher scoring. Young was purposely passed, filling the bases, whereupon Lloyd Waner batted for Brown. Lefty Olsen immediately replaced Bonetti, so L. Waner withdrew and Fern Bell took his place. Bell walked on four pitches, Elliott scoring. Four more pitches walked Handley, P. Waner scoring the last enemy run.

PLATAK TO PLAY THREE HANDBALL FOES TONIGHT

Joe Platak, who captured his sixth consecutive national A. A. U. handball championship last week in Detroit will play an exhibition match tonight in the Lake Shore Athletic club. His appearance will be a feature of the annual "handball night" program.

The Chicagoan who swept thru the national tournament without losing a game will play in exhibition matches with Dick Martin, Bob Weiller, and Rau Lignes of Kansas City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 22.—Larry French, who beat the Cardinals in his only start thus far this season, will be at work for the Cubs tomorrow in the second of the series with the Pirates. His opponent, says Manager Frank Frisch of the Pirates, will be the bespectacled, 34 year old Danny MacFayden.

Tough days appear to be immediately ahead for Dizzy Dean, who for two seasons did an excellent job of getting by without pitching. Manager Gabby Hartnett now is determined either to eliminate Diz as an intermittent nuisance or make him earn his pay. Dean pitched yesterday and the Cardinals gave him an unceremonious boot. But Mr. Diz will have to pitch again Thursday in Chicago against the Reds and every four days thereafter. Under this program it won't take long to expose the truth.

Seven of the eight towers which make up the Pirates' new $125,000 night baseball plant have been completed.

Tigers Rally to Defeat Sox, 6 to 5; Appling Hurt

quired by the Sox to tie the score in their half, after which they went on in the inning to double the Tiger count. Taft Wright walked. Eric McNair smashed a hot one to Higgins, who fumbled for one error, then threw past York for another. When things came to a pause, Wright was on third and McNair on second. Tresh slashed one that seemed destined for a speedy trip to center field, but Nelson tried to take hold of it. The ball hit Lynn's glove, then his head, whence it bounced into right field. Wright and McNair tied the score on the ricocheting hit, Tresh holding up at first.

Nelson was not seriously hurt, but after a conference it was decided to invite Luther Thomas to replace him. Eaves moved Tresh over with a sacrifice after which Kennedy singled, Tresh stopping at third. Joe Kuhel walked, filling the bases and Kreevich walked, forcing in Tresh. Solters forced Kreevich, Kennedy scoring. Thomas threw out Appling, terminating the first two innings in the snappy time of 56 minutes.

Sox Dismiss Thomas.

The Sox knocked out Thomas and fattened their lead in the home third. Wright opened with a single and stopped at second on McNair's single. John Gorsica replaced Thomas whereupon Tresh lifted his runs batted in total to three and his hit total to two by singling to center, scoring Wright. Eaves, attempting to sacrifice, fouled to Sullivan and when McNair and Tresh assayed a double steal, McNair was speared at third. Gorsica threw out Kennedy.

Greenberg got Eaves' eighth pass at the start of the fifth, but this time the chief quelled York by fanning him on four pitches. Higgins also whiffed and Greenberg was doubled trying to reach second, Tresh to Appling. Appling was hurt on this play, but revived in a few minutes, tho he called it a day.

Wright opened the home fifth with a single to center, his second and the Sox's ninth hit, and reached second while Higgins was throwing out McNair. Tresh flied out and Eaves fanned.

They Walk or Fan.

Webb went to short at the start of the sixth. Eaves made it three strike outs in a row when he got Bartell to get the sixth under way. Sullivan popped to Webb, then Gorsica struck out.

Eaves' span of three hitless innings ended in the seventh. McCosky and Campbell singled. Wright made a spectacular one handed catch of Gehringer's foul, but Greenberg dumped a Texas leaguer in right field, loading the bases. York again fanned on four pitches. Higgins then drew Eaves' ninth pass, forcing McCosky. Bartell forced Higgins, Webb to McNair.

In the eighth Sullivan flied to Kreevich, then Ervin Fox, batting for Gorsica, became Eaves' seventh whiff victim. McCosky drew Eaves' tenth pass. Campbell ran the count to three balls and two strikes then got pass No. 11. The runners advanced on Eaves' second wild pitch. Eaves threw three wide ones to Gehringer, then two strikes, after which Gehringer got pass No. 12, loading the bases. Eaves was withdrawn and Brown went in. It was here that Webb fumbled Greenberg's easy bouncer, McCosky scoring. Kennedy fumbled York's grounder, but recovered and beat York to first with a great throw.

The End and Clincher.

Higgins opened the ninth with a single to right and stopped at second on Bartell's single to left. Sullivan sacrificed Higgins to third and Bartell to second. Frank Metha went to second to run for Bartell and Averill batted for Conger. Averill singled to center, scoring Higgins and Metha, putting the Tigers ahead, 6 to 5. McCosky singled to center, Averill stopping at second. Campbell forced McCosky and Gehringer bounced to Kuhel.

Dietrich and Sox Will Face Newsom Today

Bill Dietrich is scheduled to pitch for the White Sox today in the middle contest of the Detroit-Chicago series. Buck Newsom, habitual 20 game winner these last few seasons is scheduled to go for the Tigers.

There are six former Chicago players on the Tigers, four of whom were in yesterday's opening lineup. They are Buck Newsom, Dick Bartell, and Lynn Nelson, erstwhile Cubs, and Bruce Campbell, Billy Sullivan, and Frank Metha, former White Sox.

The weather was the best the Sox have seen since they left Arkansas, tho it wasn't as warm as it was in St. Louis Sunday. There was much sunshine and it was 56 degrees at game time, 13 degrees warmer than it was when the Cubs pushed off in Wrigley field Sunday.

Jack Hayes, victim of eye trouble, was in the Sox clubhouse yesterday. He told his mates he had been unable to get any idea as to when he will be able to don a uniform.

Joe Will NEED Relief if This Thing Continues

St. Louis, Mo., April 22 (AP).—Joe Glenn, the Browns' holdout catcher, watched the game between the Browns and Cleveland today, but has not met with club officials since last Friday.

The Browns have announced Glenn will be placed on the ineligible list if he is not signed by midnight Thursday, 10 days after the opening of the season.

INDIANS BEAT BROWNS, 5 TO 2; MILLS ROUTED

St. Louis, Mo., April 22 (AP).—There was no dillydallying by the Cleveland Indians today as they demonstrated the quickest way to win a ball game in defeating the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2.

Almost before southpaw Howard Mills had completed his warm-up tosses, the Indians had scored five runs, more than they needed behind the seven-hit pitching of the veteran Willis Hudlin.

Mills did not get a man out, and his ineffectiveness wasted subsequent fine relief pitching by Bill Trotter and Johnny Whitehead. Trotter held the Indians to five hits in seven innings. Score:

EUREKA OPENS IN LITTLE 19 WITH NORMAL TODAY

Bloomington, Ill., April 22 [Special].—Eureka enters the Little Nineteen conference baseball race against Illinois State Normal here tomorrow. Normal already has played two league games, breaking even with De Kalb Teachers.

Jim McBride, sophomore from Springfield, who turned back Upper Iowa, 7 to 1, Saturday is expected to hurl for Normal. Coach Harold Ave of Eureka will use Hal Bowan, a veteran southpaw, or Herb Hasenyager, a freshman righthander. He has another experienced pitcher in Gene Klick but probably will start the letterman in left field because of his hitting ability.

Pruitt Strengthens Team.

The return of Bill Pruitt has strengthened the Eureka infield, as well as giving the team more batting punch. Capt. Willard Wakefield, who has been playing first base in the absence of Pruitt, will move to third base. Other veterans in the lineup are Larry Grant, catcher, John Erst, second base, and Ed Jacobs and Bill Storm, outfielders. Bud Whitver, freshman, will be at shortstop.

Two freshmen will start for Normal. They are Del Fagerburg, third base and Sherwin Gilbertson, right field. Fagerburg clinched a varsity post in the Upper Iowa game by fielding in brilliant style and driving in the first two runs with a triple.

Normal Lettermen.

Elmhurst will be host to a nonconference rival, North Central tomorrow. Ed Dalhaus and Dick Rasche will divide the hurling for Elmhurst.

Over-Chilling Kills Beer Flavor

To enjoy a new taste thrill drink your beer the European Way

RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

TASTE and COMPARE with THE "50-DEGREES" TEST

To find a beer you really like when the flavor isn't disguised by cold

Thousands learn why we won't add sugars or syrups

SOME folks drink beer so cold they can't really taste it. They taste the cold more than they taste the beer.

Beer flavor—good or bad—shows up at 50 degrees. Cold disguises the flavor, so if you warm it up a little you taste delicious richness you never knew was there. Or else you find out you really don't like that beer.

We have been making beer to suit the 50-degree drinkers for 49 years. Won't add sugars or syrups to the beer, and we bottle with only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself—so Meister Bräu has natural life and sparkle—true all-grain flavor. We've pleased the "beer cranks"—and a lot of other folks too. More people buy it every day.

I wish you'd taste and compare beer flavors with the "50-degrees" test. I'm sure you'd be delighted with the delicious flavor of Meister Bräu. And, I doubt if you would ever again say "Give me a bottle of Beer"—you'll ask for the brand you prefer.

So order Meister Bräu from your retailer. See for yourself why we've made up our minds to stick with all-grain flavor and the old-fashioned methods which produce it.

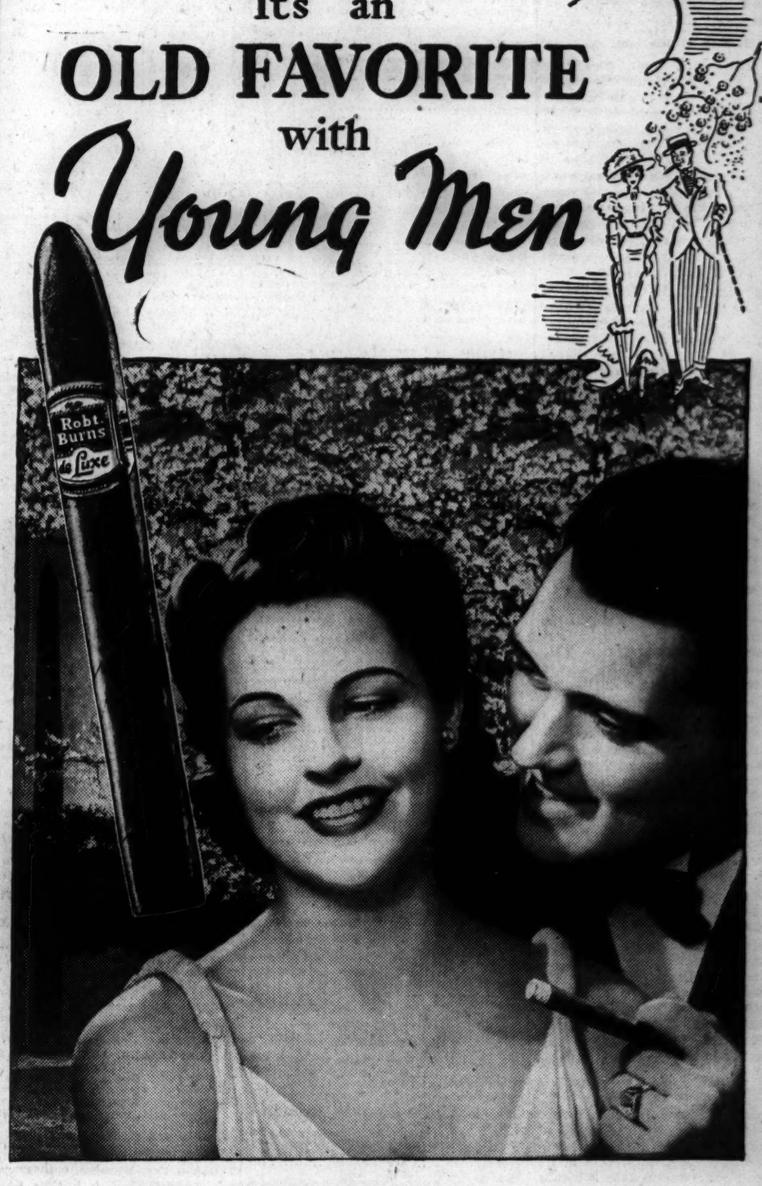
Thousands prefer the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu after making this "50-DEGREES" TEST

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other brand at average refrigerator temperature. Let it warm up to 50-degrees and compare flavor. Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

It's an OLD FAVORITE with Young Men



There are some things that never change with the years—and one of them is the preference that young men have for the Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe . . . There's many a reason why that's so. For one thing, there's the fine flavor that's so characteristic of Robt. Burns—a flavor that comes from 100% choice all-Havana filler. But perhaps the chief reason for the choice of Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe as the young man's favorite is its long, trim, graceful shape. A Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe always looks right—and tastes right. Try one today.

Big 9½ Stars Head List of Individuals.

Record Entry

DES MOINES, Ia., April 22 (AP).—The largest entry list in more than a decade was on file tonight for the Drake relays Friday and Saturday. One hundred and seventy-two schools have entered athletes, the largest number since 1929 when 188 schools competed. Entries on file include those of 29 universities, 44 colleges, and 99 high schools and academies.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

With Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois already admittedly prepared to defend the prestige of the Western conference in the relay events in the 31st Drake university games this week-end, sectional interest in the results shifts to the ten individual contests.

Michigan and Indiana probably will garner a majority of the relay championships. Illinois is slated to take the shuttle hurdle, an event in which the Illini excel, and if the midwest needs assistance, Notre Dame, winner of the mile relay in the Hoosier relays last Saturday, stands ready to help turn back the south and west with Michigan, Big 9½ mile relay champion.

Seven of the ten individual champions will defend titles Friday and Saturday in Des Moines. Five of these Drake champions are from the south, which furnishes an idea of the task ahead of the Big 9½ stars.

Brown Heads List.

Billy Brown of Louisiana State heads the list of individual champions since he is the only double winner. Brown won the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds and took the broad jump title with a leap of 24 feet 9¾ inches. Brown's sprint title is definitely in danger for Myron Piker of Northwestern, Big 9½ champion, won the dash in the Kansas relays last Saturday in :09.8. Piker pulled a muscle in the Drake event last year and wasn't back in condition until the Big 9½ meet in Ann Arbor a month later.

Brown's broad jump title should be safe on the basis of comparative performances. But Wells Hodgson of Minnesota, winner in the Illinois relays' broad jump, and winner at Kansas Saturday with a mark of 24 feet 2 inches, is a threat.

If Fred Wolcott is ready no one in the Drake 120 yard high hurdle field will challenge him successfully. He won the high hurdles last year and in 1938 he hung up the present Drake record of :14.2.

Bryan Faces Trouble.

Beefus Bryan of Texas defends his share of the pole vault title, but if Bryan can do no better than last Saturday when he won at Kansas with a vault of 13 feet 3 inches, he may be displaced. Bryan vaulted 13 feet 8 inches last year, and unless the Big 9½ vaulters, in particular, Bob Williams of Wisconsin, who tied for the indoor conference title, are in form, that mark may win.

Williams had a bad afternoon Saturday, failing to clear 13 feet, and losing to Earl Stolberg of Marquette in a dual meet in Milwaukee. Stolberg is credited with a share of last year's championship along with Milt Padway of Wisconsin and Bob Cassels of Chicago. The latter two have been graduated.

The Drake vault runways have been rebuilt, as well as the entire track surface, and this should help contestants in their assault on the records. As an added attraction this year Padway will vault against Earl Meadows, former Southern Clifornia star, in an attempt to smash the world record. Until two weeks ago Meadows and a former teammate, Bill Sefton, held the world record of 14 feet 11 inrhes. Then Bill Warmerdam cleared 15 feet. Meadows now is a teacher in the Upland, Cal., High school.

Williams Is Back.

Lilburn Williams, Negro weight star from Xavier, New Orleans, returns to Drake to defend his shot put championship. Williams' winning mark last year was 51 feet 3 inches. Elmer Hackney of Kansas State never has regained form since he injured his shoulder playing football and so Archie Harris of Indiana is the logical opponent to press Williams.

Bob Waldram of Missouri, winner of the Drake javelin throw a year ago with a toss of 202.04 feet, surpassed that mark at Kansas Saturday. He threw the javelin 206 feet 5 inches and there's no one in the Big 9½ who will come close. Nick Vukmanic of Penn State, twice winner in the Penn relays and victor in the National A. A. U. and National Collegiate meets in 1939, should win this competition.

The other defending champion is Edsel Wibbels of Nebraska who established an all time discus record last spring of 158.29 feet.

TEACHERS' NINE TRIES 3D TIME FOR 1ST VICTORY

Making its third quest for its first victory of the season, the Chicago Teachers college baseball team will meet George Williams college tomorrow afternoon at Hamilton park, 74th street and West Normal boulevard.

Chuck Kane has been named to pitch. Kane, who has pitched a total of nine inninngs in two games, has struck out fourteen, walked only two, yielded seven hits, and allowed only two runs.

Saturday afternoon the Colonels will play Armour Tech at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Ed O'Brien or Jim Hayes, veteran hurlers, will pitch.

Louis-Galento Bout Brewing for Chicago

Fight Decisions

At Columbus, O.—Jack [Buddy] Walker knocked out Tom Kennealy [3].
At Scranton, Pa.—Tommy Tucker beat Tarzan Roy [10].

Reports that Tony Galento, Orange, N. J., heavyweight, who is rated No. 2 contender by the National Boxing association, would meet Champion Joe Louis in Chicago next summer were revived yesterday. During a stopover in the loop on April 2 Joe Jacobs, manager of Galento, denied the way is being cleared for a Louis-Galento title match for Soldiers' field in late July.

Advices from other sources, however, insist the Illinois boxing commission is preparing to whitewash Galento of charges made by Harry Thomas that he threw a bout to Galento in Philadelphia Dec. 13, 1938. This is seen as a move to give Louis his second chance to knock out Fat Tony, this time in Chicago.

Decision Due Monday.

Thomas' confession that he participated in fake bouts with Galento, and Max Schmeling, too, was printed exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Oct. 30. There has been no retraction, nor has there been any important fact added to the story since then.

After a recent conference between Edwin T. Breen, first assistant attorney general, and Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois commission, it was said a decision on Galento's status in this state would be handed down at a meeting of the board next Monday.

On Jan. 22 the commission, which is composed of Triner, Sheldon Clark, and James R. Fitzpatrick, completed an investigation into Thomas' confession, but postponed rendering a decision. Breen conducted the inquiry with the coöperation of the board.

The proposed Galento-Louis rematch depends on whether Tony scores a knockout over Max Baer in Jersey City May 28. If Baer registers an upset he will not earn a Louis title shot, Julian Black, one of the champion's managers, said last week.

Arturo Godoy, who extended Louis in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 9, will arrive today for a week's appearance in a loop theater, starting Friday. Al Weill, representative of the Chilean challenger, yesterday said he would have a showdown with Promoter Mike Jacobs in New York Friday on whether Big Art will be given a second bout against Louis next summer.

Says Public Wants Match.

"If the public wants the match? That's a laugh," Weill returned yesterday. "Godoy is Louis' strongest opponent at this time. A return encounter will draw a big gate, but I guess the champion prefers fighting a setup."

In the event a Godoy-Louis encore is not forthcoming Arturo will be available for a contest against Baer. This proposal depends on Baer's efforts in the impending Galento struggle.

In case plans to hold a Galento-Louis engagement in Chicago go awry Philadelphia or Jersey City will be chosen as a site.

It is understood the Illinois commission will clear Galento by accepting his statement that "there wasn't anything wrong with the Thomas match." After the bout Pennsylvania barred Thomas for life.

COURT DECISION EXTENDS POWER OVER INSURANCE

Virginia's Extensive Controls Upheld.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—The New Deal's reconstructed Supreme court today pronounced constitutional a Virginia statute which, according to a dissenting opinion, regulates insurance contracts written in other states.

Chief Justice Hughes joins dissent.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, whose first opinion a year ago noted with apparent satisfaction that the personnel of the court had been reconstructed, wrote the insurance opinion, in which the court divided six to three. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Justice James Clark McReynolds joined in a vigorous dissenting opinion by Justice Owen J. Roberts.

The court's attitude toward insurance regulation is considered significant at this time because of the so-called monopoly committee's protracted investigation of the insurance business and intimations of Securities and Exchange commission investigators that something ought to be done about insurance.

Fear Further Controls.

As a result, widespread fears have developed among insurance officials and policyholders that the New Dealers contemplate federal regulation if not direct federal competition with private insurance operations.

Justice Frankfurter noted in oral remarks summarizing his opinion that the writing of insurance is not interstate commerce under previous decisions of the Supreme court. He did not mention this question, which was not involved, in the written opinion. The New Dealers are confident, however, that the reconstructed court would hold that an insurance policy is an instrument of interstate commerce, and hence subject to federal regulation.

Justice Frankfurter dwelt upon the social aspects of insurance and asserted that the states, if they wanted to, could take over the insurance business.

Notes "Special Relation."

"Government has always had a special relation to insurance," the opinion said. "The ways of safeguarding against the untoward manifestations of nature and other vicissitudes of life have long been withdrawn from the benefits and caprices of free competition. The state may fix insurance rates. . . . It may regulate the compensation of agents. . . . It may curtail drastically the area of free contract. . . . In the light of all these exertions of state power it does not seem possible to doubt that the state could, if it chose, go into the insurance business, just as it can operate warehouses, flour mills, and other business ventures."

The Virginia statute forbids contracts of insurance or surety by companies authorized to do business within the commonwealth "except thru regularly constituted and registered agents or agencies of such companies." Such resident agents "shall be entitled to and shall receive the usual and customary commissions allowed on such contracts" and may not share more than half this commission with a nonresident broker.

Outside Companies Protest.

Several foreign corporations authorized to do business in Virginia challenged the validity of the statute on the ground that it deprived them of constitutional rights.

The dissenting opinion said the statute constituted an exertion of power over transactions beyond Virginia's jurisdiction. Granting Virginia had the unquestioned right to regulate insurance within the state, the dissenting opinion coninued:

"The statute in question has no such purpose. The purpose and effect of the statute is to compel an insurance company which is a citizen of another state and which negotiates a contract of insurance with an agent or broker within such other state to pay a resident of Virginia for a service not rendered by him, but rendered by another in another state.

"By force of the statute a Virginia agent must countersign a contract negotiated outside of Virginia with an assured whose residence is outside of Virginia, which contract of insurance was negotiated by an agent or broker living outside of Virginia.

Paid Half Commission.

"The countersigning Virginia agent must be paid one-half the usual commission, even tho the broker or agent who produced the business is licensed as a nonresident broker by Virginia, altho the only service such Virginia agent is required to render is the mere countersignature of the policy."

Justice Frankfurter's opinion said Virginia had not sought to prohibit the making of contracts beyond her borders.

"She merely claims that her interest in the risks which these contracts are designed to prevent warrants the kind of control she has here imposed," the majority opinion said. "The mere fact that state action may have repercussions beyond state lines is of no judicial significance so long as the action is not within that domain which the constitution forbids."

Fear SEC Club in Investment Counsel Plan

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Spokesmen for the Investment Counsel Association of America protested today to a senate banking subcommittee a proposal to subject their business to federal regulation. They urged that they be permitted to perfect self-regulation instead, and asserted progress has been made in this direction.

Cites Present Powers.

"The states as well as the federal government, now have laws against fraud which cover any serious abuses which may arise," he said. "Therefore, until further development of the profession has taken place we believe regulation could most effectively be left to the profession and to existing laws."

Douglas T. Johnston, vice president, and Rudolf P. Berle, general counsel of the association, also expressed opposition to the measure.

Proposed power of the Securities and Exchange commission to conduct investigations of investment advisers, Berle asserted, might result in "a savage and most unjust result," damaging the reputation of firms under investigation, even tho no guilt were proved.

Fear Loss of Reputations.

Charles M. O'Hearn of Clark, Sinsabaugh & Co. of New York and Alexander Standish, president of Standish, Racey and McKay, Inc., also expressed fear that SEC investigative powers might result in damage to the reputation of the profession even tho no cause existed, or break down confidential relationship between counsel and clients by forcing disclosure of the latters' affairs.

"Whatever may be the merits of a plan to regulate the activities of the tipsters and others 'on the fringe'," O'Hearn said, "it seems to us that they constitute a separate category in which we should not be involved."

STATE DEMANDS TRUCKING GROUP LIST MEMBERS

Springfield, Ill., April 22 (AP).—The state sought a Sangamon County Circuit court order today to compel the Certificated Motor Carriers to submit a list of its members in connection with the suit attacking validity of the new Illinois truck control law.

The Certificated Motor Carriers, headed by Warren Wright, is seeking to intervene as co-plaintiff in the truck act suit. Attorney General John E. Cassidy alleged in the motion filed today that the "existence of such a voluntary association has not been proven."

The court previously granted a temporary injunction restraining the state from enforcing the truck act against plaintiffs in the suit. The state's latest motion said the names of members of the Certificated Motor Carriers should be certified, so the motor carriers division would know to whom the injunction applied.

Brewing Company Starts Big Advertising Campaign

The Peter Fox Brewing company, Chicago, is launching an advertising campaign that will include at least 50 newspapers in Chicago and the middle west, Frank G. Fox, president, announced yesterday. The campaign will emphasize package sales, which account for a large part of the company's business.

DOUBT BUSINESS GAIN? JUST SEE M'VITTIE'S TABLECLOTH INDICES!

A. A. McVittie, president of the National Restaurant association, has his own business barometer—tablecloths in restaurants.

"Talk about men with offices under their hats," he remarked yesterday, "why, half of all business deals are worked out on tablecloths." And business is picking up, he continued.

A. A. McVittie.

"Here's the proof," McVittie declared, ruefully exhibiting laundry figures. "But we do wish these coffee shop capitalists would stick to lead pencils and leave their fountain pens at home."

GENERAL MOTORS PLANT WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

OSHAWA, Ont., April 22 (AP).—Union officials tonight announced that 81 per cent of voting employés of the General Motors corporation favored a strike. The vote was taken in connection with union demands for alterations in the working agreement that ended their 1937 walkout.

The 3,500 Oshawa members of the United Automobile Workers of America, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, balloted tonight. Union leaders said the strike deadline had been set for 5 p. m. Wednesday. The vote in Windsor and St. Catharines locals will take place tomorrow night.

The union charged the company had failed to reply to requests for negotiation of demands, which are said to include higher wages.

OTIS ELEVATOR HEAD REPORTS RISING BUSINESS

Jesse H. Van Alstyne, president of Otis Elevator company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in New York yesterday that first quarter earnings will be better than for the period last year.

"The company's domestic plants operated at 75 per cent of capacity in the first quarter this year against 53 per cent in the quarter last year," he said. "Uncompleted domestic contracts on March 31 totaled $16,822,000 against $14,303,00 on March 31, 1939."

Otis Elevator company manufacturers approximately 70 per cent of all elevators used in the United States and is the major manufacturer of escalators.

Purchases totaling $659,750 were authorized for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. The road was authorized to order 60 freight cars from the General American Transportation corporation, 150 from the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company, and one Diesel switch engine from the American Locomotive company.

Prices of Hogs Rise 25 Cents to New 1940 Peak

The largest advance of the year swept prices of all classes of hogs to new 1940 highs at the stockyards yesterday. Light receipts and a moderate price increase in some cuts of fresh pork stimulated buying of hogs. Final sales of all kinds showed gains of 25 to 35 cents per hundred pounds.

Several carloads of 195 to 269 pound butchers brought the year's new top of $6.25 a hundred pounds, 25 cents above last week's close and 65 cents higher than on Monday of last week. Similar kinds early in the month brought $5.00 to $5.15. The average price rose 20 cents to $5.95, compared with $5.30 a week earlier and $4.80 on April 1.

Receipts Continue Small.

Hog slaughtering over the entire country since April 1 has been running smallest since last October. Yesterday's arrivals at the eleven principal markets totaled 63,000, a decrease of 10,000 from Monday of last week and 16,000 less than a year ago.

A large part of the better grades of 275 to 325 pound butchers sold within a range of $6.10 to $6.20. Prime 376 pound averages reached $5.90, and 402 pounders sold at $4.85. Most smooth 350 to 400 pound sows brought $5.50 to $5.65, and most 425 to 500 pounders went at $5.25 to $5.40.

Cattle Market Is Strong.

New peaks for the year were also established in some classes of cattle. A steady to 15 cents higher market prevailed for most steers and yearlings, shipping kinds getting the best action and the most advance in price. Strong to 15 cents higher prices were paid for heifers. Beef cows, canners, cutters, bulls, and replacement cattle held firm. Calves opened steady, but closed lower.

Lambs sold steady to 15 cents lower. Shippers gave the $10.50 top for full wool lambs. Stock shorn two months ago brought $9.50, and freshly shorn sold at $9.10. Some Texas spring lambs, the first of the season from that state, averaged 75 pounds at $10.75.

William M. Hart of the real estate firm of Hart & Whetston, 1 North La Salle street, yesterday purchased for $255,000 cash the real estate of the bankrupt Grigsby-Grunow company fronting on Dickens avenue between Mango and Austin avenues. The purchase was made at the public sale conducted by Referee Wallace Streeter at 7 South Dearborn street. The auction had been postponed from April 8 when all bids were rejected.

Hart was reported to have acquired the property for the Belmont Radio corporation, 1257 Fullerton avenue, which is expected to move its factory to the new location. The Belmont company manufactures radio receiving sets sold principally under the individual brands of mail order houses and chain stores.

The property, sold pursuant to an order of the United States District court, represents the remaining units of the Grigsby-Grunow radio and refrigerator plants. The first unit, west of Austin avenue, was sold to the Zenith Radio corporation in 1936.

United States Steel to Sell Loan of 75 Millions May 16

The United States Steel corporation plans to offer $75,000,000 of serial debentures to the public, May 16, officials announced yesterday. More than 100 investment banking houses, headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., will underwrite the issue.

The net proceeds of the sale will be used, together with about $24,500,000 cash, to redeem or retire by July 15 at 103 per cent, plus accrued interest, the $95,140,0000 of 3¼ per cent debentures outstanding.

Interest Not Announced.

TURKEY IS LARGE WAR BENEFICIARY AS LOANS SWELL GOLD SUPPLY

GENEVA, April 22 (AP).—Nonbelligerent Turkey appears to be the chief European beneficiary thus far in the war in gold reserves at least. A league of nations statistical bulletin issued tonight showed Turkish gold reserves, which had remained around $17,000,000 since 1936, leaped to $54,000,000 during February and rose $2,000,000 more during March. Turkish scurces here attributed the rise primarily to loans from the British and French governments.

Gold reserves of the Union of South Africa increased 24 per cent since the start of the war last September. Jugo-Slavia gained 6 per cent and Rumania 2 per cent.

Sweden, during the same period, lost $108,000,000, or half her reserve, while Switzerland and Norway each lost 12 per cent; the Netherlands, 10 per cent, and Latvia 36 per cent.

Wholesale price rises, calculated for 28 countries for the last half of 1939, showed Denmark as Europe's chief sufferer after the outbreak of war with an increase of 51 per cent. In China prices leaped 150 per cent.

PRESIDENT ASKS CAPITAL RECOUP OF 700 MILLION

Seeks Funds to Cut Rising Deficit.

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt today named seven government agencies as possible sources for the treasury to draw upon to help meet its deficit.

Senator Harry Byrd opposes juggling.

He suggested reducing by $300,000,000 the capital of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and making smaller cuts in the capital of other agencies as one method of recouping for the treasury about $700,000,000 of the capital it has advanced to them in previous years.

The President's observations were in reply to a Senate request for information on the proposed capital reductions.

Various Cuts Suggested.

Roosevelt wrote Vice President John N. Garner that the following reductions have been suggested: $35,000,000 from the treasury investment in savings and loan associations, $40,000,000 from the Federal Intermediate Credit banks, $60,000,000 from the banks for coöperatives, $15,000,000 from the production credit corporations, $200,000,000 from the Federal Land banks, $50,000,000 from the Public Works administration, and $300,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"The amounts are tentative and are not to be taken as final," Roosevelt wrote. "I am now having the proposals carefully reviewed and may recommend legislation to congress.

"For example, the capital stock of the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation might be reduced by $100,000,000, in which case the reduction of the capital structure of the Federal Land banks might be $100,000,000.

"The Reconstruction Finance corporation could be permitted to purchase the stock of the Federal Home Loan banks, now held by the treasury, amounting to $125,000,000.

Security management that is keyed to present-day conditions

The efficient management of securities not only requires a constant vigilance which few owners have the time to provide, but broad fact-finding facilities necessary to maintain that vigilance which are at the disposal of few individuals. For these reasons many people have turned to a Northern Trust Agency Arrangement.

An Agency Agreement offers services ranging from the task of safekeeping, and cutting coupons, to the payment of taxes and personal bills. It frees you to whatever extent you may desire from the routine duties surrounding the management of your securities.

These are duties you yourself can fulfill, but which you may wish to delegate to our experienced hands. You retain full control under a Northern Trust Agency Agreement since title and registration remain unchanged.

A Northern Trust Agency account will provide the systematic and personalized care of your securities they require. The cost is moderate. You are invited to write or call our Trust Department today for the descriptive booklet, "The Care and Custody of Your Securities."

New York Stocks.

New York, April 22 (AP).—Specialties again turned upward in today's stock market, but most leaders encountered just enough selling to hold them within a narrowly irregular range. Issues standing to benefit from war influences received most attention.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was able to retain a net advance of 0.1 of a point at 50. Transfers totaled 868,990 shares, against 1,154,990 last Friday.

New 1940 peaks were reached by International Paper preferred, Swift, Armour, American Bosch, Celanese and Bush Terminal. Closing with modest advances were American Car & Foundry, Electric Boat, Radio Corporation, Allied Mills, United Aircraft, Bethlehem Steel, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Marshall Field, Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Chrysler, Great Northern and United States Rubber.

On the offside were American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, United States Steel, New York Central, Anaconda, American Smelting and Westinghouse.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 22 (AP).—A few foreign government dollar loans, including some Latin Americans, found trading favor today, but the corporate section of the bond market was dull.

The foreign liens were among the few which moved at all. It was the smallest trading since March 21, with a total of $4,907,750, face value, of bonds moving, compared with $5,768,900 Friday.

United States government loans were uneven.

Chicago Stocks.

The main trend of prices was upward yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, but trading was light. Six issues reached the highest levels touched so far in 1940. They were Advance Aluminum, Chicago Towel preferred, Container, Swift, Independent Pneumatic Tool, and Walgreen.

Bank Stocks.

First National and Northern Trust share both advanced a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

Experts Divided on Move to Cut Rural Debts.

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Farm loan experts—split over a proposal designed to reduce the $7,000,000,000 debt on American farms—agreed today that it would be a challenge to private money lenders.

Sponsors of the Jones-Wheeler farm loan bill said that private lending agencies probably would have to meet a reduced government interest rate of 3 per cent on farm mortgages or withdraw from the rural credit field.

Opponents declared that the measure would broaden government competition with private capital and lead to "socialization" by giving the government a financial claim on more thousands of farms.

Lenders Oppose Slash.

The legislation would permit the farm credit administration to take over privately held mortgages, but only at valuations based on the "productive value" of the mortgaged land.

Banks, insurance companies, and private lenders have joined congressmen and farm administrators in the fight over the Jones-Wheeler bill to authorize a cut in the interest charged borrowers of the farm credit administration. The bill would also allow reductions in principal where the debt appeared to be more than the farmer could pay from his crops.

Wallace Backs Bill.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, an advocate of the proposal, contends that many farms are burdened by debts larger than their actual values. He argues that the deflation of farm prices and land values after the world war has not been reflected fully in farm debts.

The Jones-Wheeler bill, pending before the house agriculture committee, would provide government guarantee of farm credit administration bonds, the source of loans to farmers. Such a guarantee, sponsors say, would cut the interest on the funds to 2 per cent, whereas present funds cost 4 per cent.

STEEL RATE WILL DIP AGAIN THIS WEEK TO 60 PCT.

Slackened domestic buying will cut steel production in the United States to 60 per cent of capacity this week, lowest rate since last Labor day week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday.

With only two exceptions the operating rate has eased weekly since the start of the year. Last week's rate was 60.9 per cent, a month ago production was 60.7 per cent of capacity, previous low of the year, and a year ago it was 48.6 per cent.

War stimulated foreign buying of steel products has been a large factor in sustaining operations at even the present rate, according to steel circles, but domestic purchases have been sluggish since the start of the year.

Women Declare Chain Stores Improved Retailing Methods

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Chain grocery stores were credited by witnesses today before a congressional committee with initiating refrigeration and sanitary packing, handling, and displaying of goods at retail outlets.

For the first time since a house ways and means subcommittee began consideration three weeks ago of the Patman bill to levy special taxes on chains, women appeared as witnesses.

Praises One-Price System.

Mrs. Gustav Ketterer, chairman of the Philadelphia consumers advisory council, told the committee:

"The consumers realize the contributions and benefits of chain stores to public welfare, knowing that these stores pioneered in refrigeration and sanitation for the protection of public health, and to preserve health qualities of food.

"Chain stores also inaugurated the 'one-price' system of plainly-marked goods. They were responsible for developing and encouraging prepacked grocery merchandise insuring cleanliness, uniform quality and quantity, which means a great deal to the housewife."

Calls Standards Higher.

Similar views were expressed by Dr. Caroline F. Ware, representing the American Association of University Women. Dr. Ware declared that well-lighted, well arranged chain store units were displacing untidy, badly organized independent establishments. She said that independent merchants could survive chain competition by meeting the same high standards.

Dr. Jessie V. Coles, associate professor at the University of Missouri, in a statement read to the committee by Mrs. Harriet R. Howe, in charge of consumer education of the American Home Economics association, declared that elimination of chains from the distribution system would "raise prices generally by restricting competition."

ROBBINS RETURNS IN QUEST OF SITE FOR PLANE PLANT

Hugh C. Robbins, head of the recently organized Midland Aircraft company, will return to Chicago today to examine with E. P. Querl, chairman of the aeronautical division of the Association of Commerce, more possible locations for a factory for large scale production of a small, inexpensive cabin airplane for private owners.

Since Robbins inspected sites here last week, Querl has discovered several possibilities at unchecked airports, including the one at West Chicago and Sky Harbor on Dundee road east of Wheeling. Robbins is returning from several cities in Ohio in his quest for a factory site.

He is seeking property near an airport and is desirous of obtaining underwriting for a new airplane manufacturing plant. The company has capital with which to commence operations, Robbins said.

ARNOLD DEMANDS ACTION ON MOVIE 'DICTATORSHIP'

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—Thurman W. Arnold, assistant attorney general, today demanded reorganization of the motion picture industry on the ground it was an industrial dictatorship and "distinctly unAmerican."

Declaring a department of justice suit to take control of theaters from large producers was "moving with incredible slowness," Arnold urged a senate judiciary subcommittee to approve a bill by Senator Neely [D., W. Va.] to prohibit producers and distributors from owning or having other interests in movie houses.

C. C. Pettijohn, representing film producers, objected to the bill and said, "We cannot produce motion pictures by statute." The hearing was recessed until May 16.

SEC Refuses to Postpone Electric Bond & Share Case

Washington, D. C., April 22 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission refused today to postpone indefinitely integration proceedings against Electric Bond and Share company and its extensive subsidiaries. The company had contended that it could not prepare its integration plans until the commission acted on a prior request of American Gas and Electric company to be declared not a subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share. April 27 was fixed as the new deadline for Electric Bond and Share to file its reply.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

Uncover Strawberry Beds

THE winter covering of hay was taken off the strawberry beds at the DuPage county farm last week and new growth is starting from the crowns of the plants. Some of the shoots had started pushing up thru the mulch before it was removed. The berries were covered last fall after the ground was frozen.

While the strawberry growers advise mulching the plants every winter, it apparently would not have been necessary to cover those at the farm this year. A small bed was left uncovered and there is no indication those plants have been damaged. They have made considerably more growth than those that were covered. This bed is on lower ground than the others and it is thought likely the plants suffered less from the drouth last fall.

The main reasons given by growers for mulching strawberries are that it helps prevent heaving of the plants by alternate freezing and thawing of the soil and keeps them from starting growth too early in the spring.

Mulch Holds Moisture.

Part of the mulching material that was taken off the strawberries will be put back between the rows after the plants have had two cultivations. This helps to keep the berries clean during harvest. The mulch also holds moisture and keeps down weeds.

Wet weather at harvest time last summer ruined more than half the strawberries, but 734 quarts of good berries were picked from one bed of 21 rows. Each row is 210 feet long.

Gooseberry bushes are green—many of the leaf buds opened a week ago. Currants are budding. The blackberries, raspberries, loganberries, dewberries, youngberries, grapes, and fruit trees still show no sign of starting growth.

Dead Canes Removed.

Straw that was filled in between the rows and around the plants of the various bramble fruits last fall has been removed and all dead canes that were not cut away last summer have been taken out. Blackberries and raspberries that were not staked last year will be tied to single wood stakes, driven in the ground by each bush. The dewberries and youngberries are supported on low, wood trellises.

The combination vineyard and berry plantation was set in the spring of 1936 and came into full bearing last year for the first time, altho it has furnished some fruit since the first year. There were fresh fruits and berries almost continuously last year from the time the first strawberries were picked, June 3, until the last of the grapes were gone—about the middle of September.

Despite the loss of many of the berries from wet weather, a total of 1,466 quarts was harvested. In addition, 36 bushels of grapes were gathered from the 156 grapevines.

POWER TRANSFER HELD ILLEGAL BY SUPREME COURT

Ruling Ends Long Dispute; San Francisco Loses.

Washington, D. C., April 22 [Special].—The United States Supreme court today returned a number of decisions affecting business and governing bodies.

A five year legal snarl surrounding the city of San Francisco's transfer of electric power generated at the Hetch Hetchy hydroelectric project to a private power corporation, was settled by the court with a ruling against the city.

An agreement under which the power was transferred to the Pacific Gas and Electric company was held invalid. Government attorneys said the decision would permit San Francisco to acquire a municipal distribution system.

Private Sales Barred.

Congressional legislation had granted the city land and right of way for the project, but prohibited the sale of power to any private corporation.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes ruled in 1935 that the agreement made in 1925 between the city and the power company was illegal. The department of justice contended it was the intention of congress to provide for sale directly to the consumer and to bring the Hetch Hetchy energy "into direct competition with power supplied by privately owned utility companies."

In another decision the court ruled a Pennsylvania law barring the operation of motor vehicles carrying other vehicles over the head of the driver was constitutional, as applied to interstate commerce.

Stone Delivers Opinion.

Justice Stone said the law was a "weight and size regulation" and as such was within the regulatory authority of the state. The law was challenged by an automobile transfer company.

The court affirmed a ruling by the Colorado Supreme court that the state could tax revenue received by national banks from safe deposit boxes. Justice Reed, delivering the decision, said the 2 per cent tax was upon the user of the service and could be imposed. The Colorado National bank of Denver had contended that a national bank could be taxed only as permitted by congress.

Wilson & Co., Chicago meat packing company, obtained a Supreme court review of a decision denying recovery of $219,000 in processing taxes paid on exported products. The United States Court of Claims had dismissed an appeal from r ulings made by the ecommissioner of internal revenue.

Merchants Win Review.

A group of Kansas City, Mo., produce merchants obtained a Supreme court review of a decision which dismissed their challenge of the proposed construction by the Union Pacific railroad of a $500,000 line to a rival produce market in Kansas City, Kas. Kansas City, Mo., also was granted a review of a decision denying it permission to intervene in the litigation.

The court denied the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company a review of a decision refusing it the right to intervene in antitrust action against the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation and the Columbia Oil and Gasoline corporation.

The government charges the Columbia companies conspired to restrain commerce in natural gas. They were alleged to have brought the Missouri-Kansas company and its wholly owned Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company into such financial condition that they were enabled to gain control. Panhandle Eastern formerly had competed with the Columbia companies in Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio.

JOBS IN CHICAGO DIP LESS THAN IN WHOLE STATE

Pay Rolls Also Decline During March.

Employment and pay rolls in Illinois declined from February to March, but the drop was less in the Chicago metropolitan area than in the state as a whole, the Illinois department of labor reported yesterday.

The decrease in employment in the metropolitan area was 0.2 per cent, compared with 0.4 per cent for the entire state, and pay rolls declined 0.3 per cent, compared with 1.0 per cent for all of the state.

Pay Rolls Up in Chicago.

In the city of Chicago alone, employment decreased 0.1 per cent, but pay rolls expanded 0.1 per cent.

The department reported that employment in the downstate area dropped 0.8 per cent and total wage payments 2.7 per cent. Several cities reported gains, but large declines in others left the average lower. Granite City employment fell 12.5 per cent and wage payments 17.2 per cent.

The showing for the entire state represented a small contra-seasonal decline in employment and a larger than seasonal drop in wage payments, the department said.

Decline in Metals Group.

The 17 year average change in employment for the period is an increase of 0.2 per cent, and the average change in pay rolls has been a decrease of 0.7 per cent.

"The most significant changes last month," the department said, "were declines of 0.4 per cent in employment and 1.3 per cent in pay rolls for the relatively large metals and machinery group of manufacturing industries. These were the primary cause for the declines in the all industries indices. Seven of the 18 industry groups reporting increased employment and 10 reported larger wage payments."

Despite the decline from February to March, the state indices for employment and pay rolls showed gains over year ago levels, the department said. Employment was up 7.5 per cent and wage payments were 8.8 per cent higher.

Chicago Lamp Shade Firm to Give Vacations with Pay

Hamilton Industries, Chicago lamp shade company, yesterday announced that a vacation plan for 200 employés would go into effect May 15. All who have been employed for three months or more will receive vacations with pay.

SHELL UNION.

Is Shell Union Oil part of some European organization? I am interested in its stock but I don't know anything about the company or its operations. Do you have a report that would help me?—J. S.

Answer: Shell Union Oil corporation is predominantly a holding company for petroleum interests of the Royal Dutch-Shell group in the United States. The Batavian Petroleum company of Holland, which controls more than five-eighths of Shell Union common stock, is owned by the Royal Dutch company of Holland and the Shell Trading and Transport company, Ltd., of London.

Thru its operating subsidiaries, Shell Union holds a prominent position in the American petroleum industry, being rated fifth as a refiner. The organization's business extends from crude oil production to transportation and marketing in this country, western Canada, and Hawaii.

Most of the company's crude oil is extracted from fields in California, altho it has other producing wells in Illinois, Kansas, Texas, Louisiana, Michigan, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. Net crude oil production in 1939 totaled 47,825,985 barrels against 46,213,842 in 1938.

Of the company's nine refineries, four are in California, one at Wood River, Ill., and another at East Chicago, Ind. The combined refining capacity totals approximately 423,000 barrels a day.

By issuing last July $85,000,000 of 2½ per cent debentures due 1954, the company refunded its long term debt at lower interest rates. Capital stock consists of 341,100 shares of 5½ per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 13,070,625 shares of no par common stock.

The weakening of gasoline prices as a result of heavy inventories and a decline in general business activity in the first part of 1939 had an adverse effect on the company's profits. Business improvement and firmer prices later in the year brought 1939 earnings above the 1938 level. The following table compares consolidated net income, earnings per common share, and dividends per common share in recent years:

1937 20,669,000	1.44	1.00
1938 11,318,000	0.72	0.70

Net income in the first 1940 quarter soared to $5,314,158, equal to 37 cents a common share, from $478,266 in the first 1939 quarter.

Current assets were $117,736,637 out of total assets of $401,048,417 at the end of 1939. Current liabilities were $29,974,548.

A Day's Rain Undermines a Home and It Crumbles
